Attorney General Goes to Work At Rebuilding 'For the Future'

MADISON (AP) — Bronson La Follette surveyed the wreckage of the Democratic party in Wisconsin after Tuesday's election and began picking up the pieces.

La Follette, 30, was reelected to a second term as attorney general — the only Democrat to win statewide office.

So La Follette, with a magic name in state political circles, took over as leader of the party in Wisconsin and went to work rebuilding.

He said the party's future would be discussed this weekend at Mellen with J. Louis Hanson, the state party chairman; and in Washington next week with Wisconsin Sen. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire.

'Different Structure' "With labor under new leadership and if we put the party under a different structure, we can build for the future," he said.

La Follette said "the party in Milwaukee County was at fault" for the small turnout in that area's Democratic wards and he indicated he would devote special attention to the Milwaukee organization.

After he was returned to office by a margin of some 80,000 votes while other party candidates went down to defeat, he was regarded as the obvious choice to succeed to party leadership.

7 Children Die in Michigan Blaze FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Seven children died today in a fire which swept their home in suburban Farmington township.

Their ages ranged from 2 to 12. Except for the parents and a 9-year-old daughter, Cynthia, the blaze wiped out the family of Harold and Rose Palmateer.

The father was at work as an industrial welder at the time.

Second Delay

Gemini 12 Mission Now Set for Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Technicians checked and rechecked a new automatic pilot in the astronauts' Titan 2 rocket today, hoping that no new problem would crop up to force a third delay of the Gemini 12 flight.

Meanwhile, Navy and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. continued to practice key phases of their four-day flight in a spacecraft simulator and to bone up on their complex flight plan.

The doubleheader Gemini 12 launching is scheduled to start at 2:08 p.m. EST Friday when an Atlas rocket hurls an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target Gemini 12 is to set sail at 3:46 p.m.

Lovell and Aldrin were frustrated on two earlier launching dates — Wednesday and today — by troubles with the autopilot system which is needed to steer the Titan 2 on a true course during the vital six minutes the rocket operates.

The problems were associated with a secondary system which would operate automatically if the primary autopilot failed.

The initial difficulty involved a power supply to the system. The autopilot was replaced and checks out was progressing smoothly Wednesday when the new package encountered trouble. Signals indicated that one

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines in South Viet Nam celebrated the Corps' 191st anniversary today with ceremonies, steaks, birthday cakes and continuing patrols.

The Communists stayed out of their way.

Generals became delivery men in this area where about 62,000 Marines now are serving.

Most of the Marines had an anniversary dinner of soup, broiled steak with mushrooms, potatoes, peas and corn, salad, cake and ice cream.

Maddox Now Leads Callaway

Courts Probably Will Decide Eventual Winner in Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's gubernatorial election appears to be headed for the courts because neither Democrat Lester G. Maddox nor Republican Howard Callaway was able to get a majority of the votes in Tuesday's general election.

The apparent blockade to selection of a successor to Gov. Carl Sanders, a Democrat, was a write-in vote for former Gov. Ellis Arnall.

With 1,868 of 1886 precincts — 98.6 per cent of the votes — reported, Maddox had 437,258 votes. Callaway 435,489, and Arnall 54,939. That gave Maddox 47.1 per cent, Callaway 46.9 per cent, and Arnall 5.9 per cent.

Maddox overtook Callaway Wednesday night as returns from rural areas trickled in.

Maddox, a segregationist known for selling his restaurant rather than integrating it, had taken an early lead when polls closed Tuesday night, but a large urban vote early Wednesday gave Callaway a 25,000 vote lead.

Under the Georgia constitution, a failure to get a majority throws the election into the General Assembly, which is heavily Democratic.

The American Civil Liberties Union, however, filed suit in federal court Wednesday, contending the Legislature is illegally constituted. A hearing has been set for 9:30 a.m. Friday.

The ACLU claims the Legislature should be prohibited from naming a governor on grounds neither house is properly apportioned.

Sanders said he was prepared to remain governor until a legal successor is designated. Saying he will invite Callaway and Maddox to participate, the governor announced he would go ahead with the preparation of the biennial budget.

Sanders is supposed to leave office Jan. 30.

Callaway, 39, Georgia's first Republican congressman in nearly 100 years, adopted a wait-and-see policy before commenting on the possible outcome.

"I'd be glad to have a statement after we've seen that final count," he said Wednesday before he slipped away without telling his destination.

Maddox, 51, predicted the Legislature would choose him if the gubernatorial contest went there for action.

Vote tallying in Tuesday's election was slowed partly because of the write-in movement and the record turnout, which should top one million when officially counted.

South Korea to Stop Sending Troops to War WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea says it won't be sending any additional troops to South Viet Nam.

South Korean diplomats made the decision known Wednesday. They said they didn't think President Johnson was referring to South Korea when he indicated at the Manila conference that South Viet Nam's allies should provide more manpower.

Field officers told Associated Press photographer Horst Faas, who reported the incident, that the nature of the gas used against the patrol was not known. American and South Vietnamese forces have in some cases used nonlethal gas against Communist troops.

Addition of U.S. nonlethal gas to the allied arsenal in South Viet Nam came to light in March 1965. This created an international controversy in which Communist propagandists still sporadically declare the United States is using "poison gas." U.S. authorities have denied this, and cited field practices as humane.

The first American supplies went to South Viet Nam's armed forces. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara explained they were the same "riot control agents" that police use.

Erhard Successor Nominated in Bonn

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's dominant Christian Democratic party today chose Kurt Georg Kiesinger, minister-president of Baden-Wuerttemberg, as its candidate to succeed Chancellor Ludwig Erhard at the head of the federal government.

On the third and final ballot, Kiesinger won 137 votes, against 81 for Foreign Minister Gerhard Schröder and 26 for Rainer Barzel, the party's parliamentary leader.

The decision was taken by the party's membership in the Bundestag.

The candidate must now see if he can win enough votes from other parties to get himself a majority. The Christian Democrats alone are four votes short of the necessary 249 in the Bundestag.

There had been some doubt that Kiesinger, 62, could win the nomination because of his past links with the Nazis, especially in the light of gains made in the State of Hesse last Sunday by a right-wing party, the National Democrats.

Kiesinger said in a radio broadcast that he would try to deal with both other parties — the Socialists and the Free Democrats — to get a majority in the Bundestag. He himself is not a member, but a seat can be arranged for him.

He asked to be excused from saying anything about his political program.

After the Christian Democrats, the Socialists have the largest delegation in the Bundestag, 202 votes. The Free Democrats have 49.

Help Needed To elect their nominee chancellor, the Christian Democrats will have to get the help of either the Socialists, in opposition since 1930, or the Free Democrats, Erhard's former coalition

Romney, when asked when he might make a decision on the possibility of seeking the presidential nomination, replied with a smile: "I will let you know."

East Blackout Returns; This Time Only in Fun

NEW YORK (AP) — At precisely 5:27 p.m. Wednesday, the lights went out in the tower suite of the Time-Life Building.

No one at the party there panicked, however. They barely looked up from their drinks. This year, everybody knew it was a joke.

The party — thrown by a distilling company — was one of many observances Wednesday night marking the first anniversary of the great northeastern power failure. It honored all people — such as physicians, nurses, policemen and firemen — who helped keep things running during the blackout.

At 5:27 p.m. Nov. 9, 1965, the lights started to go out. They remained out for up to 13 hours, leaving 30 million people in seven states and two Canadian provinces in darkness.

Many persons in New York turned out lights and lit candles Wednesday night in memory of the blackout. They had candlelight dinners and parties.

Although they lost the governor's office in Kansas, Republicans reclaimed it in Nebraska and Minnesota. In the latter case, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democrats' most active campaigner, lost his home-state political base.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's re-election to a third term prompted speculation he might be interested in successfully attacking as such, again bidding for the GOP presidential nomination. But Rockefeller repeated Wednesday he would not seek the nomination.

Instead, he called Sen. Jacob K. Javits New York's "favorite son." He earlier proposed Javits for vice president on a ticket headed by Romney.

The results were not all negative, so far as the President was concerned.

These more than offset the election of a couple of GOP advocates of greater pace efforts — Percy in Illinois and Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, who won a Senate seat in Oregon.

Three of the freshmen Democrats he campaigned for in New York won re-election, although Rockefeller turned back a challenge from Frank D. O'Connor, a Democrat supported by Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

More than half of the Democrats who were elected in 1964 from normally Republican House districts and who went down the line for the "Great Society" programs survived the onslaught.

The President could take comfort from the fact that his Viet Nam war policies were not successfully attacked as such. Democratic supporters of his limited warfare course won federal races in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Mexico, Oklahoma and West Virginia.

Party Has Broader Base for Attack on LBJ

Republicans Hoping Victories Can Help Now--and in 1968

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rolling impact of a midterm Republican breakthrough offered a fresh threat today not only to President Johnson's legislative program but possibly to his re-election in 1968.

While the GOP was surging to above-average House gains in Tuesday's nonpresidential year balloting, it also was netting from the Democrats eight governors' offices.

This cemented Republican chief executives into political power in at least 25 states which will cast 290 electoral votes two years from now—20 in excess of the 270 needed to elect a president.

As final ballot counts stretched out the measuring tape, it became apparent that Johnson and his Democratic administration had suffered a crippling, though not necessarily lasting, defeat in contests where the President had thought Democrats might do very well.

Maneuvering Republican The fact that Republicans will control at least half of the gov-ernorships in the next two years doesn't mean they will be able to maneuver their states into the GOP column in the 1968 presidential contest. Voters have a way of making up their own minds about such matters.

But the mere fact that their party has broadened its base for attack on Johnson's expected re-election bid certainly will make the GOP nomination much more attractive to potential candidates than it has been during the two doleful years since Barry Goldwater's crushing 1964 defeat by Johnson.

Johnson's loss of party strength in Congress was far greater than that sustained by any president two years into his first elective term since GOP President Herbert Hoover's party lost 61 seats in the 1930 off-year election.

More Than For FDR The Republicans nailed down a gain of 47 seats in the House to bring their total to 187. Democrats elected 248 members.

The loss of 47 compared with a net gain of 14 Democrats made after Franklin D. Roosevelt had been in office two years. In 1954, after Dwight D. Eisenhower had held the presidency a similar length of time, Democrats gained 19. In 1962, two years after John F. Kennedy took over the White House, the Democrats lost only two House seats.

Johnson, of course, had held the office for almost three years before Tuesday's balloting. In that respect the first elective term voting differed from the others.

The President, resting at his Texas ranch, had no comment on House and governorship losses. He passed the word through an aide that he was somewhat surprised at the Republican gain of three in the Senate.

While the Democrats retained 64-36 control there, if the Republicans voted as a unit they held a power they lacked before to kill by themselves any filibustered legislation.

The President's labor allies took a thumping in Michigan. There GOP Gov. George Romney not only boosted his presidential nomination aspirations by winning a third term but years. In 1954, after Dwight D. Eisenhower had held the presidency a similar length of time, Democrats gained 19. In 1962, two years after John F. Kennedy took over the White House, the Democrats lost only two House seats.

Is Automobile Really Cause Of Accidents?

Safety Fracas Raises Question Of Responsibility

NEW YORK (AP)—Now that the automotive hearings in Washington have ended with new auto and traffic safety bills, how many of us really believe that the inert metal called an automobile is the cause of accidents?

The impression that the vehicle is primarily to blame was, as we know, left in the minds of many people. But the vehicle seldom causes the accident although it frequently worsens the injury.

Even some critics now admit that the new laws are a step forward. The National Safety Council, which wasn't enthusiastic about some of the legislation, concedes the changes might save 10,000 lives a year.

A certain impression remains, however, perhaps by choice. It is safe to blame the car, rightly or wrongly. Most Americans, while loving their own shining pleasure car, despise cars en masse as a frustration.

Public Indignation

This emphasis seems to have generated a giant public indignation against autos, but an almost private indifference, as if everyone knew all along that the driver was the real culprit.

As evidence of this we note that for all the official uproar there has been surprisingly little public reaction or expression of fear lately.

In his Labor Day message to drivers shortly after passage of the traffic safety law of 1966, President Johnson emphasized the driver, not the car. "I ask every American to drive responsibly," he said.

Cars sales, reacting to the congressional hearings, slowed down. But at the start of the new model season confident buyers boosted their purchases again, and the industry now has its sights on another big year.

Liability Ruling

Ford stockholders met during the uproar but the subject didn't dominate the meeting, as you would expect. In Washington, the Supreme Court has declined to rule on car makers' accident liability. The insurance companies, which have a natural interest in safety, haven't changed their policies.

The insurance companies, oil companies and others whose fortunes depend on the automobile market have, instead, been asking about the abilities of the driver. Perhaps their interest is selfish. But their questions are real.

What about drugged drivers, they ask? About blind drivers? Drunken drivers?

Millions now drove after taking prescription drugs, cold tablets, barbiturates. Study after study shows alcohol to be involved in accidents, although perhaps too frequently it is given the entire blame.

The state licensing systems are increasingly criticized as antiquated. Drivers remain untested in some instances, even those whose eyesight has dimmed and whose physical condition may have deteriorated.

Enforcement System

The entire enforcement system is being studied: the policing of violators, the manner in which accidents are reported, the traffic courts, the motor vehicle inspections systems.

One of the nation's largest vehicle insurers says that its studies show accidents are 10 per cent the car's fault, 30 per cent the fault of roads, and 60 per cent the fault of drivers.

The many commercial interests who should be concerned with safety seem relatively uncoordinated. In at least one instance the insurance industry has failed in attempts to even set up discussions with the auto industry.

Pools of expertise exist unused. And many drivers remain confident that they couldn't possibly contribute to the billion dollars a month loss through auto accidents.

Youths Who Threw Paint at LBJ Fined

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — Two brothers were fined a total of $761 today for throwing paint over President Johnson's car during his ride through Melbourne Oct. 21.

John N. Langley, 21, a sales representative, and his brother David, 18, a student, had spent 14 days in jail before Magistrate E. J. Danaher passed sentence.

Danaher said he was satisfied that the incident during Johnson's motorcade here stemmed from the brothers' views on the Viet Nam war and that there was no organization behind it.

Partners Must Get Together

Even the greatest experts need practice together to make sure each knows what his partner is doing at times. Proof lies in a hand played in the finals of the national team championship in a few months ago, when the players were four experts now playing for positions on the 1967 North American bridge team.

Harold Ogust, New York expert, opened the king of hearts, holding the first trick. Ogust continued with the jack of hearts to declarer's ace.

Ogust meant to show that he held the jack as well as the queen, but his partner thought that he meant something else.

Some experts, when they hold cards of equal value (such as the queen and jack), lead the higher card to show strength in a high side suit and the lower card to show strength in the low side suit.

In this case, William Grieve, Houston (holding the East cards), thought his partner had led the jack of hearts to show that his side strength was in clubs.

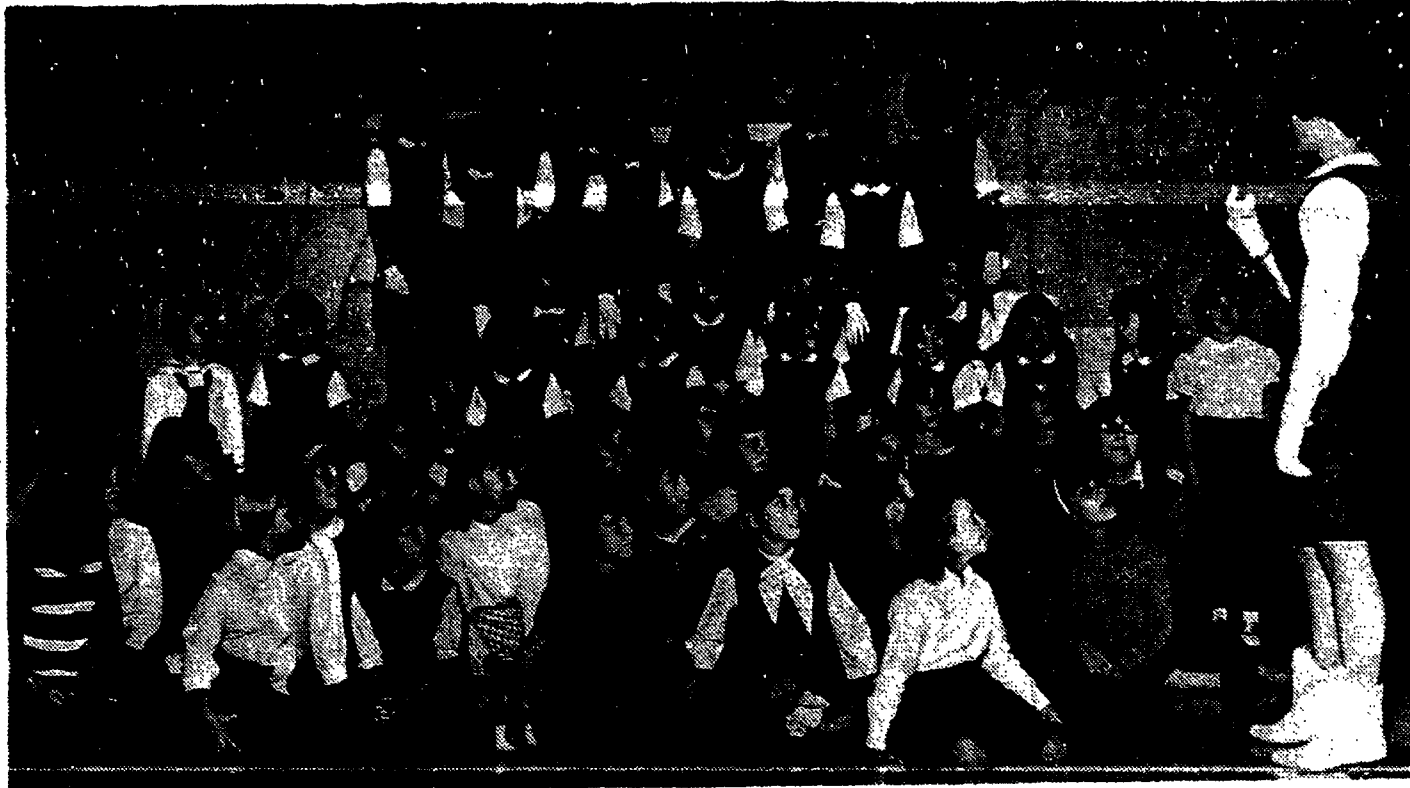

Ira Rubin, New York, playing the South hand, won the second trick with the ace of hearts and knocked out the ace of spades. Grieve promptly returned a club from the East hand, expecting to get a club ruff.

This return gave Rubin his game and an overtrick. He was able to discard both of his diamonds on dummy's long clubs, losing only one heart and one spade.

This sort of disaster happens only to experts. An average player would lead a diamond from the East hand on the theory that club tricks won't run away, but diamond tricks may. I have a great deal of sympathy for Grieve and Ogust, but I hope they get enough practice if they win berths on the American team.

Daily Question
Dealer, at your right, bids one heart. You are next, holding: S. 10 4; H. K Q J 5; D. A Q 8, C. J 9 6 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. This hand is worth a takeout double over an opening bid of one spade, since you then have good support for each of the unbid suits. It is not worth a takeout double over a bid of one heart, since you do not have good support for the unbid spades.

Cookie dough designed for a cookie press can be rolled out and cut if a little extra flour is added. The rolled cookies won't be so rich as the pressed ones but you can cut them into attractive shapes and add interesting garnishes — nuts, frosting and chocolate shot, glazed cherries.

Cookie mixtures that contain butter, sugar, flour and flavoring will work together well if you use your hands for the mixing. However, the dough usually needs to be chilled before it is shaped.

Duck giblets may be used in making stock. The duck giblets alone do not give much flavor, so it is best to add them to chicken giblets (along with necks and wing tips) in preparing the broth.

Neenah Rated No. 1 In Final AP Grid Poll

Schofield Mentor Not Very Happy

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Coach Howard Stiehm of Schofield thinks his team deserves a better rating than No. 2 in the final Associated Press "Big Ten" high school football poll.

Neenah was picked for the top spot in the voting by Wisconsin sports writers. Both clubs had records of 8-0.

Stiehm said his team deserved top consideration because of decisive triumphs over Antigo, Rhinelander and Wisconsin Rapids — all well regarded.

Ben Meixl, the Neenah coach, said, "Maybe next year Stiehm will be in the high position. We had 23 seniors."

Of his own team Meixl said, "I wouldn't be afraid of playing anyone."

St. John Cage Team Has 5 Lettermen, Ripp Is Optimistic

Good Scoring Punch Returns With Promising Underclassmen

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — Five lettermen, a good return of scoring punch and some promising talent among underclassmen has given Coach Avitus Ripp a reason to look with optimism on the 1966-67 basketball season at St. John High School.

Ripp, who will be in his first season at the Chute cage helm, has been drilling his bucketmen for better than a week now and has reduced the varsity to 14.

He indicated he expects to carry this number through the season, although there is a possibility the unit may be further reduced to 12.

Ripp, who was a cage aide at St. Catherine's Racine, last season, looked over his cagers and assessed the squad this way: "We have every bit as much talent here as there was at St. Catherine and down there they frequently made it to the state tournament."

Picks Xavier

When asked about the Fox Valley Catholic Conference race for the approaching season, Ripp said he was not familiar with all the teams in the circuit, yet, figured that Appleton Xavier and Green Bay Prentre would be the toughest squads.

The five lettermen the Chute-back, underwent surgery Tuesday and is expected to be out the rest of the regular season. DeMarco's operation was scheduled for Wednesday night.

It was not known how long DeMarco will be sidelined.

"The knee didn't feel so bad, but the doctors said I needed the operation," said DeMarco, who paid a visit to Johnson in the hospital after he was examined.

Johnson, meanwhile, said he hopes he will be able to run on his injured leg within four weeks. But, he said, he might not be able to go at full speed for as long as four months.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob DeMarco, St. Louis Cardinals' center, has the same knee injury as teammate Charley Johnson. He'll also have the same operation and share the same hospital room.

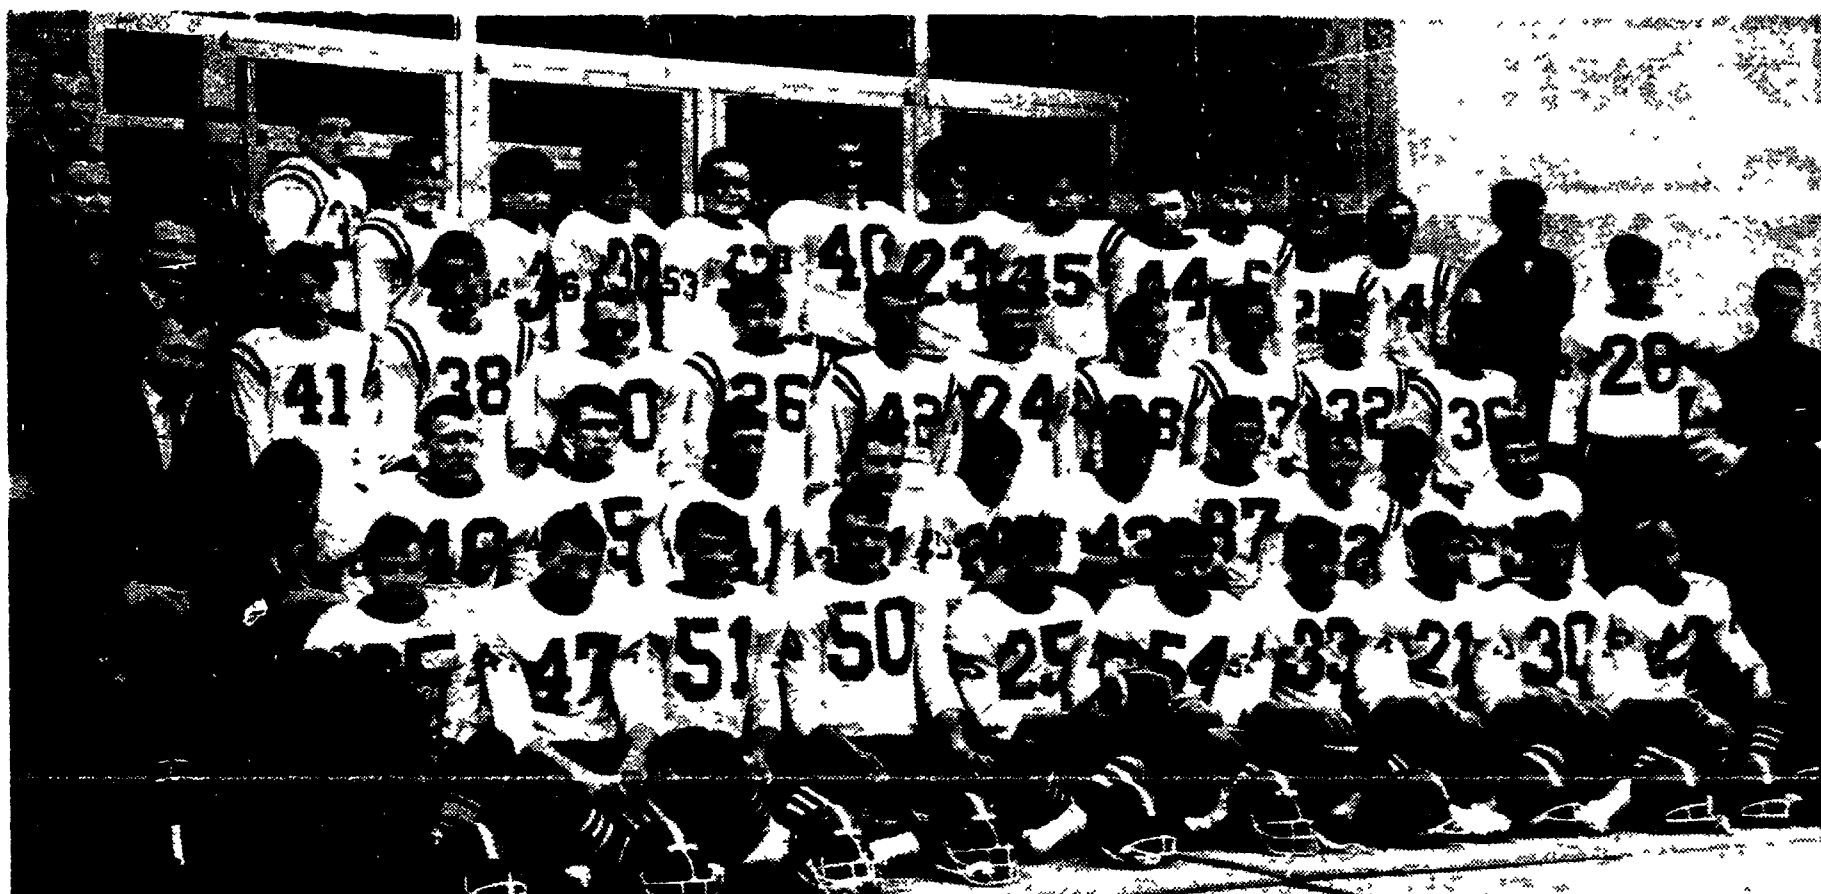

Each player tore ligaments in his right knee in St. Louis' 20-17 victory over the New York Giants in a National Football League game in New York last Sunday.

Johnson, Cardinals' quarterback, underwent surgery Tuesday and is expected to be out the rest of the regular season. DeMarco's operation was scheduled for Wednesday night.

The Little Chute St. John High School football team posted a 3-4 Fox Valley Catholic Conference record during the 1966 season and had an overall mark of 4-4. Gilman Gets New Contract At San Diego

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A new five-year contract as general manager and head coach of the San Diego Chargers in the American Football League, has gone to Sid Gillman, team spokesman report.

"We've torn up the old contract and given Sid a new one at a substantial increase in salary," said Charger general partners Gene Klein and Sam Schulman Wednesday.

Gilman was believed to be receiving $40,000 a year in a five-year contract signed after the Chargers won their only AFL title in 1963. Some observers believe the new pact calls for about $50,000 a year.

Gilman has been coach of the Chargers since the team was founded in 1960. His record of 60-33-6 includes five division titles and one AFL title.

"I am delighted and most appreciative for the new contract," said Gillman. "I have no desire to coach any club but the Chargers."

Linebacker for Wisconsin Has Total of 73

CHICAGO (AP) — Wisconsin has won only one of its five Big Ten starts, but the Badgers have the leading conference tackler in linebacker Bob Richter.

Richter has made 43 solo tackles and has been in on 30 others for a total of 73, the league office reported Wednesday. This moved the 217-pound Badger senior ahead of line-backer Dave Moreland of Iowa, now second with 69 tackles.

In pass interceptions, Illinois has two leaders—safety Bruce Sullivan with a Big Ten record of 192 yards returned and half-back Phil Kneil with most interceptions, five, for 83 yards.

Among Sullivan's four interceptions are touchdown runs of 98 yards, also a league record, and 96.

Indiana's Jim Smadecki, defensive end, leads in tackles for a loss, 10 for 38 Northwest-ern's Phil Clark has broken up 13 passes, 12.

He said earlier this week that he had been playing handball and had remained in good physical condition, and remarked Wednesday night that he was just six pounds over his 1964 playing weight of 249.

An offensive end when he entered the NFL in 1952 from the University of San Francisco, Marchetti became a defensive end in 1954 and was named All-Pro and later All-NFL at that position from 1956 through 1963.

His return to action following almost two years of retirement came at the request of the club, which asked waivers on injured defensive alternate Andy Stynchula to put Marchetti on the roster.

"It was a tough decision to make," said Marchetti, who'll be 40 on Jan. 2, "I just hope I can help."

"He'll have to play both inside and out (tackle and end), like Stynchula did," said Coach Don Shula.

"We expect to work him more on the inside because we have Roy Hilton as relief for the defensive ends and Marchetti needs more work at tackle."

The former Colt great will work on the left side of the line as a swing replacement at left tackle and at left end, where Lou Michaels has filled the position Marchetti vacated.

"I have no qualms about playing tackle," said Marchetti, part owner of a chain of hamburger carry-outs and cafes named for himself and a vice president of A-G Foods Inc.

"If I have played there before and if that is where the coaches feel I can help most, that's where I'll be."

Colts Call Marchetti Out of Retirement to Bolster Defensive Unit

BALTIMORE (AP) — Jersey No. 98, retired by the Baltimore Colts when defensive end Geno Marchetti left the National Football League battlefields after the 1964 season, will be reissued — to Marchetti.

The Colts announced Wednesday night that the 255-pound defensive lineman was to report

Voters Approve Huge Stadium At New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Louisiana voters have challenged Houston's position as the only site of a sports superdome in the South.

Unofficial, incomplete returns from Tuesday's general election showed 353,397 votes in favor of building a huge sports stadium in the New Orleans area; 116,822 votes opposed. The figures were from 2,050 of 2,338 precincts.

The new stadium will be financed partially by sales tax revenues collected by hotels and motels.

Advocates of the project argued that it was equivalent to an additional industry, and that Houston was attracting tourists business which New Orleans ought to have.

Truckers Have 5 Lettermen

CLINTONVILLE — Beginning his seventh term as Clintonville High School's head basketball coach, Carl Bruggink has a nucleus of five lettermen around which to build a squad that could again be an important factor in Mid-Eastern Conference and tournament play.

Last season, the Truckers built a 15-8 record, overall, enroute to fourth place in the M-E, to a regional tourney title and to Green Bay sectional consolation honors. The first six Bruggink-Coached Truckers teams have won a total of 76 games.

Returning regulars are Don Kirchner, a 6-foot 2½-inch center, and Dale Steinke, a 6-1 forward. Other lettermen are guard Jeron Dieck and forward Chuck Bate, who were the team's sixth and seventh men last season; and Jack Bennett, a guard.

Together the lettermen accounted for 637 points — about one third of the 1965-6 attack. Kirchner scored 201 points, while Steinke had 196, Dieck 101, Bennett 74 and Bate 65.

The regulars lost from last season are Pete Korb, Rick Pasch and Gary Miller.

Two seniors, other than the lettermen, round out the current list of seven top players. They are 6-1 Roy Hedtke and 6-2 Craig DeVaud.

Clintonville opens the season Nov. 19 as host to Waupaca. Other non-conference foes will be Berlin (away, Nov. 22), Antigo (away, Nov. 28) and Schofield (home, Dec. 3). The Clints' first conference foe will be Kimberly Dec. 2.

To The Lady Of The House

Dear Madam: 85 per cent of the bargain hunters are women. We know that you are always a bargain hunter, and that women have better business sense than men and can recognize a bargain when they see one. We use the word "bargain" because we would like you to see this outstanding New Home buy in Colony Oaks, Appleton's most distinguished address.

This home would cost over $10,000 more if we started it today.

Don't worry about the mud, the lot is completely landscaped. No stair climbing, the three bedrooms are all on one floor. The spacious kitchen has a Nutione range, dishwasher and disposal. A 2' car attached garage, bath & powder room, laundry room with fireplace, laundry-mud room, rustic patio, and full basement, and a 2 car attached garage. Financing has a Nutione range, dishwasher and disposal. And all of this for only $7,900.

Sincerely yours,

Signature Of Dior Bold, Clear

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If the girl takes off her skirt before trying to negotiate a revolving door, you can be sure she's wearing a Christian Dior.

This is nothing to be alarmed about, as the audience can vouch who watched the fast-paced spring collection opening of the New York house Wednesday.

Under the skirt made of catchable flying panels is still another, a slim sheath of the same fabric.

When women's clothes cost so much — a dazzling rhinestone cocktail dress equals the price of a small boat or a large car, for example — they aren't worth their status price unless they are immediately recognized.

Not Static
Thus, so you will know the score, here are the signs of designs, circa spring '66, by Gaston Berthelot of Dior:

The dress has movable parts. Besides panels that fly on skirt suits and dresses, tiers of stiff ruffles bounce on edges of party dresses, and puffs of ostrich feathers flutter about the face and arms. Diaphanous capes and stoles float.

On one exotic red chiffon ballgown, the wrist-length sleeves fail to stop at the shoulder, instead they wind around the head. Short sleeves are masses of fake flowers, butterflies, or ruffles. Sometimes one arm wears a long sleeve, the other arm is bare.

Two Extremes
Dresses for evening are frilly or silly, or elegantly simple columns of crepe.

For day the way to tell a Dior is by its cut — narrow at the shoulder, cinched at the waist, and flared a bit at the hip; or by its mannish tailoring.

The Dior color for spring is navy, by itself or with white, or shades of purple, or trimmed with more blue.

Dior hats are casual vinyl scarves that button under the chin; or leather bullets with doodads dangling at the ears; or sombreros with seashell earmuffs.

Dior hemlines, which have had more ups and downs than most, are knee-modest for day and inches higher for evening, worn with white stockings and silver shoes.

CHILTON — Jane M. Schumacher, 18, route 2, Hilbert, and Dawn Schroeder, 1, route 1, Hilbert, were bruised in a one-car accident at 6 p.m. Tuesday three miles northwest of Stockbridge on a town road.

The car, which was headed south, overturned on the roadway.

The injured were taken to a doctor for treatment.

Dramatic Change Seen In Number of Widows

The long, dreary American saga of the elderly widow living out her remaining years in loneliness finally may be ending.

In its place, a new, far brighter tale is being written in which the American husband and wife will stay alive and live together through middle and old age.

By 1985, a conservative projection is that a full 72 per cent of women 55 to 64 years of age will be living with their husbands. Today, only slightly more than two-thirds of women 55 to 64 are still living with their husbands.

Porter
Behind this dramatic change is one simple, fundamental force: women are now marrying men much closer in age to themselves than ever before and thus they are sharply increasing the chances that they'll survive as a married couple.

Dramatic Change
The prime reason there are 8,815,000 widows in our land today, of whom 8,357,000 are over 45, is that it has been common in our society for women to marry men older than themselves.

Because of the myriad of strains and stresses arising from our way of life, men on average die 6.8 years younger than women. As a result we have produced generation after generation of elderly, lonely, frustrated widows.

Changing Situation
But this situation is changing, according to a major study of marriage trends by Robert Parke, Jr. and Paul C. Glick of the U. S. Bureau of Census.

Their figures are based on the 1960 census but if anything, updating would underline their points even more. They say:

—Husbands under 35 today are on average only 19 years older than their wives. Husbands over 55 are on average 3.6 years older.

—Of the under 35 husbands, only 17 per cent are as much as five years older. Of the over 55 husbands, 42 per cent are at least five years older.

How vitally important this lessening of the difference in ages is dramatized by the following startling statistics.

Divorce Rate
If you are a woman who married at the age of 20 a man four years your senior, you run a 42 per cent chance of being widowed before you are 65 (assuming you survive to that age, of course.) If you were married at 20 to a man two years older, your chances of being widowed before 65 are only 37 per cent. If you were married to a man of the same age, your chances of widowhood are down to 33 per cent.

Age difference is obviously not the only factor involved. Also significant are the divorce rate, the general trend of mortality, the affect of separation and desertion. But Parke and Glick assume no major changes in any of these factors and whatever changes do develop will enhance, not cut, the odds on joint survival.

For instance, the probability is that the separation and divorce rate will decline as the incomes of our male working population are upgraded. A fascinating fact is that separation and divorce are far less extensive among affluent men than the poor.

"Natural Result"
In the 45 to 54 age group, 84 per cent of men with incomes of $10,000 or more are living with their first wives as against only 71 per cent of men with incomes of less than $3,000. "The natural result" of an upgrading of the incomes of our male working population, Parke and Glick conclude, will be a decline in the frequency of divorce and separation.

The trend toward a long life together suggests a sharp rise in the number of separate households in the U. S.: 98 per cent of married couples maintain their own homes. It signals the opening of vast new areas for goods and services designed specifically for the middle-aged couple living in a two-member household.

More important, it forecasts a happier, healthier, independent older population — and that's good news indeed.

Weyauwega Girl Seriously Hurt In Auto Crash
WEYAUWEGA — Sharon Schroeder, 19, 311 High St., was taken to Waupaca Riverside Hospital with severe head injuries after the car she was driving was involved in a one-car mishap at 1:10 a.m. today on Stanley's Landing Road.

County police said the car Miss Schroeder was driving failed to negotiate a curve, left the road, broke off a power pole and wound up—in a field. She was taken to the hospital by Bauer's Ambulance.

Extent of damage to the vehicle was not determined.

Career Academy, Inc.

Establishment of a nationwide school system offering resident or home study (correspondence) courses training for specific professional careers is the concept behind Career Academy. Currently, the Company operates resident schools in Milwaukee, the Atlanta, Washington, D. C., Chicago, New York and Houston. A new school will be opened in Columbus, Ohio, in mid-1967.

In-resident training programs for women interested in becoming Medical Assistants, Dental Assistants and Medical Technicians are presently offered, together with courses for men and women in Dental Technology and in Radio and Television Broadcasting. In addition, two unique home study programs are offered to train Medical Assistants and Radio and Television Broadcasters. These are administered from the executive offices in Milwaukee.

As a result of the establishment of new schools and the addition of study programs, revenues and earnings have increased sharply. Management's outlook for 1966 is for continued growth with enrollments projected at around 6,800 (compared with 3,700 in 1965) and on this assumption earnings should modestly surpass $1.00 per share. Further expansion is also envisaged for 1967 as a result of enrollment gains coupled with several promising new developments, and earnings should approximate $1.50 per share. The shares, at 29 times our 1966 per share earnings estimate, merit the attention of "business-man's risk" type accounts seeking capital gains.

Record With Congress

LBJ's Next Campaign Will Make Good Show

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — How President Johnson sweats out the 1968 elections will be one of the most fascinating spectacles of the next two years.

Johnson, to this writer, is not quite the same self-assured man who won the presidency overwhelmingly on his own in 1964.

If he wants to run for re-election in 1968, his two main talking points will be his record with this new, but still Democratic controlled Congress and his foreign record, particularly with the war in Viet Nam.

In the newly elected Congress the Republicans will have more seats, the Democrats fewer, although the latter, still retaining their majority, will be in charge.

The difference in party members will make it tougher for Johnson to get what he wants, which may be a little disquieting for him, in view of what happened these past two years.

He did remarkably well with this last Congress in 1965, less well in 1966. The decline in his influence there paralleled the decline of his popularity in the public opinion polls.

Like Harry S. Truman, who took over the presidency after Franklin D. Roosevelt's death, Johnson inherited a great reservoir of sympathy and cooperation when he became President after John F. Kennedy's death in 1963.

It was a natural public reaction toward a new man in a tough job under tragic circumstances. It eroded faster for Truman than for Johnson who had to try for election on his own sooner than Truman. He did excessively well.

New Programs
Then, with a Congress packed with Democrats in 1965, many grateful because he carried them into office with him, he got tremendous new programs through, some of them unfinished business from Kennedy's time.

Then gradually the polls showed Johnson's popularity diminishing. Most people have to depend for their impression of a president on how he seems on television.

Johnson is not at his best there for various reasons: The corny nature of much of his speech-writers' prose, the extreme over-use of the pronoun "I," and the far too much over-worked facial expressions which make him seem self-consciously anxious every minute for approval.

Kennedy, more adroit in public, made his audience feel assured and relaxed. It was not the other way around. With Johnson an audience feels tense, and often critical.

Before the political campaigns began to reach their peak in mid-October, it was known some of the Democratic candidates were in trouble and could well use the kind of help Johnson could give: a visit, a speech, an endorsement.

One of the secrets of Johnson's political success has been doing favors for politicians whose help he might need later. Besides, it would have been a natural and expected ritual for a president to campaign for his party.

But a strange thing happened, foreshadowing perhaps other changes in Johnson's tactics. Instead of campaigning, he made a 17-day trip to Asia, although it seems reasonable to believe this might have waited until after election.

Among other questions his action produced this one about a man of such endless energy and political enthusiasm as Johnson: Was he afraid he would appear repudiated if he campaigned for candidates who lost?

This wasn't the only strange occurrence. Another was his sudden, fierce denunciation of his constant critic, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It was Johnson's most personal attack on a political opponent.

What made it strange was that he has always carefully avoided this kind of performance. Perhaps the exhausting Asian trip had frayed his nerves. But these two events don't seem like the Johnson of old.

Gradually in the next two years a different kind of Johnson may emerge.

Doctor Explains T3 Test for Slow Thyroid

BY JOSEPH MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Why do I never see the T3 test mentioned for measuring thyroid activity? I had a PBI a year ago and was told my thyroid was normal although I had all the symptoms of a slow thyroid.
This year I had a T3 test and was told it was exceptionally flamed, then it is diverticulitis. It is surprising how many people have this condition — and also surprising how many don't understand what it is all about, which is why I prepared a booklet on it, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." (For a copy send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper.)

low. With treatment, I now feel better than I have in years. Is the T3 more accurate? If so, why don't more doctors use it?
— Mrs. J.C.

The diverticula will not go away, but by proper care you can keep them from bothering you. The diet will help and some folks may need medication occasionally to reduce spasm or infection, either of which can be a factor in diarrhea.

You will find it fully explained in the booklet, and will understand then why and how moderate care prevents distress.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any cure for a "locked" middle finger that occasionally locks at a right angle at the second joint? — W.W.H.

It should be checked by an orthopedist (bone specialist). The trouble may be in the joint or in the tendon, but probably will require surgery to correct it.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 46, the mother of 10 children, the youngest 15 months old. Would you say the last is a change of life baby? I am on birth control pills now. Is there any danger in using them at my age? — Mrs. A.P.

Contrary to common belief, the term "change of life baby" doesn't mean anything except that it is a baby born rather late when the mother is approaching menopause or "change of life." That's all. We don't know of any reason why women your age should not use the pills until the menopause actually occurs.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Teacher Tells Role

'Sensitivity' Vital to High School Art Study

That the role of art education, particularly at the high school level, is to teach people to actually see the world around them, the world in which they live, is the belief of Harold Carlson, head of the art department at Appleton High School West.

Most students are visually illiterate when they enter high school, the art teacher told members of the Appleton Gallery of Arts at the group's October meeting Tuesday night in the hospitality room of First National Bank of Appleton.

In discussing his philosophy of teaching art on the secondary school level, Carlson brought out the points that within a span of three years the teacher's job is to develop first a "sensitivity" in his students, then try to translate their perceptions into the various art media.

He pointed out that the art student must not only learn the basics of drawing, but he must learn to evaluate his own work and become selective. He must learn the subtleties that make the difference between mediocrity in art and finished work.

The challenge of a high school art teacher, he said, lies in the ability to "open doors" for the student as well as to help him achieve an ability for art within his own range through personal observation.

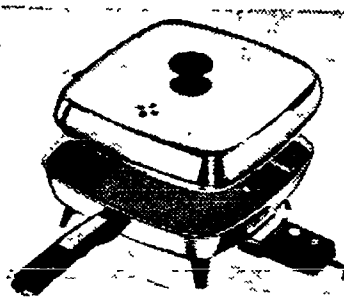

The second phase of teaching is to expose students to artists and artisans through personal contact, by hearing them discuss their own forms of art and their personal objectives and by watching them work. To accomplish this, the Appleton High School West art department has planned a schedule of visiting artists, who will discuss their work and give demonstrations during the present school year. This will give them the "big picture," the scope within the art field, which students of this age need, he said.

Gls Celebrate Marine Corps' 191st Birthday

Da Nang Patrols, However, Don't Cease Activities

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines in South Viet Nam celebrated the Corps' 191st anniversary today with ceremonies, steaks, birthday cakes and continuing patrols. The Communists stayed out of their way.

Generals became delivery men in this area where about 62,000 Marines now are serving. Most of the Marines had an anniversary dinner of soup, broiled steak with mushrooms, potatoes, peas and corn, salad, cake and ice cream.

Helicopters carried the food to units on patrol.

Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, commander of U.S. Marines in Viet Nam, delivered eight cakes to

Courts Probably Will Decide Eventual Winner in Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Georgia's gubernatorial election appears to be headed for the courts because neither Democrat Lester G. Maddox nor Republican Howard Callaway was able to get a majority of the votes in Tuesday's general election.

The apparent blockade to selection of a successor to Gov. Carl Sanders, a Democrat, was a write-in vote for former Gov. Ellis Arnall.

With 1,868 of 1886 precincts — 98.6 per cent of the votes — reported, Callaway had 437,258 votes, Maddox 435,489, and Arnall 54,939. That gave Maddox 47.1 per cent, Callaway 46.9 per cent, and Arnall 5.9 per cent.

Maddox overtook Callaway Wednesday night as returns from rural areas trickled in.

Maddox, a segregationist known for selling his restaurant rather than integrating it, had taken an early lead when polls closed Tuesday night, but a large urban vote early Wednesday gave Callaway a 25,000 vote lead.

Under the Georgia constitution, a failure to get a majority throws the election into the General Assembly, which is heavily Democratic.

The American Civil Liberties Union, however, filed suit in federal court Wednesday, con-

$11,000 in Jewelry Taken in Winnebago

OSHKOSH — Two jewelry salesmen had their samples stolen in Winnebago County. The sheriff's department is valued at $1,000, the other's at $10,000.

Oshkosh police are investigating the theft of four jewelry sample cases from Ronald J. Lindquist, Shawano, sometime Wednesday afternoon. Lindquist told police the cases were taken from the Oshkosh apartment of his brother, a WSU-O student.

The four cases contained 246 gold rings containing diamonds, sapphires and other precious stones, pendants, tie tacks, earrings, gold pins and wedding bands. Lindquist estimated value of the jewelry at $10,000.

The Sheriff's department is investigating the theft of about $1,000 worth of jewelry samples from the auto of Frank Stuchnik, West Allis, shortly after noon Wednesday at Valley Fair Shopping Center.

Oshkosh police officials say there is "a good probability" that the two thefts were performed by the same person, but there is no evidence to positively connect them.

tending the Legislature is illegally constituted. A hearing has been set for 9:30 a.m. Friday.

The ACLU claims the Legislature should be prohibited from naming a governor on grounds neither house is properly apportioned.

Sanders said he was prepared to remain governor until a legal successor is designated. Saying he will invite Callaway and Maddox to participate, the governor announced he would go ahead with the preparation of the biennial budget.

Sanders is supposed to leave office Jan. 10.

Callaway, 39, Georgia's first Republican congressman in nearly 100 years, adopted a wait-and-see policy before commenting on the possible outcome.

"I'd be glad to have a state final count," he said Wednesday before he slipped away without telling his destination.

Maddox, 51, predicted the Legislature would choose him if the gubernatorial contest went there for action.

Vote tallying in Tuesday's election was slowed partly because of the write-in movement and the record turnout, which should top one million when officially counted.

South Korea to Stop Sending Troops to War

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korea says it won't be sending any additional troops to South Viet Nam.

South Korean diplomats made the decision known Wednesday. They said they didn't think President Johnson was referring to South Korea when he indicated at the Manila conference that South Viet Nam's allies should provide more manpower.

Troops Report First Contact With Weapon

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON (AP) — A U.S. 1st Infantry Division ambush patrol was attacked with Viet Cong gas grenades today, a division spokesman said. It was the first reported use of gas by the enemy in the Viet Nam war.

The patrol had established its ambush pattern five miles north-east of Suoi Dau in the swamp and woodland of War Zone C. Americans have reported more than 800 enemy dead in a week of hard fighting against the Viet Cong 9th Division in that area 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

The members of the patrol, believed to number 30, donned gas masks which are standard equipment, the division spokesman said. The outcome of the attack or possible casualties were not known.

Field officers told Associated Press photographer Horst Faas, who reported the incident, that the nature of the gas used against the patrol was not known. American and South Vietnamese forces have in some cases used nonlethal gas against Communist troops.

Ground action in the area, however, continued to be light. The bloody battle in Tay Ninh Province of Zone C pushed the toll of American dead in the war to nearly double the number the week before, the weekly casualty report revealed.

Addition of U.S. nonlethal gas to the allied arsenal in South Viet Nam came to light in March 1965. This created an international controversy in which Communist propagandists still sporadically declare the United States is using "poison gas." U.S. authorities have de-

State Democrats Find New Party Leader in LaFollette

Attorney General Goes to Work At Rebuilding 'For the Future'

MADISON (AP) — Bronson La Follette surveyed the wreckage of the Democratic party in Wisconsin after Tuesday's election and began picking up the pieces.

La Follette, 30, was reelected to a second term as attorney general — the only Democrat to win statewide office.

So La Follette, with a magic name in state political circles, took over as leader of the party in Wisconsin and went to work rebuilding.

He said the party's future would be discussed this weekend at Meilen with J. Louis Hanson, the state party chairman; and in Washington next week with Wisconsin Sen. Gaylord Nelson and William Proxmire.

"Different Structure" — "With labor under new leadership and if we put the party under a different structure, we can build for the future," he said.

La Follette said "the party in Milwaukee County was at fault" for the small turnout in that area's Democratic wards and he indicated he would devote special attention to the Milwaukee organization.

After he was returned to office by a margin of some 80,000 votes while other party candidates went down to defeat, he was regarded as the obvious choice to succeed to party leadership.

Others Lost — Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey, the Democratic nominee for governor, lost to Republican Gov.

Knowles Asked To Start Suit To Recover Pay

MADISON (AP) — Administration commissioner George C. Kaiser has asked Gov. Warren P. Knowles to name special counsel to begin a suit against Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette in a pay dispute.

Kaiser's request, made public Wednesday, was that the state seek to recover $925 paid to La Follette by the federal government for his five-week lecture tour of India and Ceylon last year.

The pay matter was raised in the campaign by La Follette's GOP opponent, Louis C. Cecil. Kaiser's letter to Knowles asking legal aid, was sent on Monday but was not made public until the day after the election.

La Follette went to India and

7 Children Die in Michigan Blaze

FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP) — Seven children died today in a fire which swept their home in suburban Farmington township. Their ages ranged from 2 to 12.

Except for the parents and a 9-year-old daughter, Cynthia, the blaze wiped out the family of Harold and Rose Palmateer. The father was at work as an industrial welder at the time.

La Follette said "the party in Milwaukee County was at fault" for the small turnout in that area's Democratic wards and he indicated he would devote special attention to the Milwaukee organization.

Second Delay

Gemini 12 Mission Now Set for Friday

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Technicians checked and rechecked a new automatic pilot in the astronauts' Titan 2 rocket today, hoping that no new problem would crop up to force a third delay of the Gemini 12 flight.

Meanwhile, Navy Capt. James A. Lovell Jr. and Air Force Maj. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. continued to practice key phases of their four-day flight in a spacecraft simulator and to bone up on their complex flight plan.

The doubleheader Gemini 12 launching is scheduled to start at 2:08 p.m. EST Friday when an Atlas rocket hurls an Agena satellite into orbit as a rendezvous target. Gemini 12 is to set sail at 3:46 p.m.

Lovell and Aldrin were frustrated on two earlier launching dates — Wednesday and today — by troubles with the autopilot system which is needed to steer the Titan 2 on a true course during the vital six minutes the rocket operates.

The problems were associated with a secondary system which would operate automatically if the primary autopilot failed.

The initial difficulty involved a power supply to the system. The autopilot was replaced and checkouts were progressing smoothly Wednesday when the new package encountered trouble. Signals indicated that one

Anniversary in New York

East Blackout Returns; This Time Only in Fun

NEW YORK (AP) — At precisely 5:27 p.m. Wednesday, the lights went out in the tower suite of the Time-Life Building.

No one at the party there panicked, however. They barely looked up from their drinks. This year, everybody knew it was a joke.

The party — thrown by a distilling company — was one of many observances Wednesday night marking the first anniversary of the great northeast power failure. It honored all people — such as physicians, nurses, policemen and firemen — who helped keep things running during the blackout.

At 5:27 p.m. Nov. 9, 1965, the lights started to go out. They remained out for up to 13 hours, leaving 30 million people in seven states and two Canadian provinces in darkness.

Many persons in New York turned out lights and lit candles Wednesday night in memory of the blackout. They had candlelight dinners and parties.

Party Has Broader Base for Attack on LBJ

Republicans Hoping Victories Can Help Now--and in 1968

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The rolling impact of a midterm Republican breakthrough offered a fresh threat today not only to President Johnson's legislative program but possibly to his re-election in 1968.

While the GOP was surging to above-average House gains in Tuesday's nonpresidential year balloting, it also was netting from the Democrats eight governors' offices.

This cemented Republican chief executives into political power bases in at least 25 states which will cast 290 electoral votes two years from now—20 in excess of the 270 needed to elect a president.

As final ballot counts stretched out the measuring tape, it became apparent that Johnson and his Democratic administration had suffered a crippling, thought not necessarily lasting, defeat in contests where the President had thought Democrats might do very well.

Maneuvering Sought — The fact that Republicans will control at least half of the gov-ernorships in the next two years doesn't mean they will be able to maneuver their states into the GOP column in the 1968 presidential contest. Voters have a way of making up their own minds about such matters.

But the mere fact that their party has broadened its base for attack on Johnson's expected re-election bid certainly will make the GOP nomination much more attractive to potential candidates than it has been during the two dour years since 1964 defeat by Johnson.

Johnson's loss of party strength in Congress was far greater than that sustained by any president two years into his first elective term since GOP President Herbert Hoover's party lost 61 seats in the 1930 off year election.

More Than For FDR — The Republicans nailed down a gain of 47 seats in the House to bring their total to 187. Democrats elected 248 members.

The loss of 47 compared with a net gain of 14 Democrats made after Franklin D. Roosevelt had been in office two years. In 1954, after Dwight D. Eisenhower had held the presidency a similar length of time, Democrats gained 19. In 1962, two years after John F. Kennedy took over the White House, the Democrats lost only two House seats.

Johnson, of course, had held the office for almost three years before Tuesday's balloting. In that respect the first elective term voting differed from the others.

Add 1 — 8-42 — TBI Republican The President, resting at his Texas ranch, had no comment on House and governorship losses. He passed the word through an aide that he was somewhat surprised at the Republican gain of three in the Senate.

While the Democrats retained 64-36 control there, if the Republicans voted as a unit they held a power they lacked before to kill by themselves any filibustered legislation.

The President's labor allies took a thumping in Michigan. There GOP Gov. George Romney not only boosted his presidential nomination aspirations by winning a third term but pulled Republican Sen. Robert P. Griffin into office for an elective term over six-time Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who quit a State Department post to make the race.

Romney, when asked when he might make a decision on the possibility of seeking the presidential nomination, replied with a smile: "I will let you know."

The news was generally bad for Johnson's party in the Midwest. Michigan, Ohio, Iowa and Wisconsin all contributed to Republican House gains. Illinois turned out veteran liberal Democratic Sen. Paul H. Douglas, a strong supporter of the "Great Society," replacing him with west. Michigan, Ohio, Iowa and Percy, 47, promptly figured in speculation about 1968 GOP presidential and vice presidential possibilities. But the industrialist said, "I look forward to staying with my new job. I have no plans for 1968 or 1972."

Humphrey Loses Base — Although they lost the governor's office in Kansas, Republicans reclaimed it in Nebraska and Minnesota. In the latter case, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democrats' most active campaigner, lost his home-state political base.

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's re-election to a third term prompted speculation he might be interested in again bidding for the GOP presidential nomination. But Rockefeller repeated Wednesday he would not seek the nomination.

Instead, he called Sen. Jacob K. Javits New York's "favorite son." He earlier proposed Javits for vice president on a ticket headed by Romney.

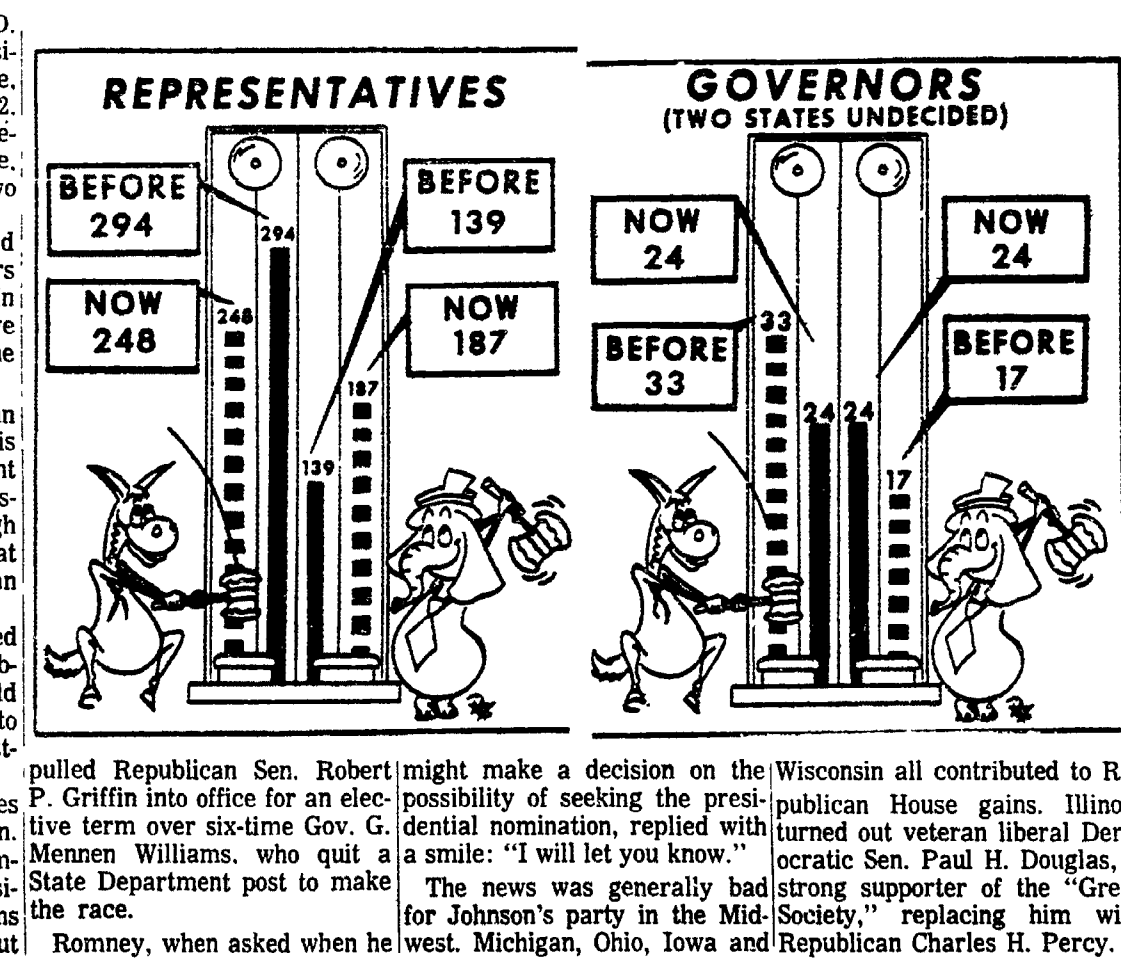

The results were not all negative, so far as the President was concerned.

Three of the freshmen Democrats he campaigned for in New York won re-election, although Rockefeller turned back a challenge from Frank D. O'Connor, a Democrat supported by Johnson, Humphrey and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y.

More than half of the Democrats who were elected in 1964 from normally Republican House districts and who went down the line for the "Great Society" programs survived the GOP onslaught.

The President could take comfort from the fact that his Viet Nam war policies were not successfully attacked as such. Democratic supporters of his limited warfare course won senatorial races in New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Mexico, Oklahoma and West Virginia.

These more than offset the election of a couple of GOP advocates of greater pace efforts — Percy in Illinois and Gov. Mark O. Hatfield, who won a Senate seat in Oregon.

Return of One-Party Government

The control of governmental affairs in the State of Wisconsin is once again solidly in Republican hands for the first time in a decade. And Gov. Warren Knowles must be given the credit for providing the leadership which accomplished the feat.

Viewed against the recent political fact that Wisconsin has been divided just about down the middle between the two parties, Gov. Knowles' victory margin of over 85,000 votes compared with his 18,000 vote margin two years ago is a remarkable personal achievement.

The Governor now has a lieutenant of his own party in Jack Olson for the first time in four years, and he has Republican majorities in both houses of the legislature, although the 53-47 margin in the assembly is not an entirely secure one.

Recapturing control of the assembly must be viewed as a Republican achievement equal to Gov. Knowles' re-election. These are battles that are fought in 100 individual districts within the state, all with their own individual political hues. The margin of the Knowles victory was certainly a significant factor in carrying 53 of the districts, but the effective organization work done by Party Chairman Ody Fish in the last two years must also be recognized.

Three respected Democratic leaders went down to defeat in that Republican victory: Frank Nikolay, Abbottsford. Assembly majority leader in the last session and one of the architects of its bipartisan accomplishments; Angelo Greco, Milwaukee, his party's caucus chairman in the assembly and chairman of the education committee which produced so much significant legislation; and the party's state chairman, Louis Hansen, who sought to step into a senate seat vacated by Frank Christopherson of Superior.

There was only one change in party representation in The Post-Crescent area, substitution of a Democratic assemblyman for a Republican from Calumet County. More significant was the re-election of legislators from this area who may step up to important leadership positions now that their party controls the Assembly, Harold Froehlich of Appleton and David Martin of Neenah.

Gov. Knowles lost more votes than we suspected he would in Outagamie County which can only be attributed to lingering popular dissatisfaction with the site chosen for the new university in this area. Knowles carried traditionally Republican Outagamie County by only 1,800 votes compared to a margin of 8,500 two years ago. And the Republican candidate for attorney general against Bronson LaFollette carried the county by 2,400 votes, despite his losing race in the state as a whole.

The mandate which the Republican Party has now won carries with it sizeable responsibilities. Gov. Knowles no longer will have any excuse for not securing the legislative action he wishes. The state still faces critical problems, chiefly the one of providing more and more services the people apparently want while also confronted with definite limitations on any increase in the tax burden upon its citizens. And the Republican Party in the executive office and in the legislature now has full responsibility for the answers it arrives at.

It would be most premature to now label Wisconsin as a solid Republican state. The record the Republicans write in the next two years will be on the line in 1968 in a presidential year.

The Congressional Elections

The Republican gain of 47 seats in the House of Representatives, exceeding even the most optimistic predictions of leaders like Richard Nixon, must be interpreted as being critical of President Johnson and his performance during his first two years of his term. And with the Republicans reconstituted as an effective minority in the House, Johnson Administration proposals will face more critical appraisal in the 90th Congress.

The Republican inroads in the Senate were not as significant in number, but it must be pointed out that a large number of the 35 seats in contention were in traditionally Democratic states in the South. And individual Republican victories were highly significant ones, particularly the election of Charles Percy over the veteran Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois, and the election of the first Negro in the history of the Senate, Edward Brooks of Massachusetts.

Effective Democratic control of the House rested principally on the 44 freshman Congressman elected in the Johnson landslide of 1964. They had generally gone down the line for the administration. And while a majority of these were reelected, enough were defeated to threaten further extension of the Great Society, particularly as it pertains to appropriating the moneys to expand those programs.

Wisconsin's traditional 7-3 Republican-Democratic lineup was restored with the defeat of two of these freshman representatives, John Race by William Steiger in the Sixth District, and Lynn Stalbaum by former Rep. Henry Schadeberg in the First.

Rather surprisingly, Rep. John Byrnes' margin of victory over Dr. Marvin Kagen was greater than that of two years ago, despite the fact that Dr. Kagen conducted a much more vigorous campaign than did his predecessor Cleatus Johnson. Byrnes polled 61.5 per cent of the vote this year against 59.5 two years ago.

Steiger's victory must be judged against the background that the Sixth District was traditionally Republican until Race rode in on Johnson's coattails in 1964, but it is a fine tribute to the ambitious young state legislator nevertheless and offers him a real opportunity to join outstanding Congressmen like Byrnes and Melvin Laird in giving Wisconsin a strong voice in Washington.

It is difficult to point to any specific issues or issues which may have influenced voters in scattered Congressional districts to turn against the Johnson leadership. There is general apprehension over Viet Nam and inflation, but Republicans offered no clear-cut alternative on the first score and the weight given the second by voters is difficult to assess.

Rather we would interpret the results as a general apprehension over all the power President Johnson was handed two used it. And while we expect an off-year election to go against the party in power, the extent of the disaffection exhibited Tuesday certainly should cause LBJ to years ago and the manner in which he has reassess his performance in the last two years of his current administration.

A Young Man Stars

One young Democrat emerged from the Republican landslide in Wisconsin Tuesday as his party's star performer with a real opportunity to assume his party's leadership in the next go-round with the voters two years hence. Obviously we are referring to Bronson LaFollette. His re-election as attorney general places him as the only Democrat in the state capitol heirarchy.

Patrick Lucey's overwhelming defeat by Gov. Warren Knowles, and Lucey's previous victory in the primary over David Carley puts LaFollette at the head of the list in any speculation over possible gubernatorial candidates in 1968.

LaFollette's holding of the office of attorney general also gives him substantial leverage. In his first two years in office he profitted by observing how John Reynolds was able to promote himself from attorney general to governor. The office gives its holder unlimited opportunities to keep his name before the public and LaFollette has seized those opportunities to create for himself an image of a public servant who is the people's advocate in state government.

His name itself is one of the attorney general's greatest assets. The son of former Senator Robert M. LaFollette Jr., the grandson of old "Fighting Bob," and the nephew of former Governor Phil LaFollette, he inherits at least some of the the bi-partisan support the previous LaFollettes so successfully enjoyed, as the returns from Tuesday's election prove.

It is significant that all the young men of a decade ago who led the Democratic Party to power in Wisconsin are now virtually removed from leadership on the state scene. Former Gov. Gaylord Nelson is in the U.S. Senate. Reynolds and James Doyle of Madison are federal judges, and Lucey and Carley are now branded as losers.

These men's successes also brought conflicts. There was a serious split between Nelson and Carley on the one hand, and Reynolds and Lucey on the other. and their struggle for party control was a standoff with Nelson in Washington and Reynolds and Lucey in control at home.

Significantly LaFollette was able to avoid embroilment in this conflict, just as Sen. William Proxmire has been able to do. Which gives him the golden opportunity to take over party leadership with at least a chance to heal over these old wounds.

One Building in Jones Park Could House All Government Offices

Editor Post-Crescent:

There is a way to save the taxpayer a lot of money and yet solve a lot of problems. I suppose when the politicians hear of this they will be full of arguments because it seems that their job, when in office, is to see how much of the taxpayers money they can spend. Before election it is how much they can save.

It seems in Appleton and Outagamie County we need, maybe not just today but in the next few years, all new public buildings such as a post office, city hall, court house, police station and office buildings for all federal and state employees. This will mean taking more property off the tax roll, requires more parking space, using up land that could be used for new business that can't find a place downtown and have to locate out in the country.

There has been some talk about using Jones Park as a civic center, fill it in for a parking lot, or even a city stadium.

Let's just look at it from this angle — a three or four level parking ramp the size of the park to take care of all government cars and trucks as well as a parking space for all employees working in the building — put parking meters in the space not needed for government purposes.

Above the parking ramp such a building to house a post office, city hall, court house, jail and all other government offices — then sell all government land back to taxpayers for new business.

This one building could save a lot of money on parking lots, one heating unit, one air conditioner, one set of janitors, less equipment that could be bought by one department head. All expense could be pooled and divided by floor space.

The different street levels on all four sides is a natural for entrance and exits at different levels to avoid a conjection of traffic on any one street. The park is big enough that even some of the natural landscape could be maintained.

If we could just figure out what we as taxpayers are going to pay in the next 30 years for each individual department building and compare it with the cost of just one building. I am almost sure we could save enough in that time to make a good down payment on another new building.

You might say it's not going to work regardless of what the saving is, because of the different departments of government. It can work if we want it to, or it can't if we don't want it too. It is up to us taxpayers to see to it that our tax dollar is used a lot wiser in Appleton than it has been or we are going to be a city that has been.

We in Appleton will profit by this because the biggest share of the expense for this building and parking ramp will be born by the federal, state and county government.

I believe this is a project that every taxpayer in Appleton should think about, and get the city fathers to look into, and see how they can save us a few dollars as well as solve a few problems.

Criticizes Mayor for Wire Works Comment

Editor, Post-Crescent:

In the Oct. 19 Post-Crescent, Appleton's Mayor Buckley made some of the most irresponsible statements I have heard from a public official in a long time. He accused the Outagamie County Board, officials of the Appleton Wire Works, and Appleton's neighboring municipalities because of the Wire Works plans to locate their new plant on surplus land at the new county airport in Greenville. He indicated that he thought the county board was "robbing" Appleton of its tax base by negotiating with the Wire Works for a site of their choosing outside the city limits. He seemed to accuse everyone involved of dealing in bad faith. And his frustration even carried him so far as to threaten his neighbors with mass annexation if they "took" any more of Appleton's industry.

Now a man in Mayor Buckley's position ought to think such matter through more thoroughly. He would realize, then, that the county board has no obligation to "protect" the tax base of any municipality within the county over any other. Apparently he has forgotten that the county board deprived Greenville of a huge segment of its tax base when it came out here, under pressure from Appleton supervisors, and took about 900 acres for a new airport. There was little sympathy for anybody's tax base during that transaction. Mayor Buckley has little to complain about in this matter, especially regarding the county board or Greenville. I doubt whether either of these parties promoted this move. And certainly Wire Works officials know best where they want to locate and why.

Mayor Buckley would do well to temper his statements, especially to the press, on such matters. And he would also do well to befriend his industries and neighbors rather than ridicule and intimidate them. These are people he and the city are going to have to live with for a long time, and heavy-handed treatment is not the answer to his problem.

Federal Aid Is Fact Of Life to Any State Chief Executive Today

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — When they seek high office in state affairs, politicians testify solemnly to their belief in the vigor and vitality of the state government in an era of expanding national government powers and services and the challenge of protecting the state's independence and integrity against the threat of central government.

Wyngaard

Thus the Democratic campaign during recent months sounded the keynote that "the state is not dead," and promised a revitalization of state sovereignty, state initiative, and state authority.

Thus also one of the basic themes of the typical Republican campaign is the menace of federalization and the shrinking role of the states in spite of the constitutional fathers and their literal intentions.

For all these reasons, the careful listener to the campaign publicity and oratory in Wisconsin this season might have been intrigued by the extraordinary preoccupation of the principal state office candidates, and notably the gubernatorial nominees, with the question of federal aids. Strange as it might have sounded to some ears, the rival Democratic and Republican candidates talked about the question in substantially the same terms.

MORE AND MORE

Both maintained, although Gov. Knowles with perhaps somewhat less insistence and enthusiasm than Lt. Gov. Lucey, that the state has not always had its rightful share of the grants-in-aid which are flowing out of the national treasury in ever widening streams and for an ever-lengthening list of purposes.

One of the major Lucey complaints about the Republican state administration was the charge that the governor doesn't like federal aid intervention in local affairs. He indicated that as a consequence Wisconsin citizens paying federal taxes are not getting a fair share of the money they are sending to the national treasury returned to their state and local governments.

A vigorous captain at the helm, Lucey seemed to be saying, could do more for his people in Washington, perhaps also with the implication that a Democrat can be more persuasive at the portals of the Washington establishment than a Republican.

But perhaps more curious, and significant, was a response from the Republican state administration in the last stages of the campaign. It reported, first, that this state and its creature local governments have in fact been negligent in claiming dollars from the national government budget, and second, that the situation is improving, principally because of the enterprise of the state administration in establishing a new federal aid service in the state capitol. Surely stalwart regulars of the Republican persuasion, recalling the party's position of distrust and opposition to dependence upon Washington in the past, muttered about the changing views of their leaders when they pursued those declarations.

CONTRADICTION

Surely some of the anxious politicians on the firing line were uncomfortably aware also of the implicit contradiction of their demands for state responsibility on the one hand, and their anxious promises to transfer more of the costs of doing state and local governmental business to the national tax base and national policy makers and supervisors, on the other.

Yet it is a dilemma that is difficult for even the most conscientious politician to resolve. As Sen. Proxmire observed in an election eve declaration for Lucey's viewpoint, money unclaimed by Wisconsin is not saved. It is spent in some other locality.

These men are also aware of the increasing severity of financing and taxing problems in their own jurisdictions and in the localities which increasingly regard themselves as dependents of the state. To the degree that federal money can be wangled in one way or another, his own troubles in raising state and local funds through new state tax levies will be relieved, the man who will hold the governor's chair concludes.

most of us do, but their rigorous train of thought is based on an utterly false premise about the nature of reality.

The greatest mystery of modern times is how so many people manage to live as well as they do on what we suspect they make.

Middle age is when you pass an apple orchard and remember the stomach-ache more than the thrill of climbing for the apples.

One of the few true mots that the late Somerset Maugham ever committed to paper was his definition of "perfection" as "what American women expect to find in their husbands . . . but English women only hope to find in their butlers."

It is not divorce itself that does damage to the children of such marriages, but the emotional conflict leading up to the divorce; and recent studies indicate that adolescents from unbroken unhappy homes are more troubled and delinquent than those from broken homes, at least in middle-class environments.

"Integrated education" is meaningless in itself, unless we can raise the quality of education generally; and it is a dangerous and hopeless illusion to expect the schools to do what society will not do. What we call "the value of experience" can be grasped only by character; as Joubert observed: "Few men are worthy of experience — the majority let it corrupt them." (Copyright, 1966)

Message to Losing Democrats

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Nov. 18, 1866.
"After a storm comes a calm."

After a bitter canvass like the one through which the Democracy (Democrats) of this county have just passed, it is natural that all true men should sit down and think things over.

Plainly and palpably there is but one course for all true and honorable men to pursue who believe in Democratic Principles.

That is to drop the matter just where it is and resolve that henceforth the rotten system of packing caucuses, heretofore prevalent in some Towns, shall receive no countenance; that ample public notice of the time and place of holding such caucuses shall be given in every Town; and that no man shall be nominated for an office who is not competent to discharge such duties.

Because a man wants an office is no reason why he is fit for it. Too often the reverse is the fact.

How to Help the Underachiever — 10 —

How to Beat the Guessing Game

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.
University of Southern California

The teacher asked, "How would you solve problem Number Five?" and Mary answered without an instant's hesitation, "multiply." Unfortunately, that was the wrong answer.

Guessing was producing so many wrong answers that Mary was failing eighth-grade arithmetic.

At home, Mary usually asked the questions. Her father gave the answers and her homework was thus a cooperative effort without Mary having to think. Tests at school were a different matter!

Mary had been drifting into the habit of guessing and her grades in arithmetic had been dropping steadily since the fourth grade.

I encounter many students of all ages who have allowed some habit to become thoroughly established with disastrous results.

Substitute Knowing For Guessing

To cure himself of guessing a student must make a determined effort to think before he speaks. He should resolve to delay long enough to put conscious thought behind his answers.

As he studies homework assignments he should think over the precise way he would explain each idea to the teacher or a fellow classmate.

He should plan, when called upon to answer, to hesitate until he has had time to think. He should resolve to study every mathematical problem thoroughly before starting the solution.

In stubborn cases, practice sessions should be arranged in which you ask questions about the student's current work and demand thoughtful answers.

How to Improve Memory

Poor memories result from careless study procedures.

The student who "can't remember" insists that he studied hard for a test and thought he was prepared. But when he actually took the test he could recall little of what he had studied.

Among the plans that will help a student improve his memory are the following:

In any subject, he should construct an organized background to which details can be attached. This may be done through study of Tables of Content or chapter summaries, or outlining; and, in history, through the use of maps and time lines.

As he reads assignments he should stop at the end of each section of material and restate the ideas in his own words.

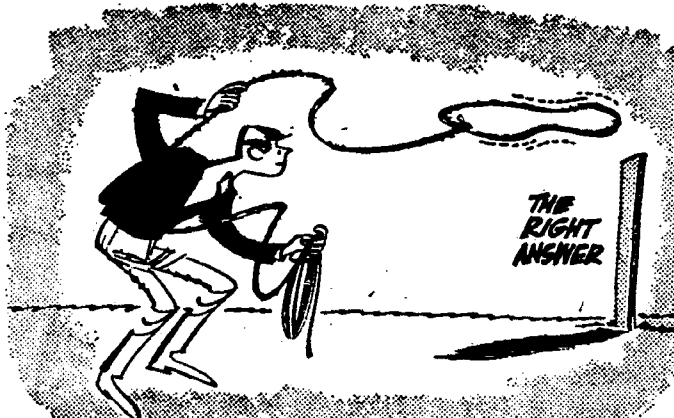

As ideas are presented in class he should think them into his overall outline.

As he prepares for a test he should start with a review of the overall outline and do his final polishing by thinking specific items of information into their proper places.

Whenever possible he should attempt to visualize an object or an event in location.

Finance Committee, Board Not Using Same List on Cuts

Summer School, Other Programs Never Deleted, Buckley Claims

The original list of the common council's finance committee recommending a $300,000 cut in the $5.6 million school board requests is not the same being used by the board of education.

The difference has prompted Mayor George Buckley to request the city finance department to prepare about 200 copies of the official finance committee report prepared Oct. 29.

"At no time has the finance committee or common council deleted summer school and

Appleton Pair Writes Mayor, Council Against $300,000 School Cut

A protest was registered today to the mayor and Appleton Council against the $300,000 deletion in the school board budget by Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Miller, 96 Esterbrook Court.

Dr. Miller is assistant dean at the Institute of Paper Chemistry. They requested that all of the $300,000 be restored. "The taxes in Appleton are high, but we would like to feel that the education of our children is important enough to keep the standards at least where they are now. If the cut is made Appleton's schools will suffer irreparable harm," Mr. and Mrs. Miller wrote.

other programs which the school officials are now indicating will be eliminated," Buckley said Wednesday afternoon.

"The cuts the school board is publicizing is strictly the action of that body — not city officials," Buckley added after conferring with Finance Director Henry Schreve.

$501,000 Higher

Buckley, noting that the 1967 school board budget as now recommended is about $501,000 higher than this year's allocation, told Schreve he wanted extra copies of the finance committee recommendations available for citizens seeking further information at city hall.

Buckley said it was now obvious there are now two lists — the one prepared by the committee and approved by the common council, and another in which the school board made program cuts at its discretion at recent meetings.

"There is nothing personal about this school board budget problem," Buckley said. "Earlier this afternoon I was out with Board President Charlie Buchanan and School Supt. Bill Spears, getting our picture taken at a groundbreaking for the new school."

Deeply Concerned

However, Buckley said he was "deeply concerned" over the lack of economy in some areas and felt the finance committee's $300,000 cut should be upheld. "I honestly believe the budget can be cut that much without hurting our educational program whatsoever," Buckley said.

In its Oct. 29 report, the finance committee noted that under the law it could not tell the board of education what specific items to delete from its budget. However, in arriving at the $300,000 figure the budget examiners cited items which were considered to be areas where adjustments could be made.

At its request, the board received a copy of the finance committee list which pointed out that:

—The capital outlay portion of the school budget could be adjusted downward by $88,915.

Accounting Matter

—Under administrative expense, the position of one new secretary could be eliminated, saving $5,000, considering a secretary had already been added this September.

—An accounting matter, noted by Schreve, showed there will be a decrease in municipal retirement costs due to correction of rate and probationary status of new employees at East

Marx Names Spice His Undersheriff

Appointment of Former 2-Term Sheriff to Continue Law Team

Outagamie County's sheriff-elect Norbert Marx, elected on the Republican ticket Tuesday, today announced the appointment of Calvin Spice as undersheriff for the next two years.

Spice

Spice has been county sheriff for the past four years, being elected as a Democrat in 1962 and 1964. Marx was his undersheriff.

In making the appointment, Marx said, "I feel that the voters of Outagamie County have indicated their confidence in law enforcement under the present administration."

"I must have an able assistant and I know of no other person more dedicated, trained, qualified and aware of the problems of law enforcement in this department; and I believe I would be doing a disservice to Outagamie County if I did not appoint Calvin Spice," Marx said.

Spice, accepting the undersheriff job, said, "I feel that (Marx) is very qualified and I know he will do a terrific job. I feel that, as a team, we can

Appleton Woman Hurt After Auto Strikes Parked Car on Ballard

Thelma L. Barnes, 28, 1817 S. Bouten St., was injured at 2:45 a.m. Wednesday when the car she was driving south in the 1700 block of N. Ballard Road struck a parked car.

The woman was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital in Lindy's Ambulance for treatment of head cuts. She also complained of a sore neck.

The injured woman told police she was looking for street signs on Ballard Road when she noticed a car approaching from behind at a fast rate of speed. She said she swung to the right striking a car owned by Barry R. Schwandt, Shiocion.

The car she was driving is owned by the U.S. Army.

Use for 40 Hours Devotions

Major Work Completed At St. John in Little Chute

LITTLE CHUTE — A major remodeling project has been completed at St. John Catholic Church and parishioners will begin using the church for the first time since spring at a high mass of exposition, marking the opening of 40-hour devotions at 8 a.m. Friday.

After the mass the blessed sacrament will be exposed for adoration during the day. The same schedule will be followed Saturday. The intention of the mass will be for peace. The high mass of reposition will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

Services also are planned at 7:30 p.m. Friday, 7 p.m. Saturday and 7:30 p.m. Sunday. The opening sermon Friday night and closing sermon Sunday night will be delivered by the Rev. William Spalding, former director of the Diocesan Apostolate and now, pastor of the Church of the Resurrection, Allouez.

Church Remodeling

Remodeling of the church was the first major change since the structure was built in 1869, according to the Rev. Martin Vosbeek, pastor. Almost everything inside the church is new.

The floor in the main part of the church was removed, a concrete slab poured and padding and gold carpeting installed. An off-white and gold decorative motif was followed throughout the church. New pews have been installed and the choir loft was completely renovated.

The steep floor grade in the choir was eliminated and the loft terraced. High walls which shut out choir members from others in the choir area were removed, banisters renewed and the entire loft decorated.

New lighting fixtures were installed in the sanctuary and choir area. Baseboard heating was installed to replace the large, old-fashioned radiators. A central vacuum system was

To the right in the sanctuary is a new altar of reposition of antique verde marble. A most unusual tabernacle on the altar is a highly polished bronze sphere. The door of the tabernacle slides around following the contour of the sphere.

Gold Mosaic Reredos

A background or reredos of gold mosaic presently being made in Rome will be installed behind the altar later. The reredos is a pictorial and symbolic representation of the "Tree of Life" and a large representation of Christ.

Sales Tax Rebate Impact on Budget Awaited by Officials

The City of Appleton — faced with a gross $56.01 tax rate per $1,000 assessed valuation — will not know the impact of its sales tax credit refund on the budget until later in the month, Henry Schreve, finance director, reported today.

Schreve said the 1967 budget was prepared on the assumption the city's share of the sales tax rebate will be $3.67 per $1,000

Still Tentative

The gross tax rate, which is tentative until the council and county board officially adopt budgets, breaks down as follows:

—General city purposes, $14.13.
—Board of education, $29.82.
—Vocational school, 21 cents.
—Public library, 89 cents.
—Park-recreation board, $2.34.
—County-state levy, $8.62.
Gross rate $56.01.

The 1965 gross tax rate levied for 1966 purposes was $52.15 with the state credit refund of $3.67 making a net rate of $48.48.

$4 Boost Possible

As the recommended city budget now stands, including appropriations for all departments, boards, commissions and agencies in 1967, it calls for a tax boost just short of $4.

Schreve said he would not attempt to speculate on Appleton's sales tax refund, noting that one year the city received Faceted glass colored windows will be installed later in the main body of the church. These windows, through symbols, will tell the story of the mass from the beginning days of Abraham to the present.

They also will add color to the interior of the church. The entire project was designed to be beautiful in its simplicity and so planned as to not detract from the main purpose of the church as a place of worship, the pastor said.

21 Burglaries Charged to Martin Huspek

Three Counties Add Counts to List of Appleton Police

Warrants have been issued charging Martin O. Huspek, 21, 426½ S. Story St., Appleton, with 21 counts of burglary in five counties after an extensive investigation by Outagamie County and Appleton Police Department investigators.

Huspek, already charged with burglarizing the Moose Club, was arraigned in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Wednesday afternoon on five additional burglary counts brought by Appleton and Outagamie County authorities.

Signed Statements

Officials said today that Huspek signed statements and the charges outside this county have been consolidated. Huspek waived preliminary hearing on the five counts and was bound over to circuit court for entering of a plea. No date has been set for the appearance. The Appleton man is in the county jail in lieu of posting bonds totaling $16,000.

In Five Counties

The alleged burglaries include 10 in Brown County, three in Winnebago County and one each in Manitowoc and Calumet counties, in addition to six charges in Outagamie County.

County investigators allege that Huspek burglarized R. and R. Lanes in Black Creek on Aug. 17, and Chuck's Service Station and the U-Save Grocery, both in Seymour, on Aug. 16.

Huspek also was charged with burglarizing Johnson's Service Station, 1725 S. Oneida St., and Weber and Persons, Inc., 1131 effect killing its hopes for passage for at least another month.

There was only 10 minutes of debate on this morning's resolution which was signed by 11 supervisors, three of them members of the law enforcement committee.

Supervisors Begin Final Budget Action

With completion of the highway budget review late this morning, Outagamie County supervisors turned their attention to final action on the proposed 1967 overall county operating budget which calls for a record expenditure and levy.

Indications are there will be no major additions or deletions to the budget which calls for expenditures totaling about $6.4 million and a levy of $2.8 million.

The sheriff's radio budget was increased by $2,737 — to a total of $85,639 after supervisors Wednesday approved that sum for a maintenance contract covering the new police radio system.

Another $687 was added to the highway budget for county aid to bridges, bringing that total to $19,516.

Further changes are expected to be made during the afternoon board session. It is expected a contingent fund of some type will be included in the proposed budget. There is no provision for such a fund.

The highway committee budget calling for expenditures totaling about $2 million and a levy of about $880,000, is expected to spark debate.

The November budget session is expected to end Friday.

School Musicians to be Lawrence Band Guests

Wisconsin school bandsmen and their directors will be guests of the Lawrence University Symphonic Band Sunday at a clinic previewing state festival music and recent band publications. The event beginning at 1:30 p.m. in Memorial Chapel, will continue through the afternoon and is open to the public.

The 70-member Lawrence ensemble, led by Fred G. Schroeder, professor of music, will open the session with readings of 20 selections from the music festival list, classes A through D. This year's works include the overtures, "Fingal's Cave," by Mendelssohn, and "Roman Carnival" by Berlioz; the Prelude and Fugue in A Flat, by Bach; a segment of the Brahms "Academic Festival" overture, and the air from "Rinaldo," by Mozart.

More than 40 new arrangements and compositions also will be previewed, with guest bandsmen participating with their Lawrence hosts. Most of the pieces are original works for wind ensemble by contemporary American composers. On the list are selections by Massenet, Richard Wagner, and Lecuona.

The band materials clinic is an annual event which supplements the band's annual week-overs, "Fingal's Cave," by Mendelssohn, and "Roman Carnival" by Berlioz; the Prelude and Fugue in A Flat, by Bach; each year.

Committee Referral

The resolution was referred to committee under an amendment made by Seymour Supv. Marvin Babbitt, Wussow seconded the amendment.

Kimberly Supv. Sylvester Lenz earlier had moved to amend the resolution to put the chief deputy under Civil Service.

Supv. Stanley Perkins, Medina, blasted the chief deputy resolution saying "it was poor timing to bring this in right after the election (of a new sheriff); this seems to be a personal matter."

Appleton Supv. Arthur Hoolihan disagreed saying, "Spice (present sheriff who could not seek re-election according to state law) has as good a chance to get the job (of chief deputy) as anyone else."

Competitive Testing

The chief deputy was to have been appointed by the county board's executive committee, with approval of the board. The appointment presumably would have been made following competitive testing by the State Bureau of Personnel.

Supv. Paul Kostka, Little Chute, just before the vote on Babbitt's amendment, said "I want to see this resolution come from the committee if there is any dissension from the committee how can we act on it?"

The resolution calling for a chief deputy was signed by Supvs. Edward Spierings, Little Chute and John Schreier, Appleton, both members of the law enforcement committee and by Supvs. Andrew Jimos, W. E. Klein, Allen Bulbolz, Henry Bartz, Robert Weyenberg, George Kroes, Patrick Mares and Hoolihan.

Court Delays Proceedings on Shooting Incident

OSHKOSH — Court proceedings against Dale F. Lenz, 782 Pleasant Lane, Menasha, who is charged with reckless use of a firearm, were adjourned to Dec. 2 this morning by County Judge James V. Sitter.

The adjournment came at the request of Lenz' attorney who asked for time to investigate the charge. Lenz was released on his own cognizance.

Lenz was arrested after James Kluba, 1090 Stead Dr., Town of Menasha, complained to the Winnebago County sheriff's office that a .45 caliber bullet was fired into his home early Saturday morning.

Kluba told sheriff's investigators that Lenz awoke him at 5:25 a.m. Saturday and he went to the front door. After he closed the door and went back upstairs, he heard a shot, he said. A .45 caliber bullet was found in the house.

Local 477 Members Hear Explanation Of Proposed Pact

MENASHA — The longest strike in Twin-City history may be ended this afternoon when members of Local 477 of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, AFL-CIO, vote on the proposed two-year contract offered by Gilbert Paper Co.

A meeting was called for 2 p.m. at the strike headquarters, the Menasha Eagles Club, to explain the pact which was approved by the union bargaining committee. Balloting will be held until 5 p.m. today.

The union bargaining group has recommended the acceptance of the contract, which was presented following a day-long negotiation session on Tuesday at the Menasha Hotel.

The Tuesday meeting marked the fourth time Federal Mediator Philip Simon met with company and union representatives in attempts to settle the dispute, now more than two months old.

If the contract is ratified by the employees this afternoon, the pickets in front of the Ahnapee Street plant will be immediately removed and preparations will be started to reactivate the paper machines.

Some 400 employees walked off their jobs the day after Labor Day, Sept. 6.

The old contract between Local 477 and Gilbert Paper Co., a division of Mead Corp., expired on June 30. Members of the union voted to reject the company's final contract offer on Aug. 30 and the walkout began a week later.

Evaporated Milk Worth $3,000 Spills on Street

NEENAH — An estimated $3,000 in evaporated whole milk was lost when the trailer of a tank truck tipped over on S Commercial Street about 7:40 p.m. Wednesday. The tank blocked traffic on S Commercial Street for almost two hours.

Damage to the truck, driven by George Hansel, 20, route 4, Appleton, was estimated at about $500.

The accident happened as the truck, with the tank about half full, pulled out of the Galloway Milk Co., 631 S Commercial St. As the truck turned onto the street, the trailer slipped off a hydraulic wheel of the tractor and tipped over. About half of the milk load spilled onto the street through the hatch vents. The tank itself did not rupture.

The Neenah fire department was called to flush the sticky liquid off the street.

Bethel Lutheran Holds Anniversary

MENASHA — Fifteenth anniversary of Bethel Evangelical Lutheran Church will be observed with a special service Sunday.

The Rev. D. E. Hallemeier, pastor of Peace Lutheran Church, Green Lake, will be guest speaker at the 8 and 10:30 a.m. services. He served the newly organized congregation for five months while he was pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church, Appleton.

The Rev. A. W. Trefel, pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church, Kewaunee, will be the guest speaker at 3 p.m. He was the first resident pastor and served the congregation for 14 years.

The Rev. David Worgull is minister of the congregation, which has 675 members and 156 children attending Christian Day School.

Two Found Guilty as Disorderly; Refused to Leave Woman's Home

Alvin A. Hall, 26, 1702 N. Wilmer St., and Ronald E. Wilkie, 1511 N. Charlotte St., Tuesday were found guilty of disorderly conduct in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

They were arrested Oct. 8 by city police after a complaint was filed saying the men entered the home of an Appleton woman and refused to leave.

Both men were fined $35 and costs or sentenced to 14 days in jail by Judge Gustave J. Keller Tuesday.

record tax levy of $2,456,953. This will be an increase of $228,966 over the 1966 budget but $205,443 less than the originally proposed budget. The gross budget is up $313,000.

The equalized tax rate for 1967 will be about $3.215, a drop of 1½ cents from 1966. However, the assessed tax rate from the cities to the taxpayers in Neenah and Menasha will be up about 20 cents per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Marathon Session

In a marathon five hour meeting Wednesday, the board's finance committee made final budget alterations, the most important of which was to apply $180,000 from surplus 1966 funds to reduce the tax levy. This is $3,000 less than what had been used in 1966 from 1965 funds.

Results of salary negotiations with the Courthouse Employees Association also are now reflected in the budget.

More Revenue

Major changes in the budget were to increase revenue estimates by $139,383 and to increase estimated expenditures by $89,779. In addition, $25,000 will be appropriated for a contingency fund.

Revenue items increased by the finance committee included return on income tax, $45,000 more; utility tax return, $10,000 more; interest on fund investments, $15,000 more, and county mental hospital revenues, $67,465 more. The last item was the result of an error in the original budget itself. Several other minor items also were increased.

On the expense side, almost every department budget went up several hundred dollars, reflecting salary increases granted in wage negotiations.

Major items were a reduction of $40,000 in the highway department budget, which was suggested by highway commissioner Leon Morrissey; and $9,671 in the Sunnyview Sanatorium budget which had been budgeted in error.

Major additions to the budget were $65,000 for courthouse air conditioning, $30,000 for courtroom remodeling, $10,000 for airport expansion, $37,000 for State 26 relocation and $23,000 for architect fees for the proposed courthouse annex.

Ask Neenah To Slash School Budget

NEENAH — A detailed review of the highest educational budget in Neenah's history, $4.14 million, before the city council and town chairman Wednesday night brought a request for cuts ranging from $60,000 to $300,000.

C. Andree Pertam, chairman of the board of education, finance committee, presented a 1967 Neenah Joint School District budget showing total expenditures of $4,137,232, including an operating expense of $3,478,148 and a debt service obligation of approximately $700,000. The bonded indebtedness is not a firm figure at this time because the impact of bonds sold for various school building projects and credited revenue from the City Treasurer's office has not been calculated.

It was a friendly climate with 20 spectators, made up of 17 educators and three other citizens in the gallery.

No final decisions were made. Questioning on the budget was directed by councilmen and town chairman on the growing number of teachers, when would school costs stop going up, an adjustment in the number of pupils in a classroom, recruitment of teachers and cost.

Clintonville Will End Fund Drive For Fireman

CLINTONVILLE — William Martens and Roland Spiorski report that efforts are being made to bring a successful conclusion to the drive for funds for Gary Wied, an Appleton fireman who is currently at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester.

Spiorski said persons not contacted in the neighbor-to-neighbor campaign may leave their contributions at the Clintonville National Bank or Dairyman's State Bank.

Parents of the 27-year-old former Clintonville man, Police Captain and Mrs. Willard Wied, remain at Gary's bedside and report now that Gary "is holding his own," after brain surgery.

False Alarm Brings Fire Fighting Units

Community Center Banks 550 Units of Blood in 3 Months

Appleton's Community Blood Center announced 550 units of blood were drawn at the center during August, September and October. Of the total, 174 pints from 9 a.m. to noon and 1:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Blood donations were for replacement purposes and 376 donors gave blood on the Family Plan.

There were three emergency drawings during the period. Recruiting teams are scheduled to visit the Kimberly-Clark Corp. Mill in Kimberly from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Nov. 29 and Dec. 13, to enroll employees who wish to join the family plan. A similar visit will be made to the Hortonville Bank during regular hours Nov. 18.

Mrs. Potter V. Park, Appleton, was elected to the board of directors during October. The 21-member board will hold its annual meeting Jan. 24, 1967.

Additional Policemen Bring Menasha Force Back to Full Strength

MENASHA — With approval from the police and fire commission Wednesday night, the police department returned to full manpower for the first time since last June, hiring three new men.

The new men will all have reported for training within the coming week, Police Chief Lester Clark said today.

County Official To Check Into Migrant Fund

Leader Salas Says Investigation to Silence Suspicion

WAUTOMA — A John Doe investigation into the alleged misuse of funds donated to help migrant workers will be initiated within two weeks by Wau-shara County Dist. Atty. Howard Dutcher.

Dutcher said today he met with Jesus Salas, 22-year-old student and organizer of Hombres Unidos (Workers United) in the county, before deciding to undertake the investigation.

The charges reportedly stem from donations collected during meetings and rallies conducted by Salas around Wisconsin. The complaints, Dutcher said, are against Salas who led a migrant march to Madison last summer and a strike against an Almond potato firm in October.

Dutcher will contact district attorneys in counties in which donations were made. The Wautoma district attorney said the counties include Outagamie, Fond du Lac, and Dane.

Welcomes Investigation Salas said today. "Hobros Unidos welcomes such an investigation and the opportunity to reveal our financial records to an impartial authority. This is the right and proper way to silence those who have spread suspicion and distrust about our organization."

"I welcome this opportunity, not just to show that I have not been derelict in my duties to the organization,"

Practical Nursing Training to Grow

NEENAH — Expanded facilities for the school of practical nursing became a reality Wednesday night but the two year old hope of 200 graduates being trained by the school each year grew dim.

James Malotke, director, presented a $156,830 budget for 1967 to the members of the council and town board and received a "nod" of approval. Official action will be taken at the respective meetings of council and town.

The total budget carries a .559 mill rate, a trifle more than one-fourth of the two mill rate allowed for vocational school purposes. This amounts to less workers but to show I have not violated the trust of hundreds of people throughout the state who have helped us by contributing not only money, food, clothing and other services, but more important, have helped us by taking a stand in their respective communities and support our efforts, encouraging others to do likewise," Salas said.

Dutcher said he contacted the Wau-shara County Board and received their approval to conduct the John Doe investigation. "We know of one particular circumstance where the donation was in excess of $350," Dutcher said.

Start In 2 Weeks

The investigation won't begin for at least two weeks, Dutcher said. Wau-shara County does not have a county investigator and Dutcher and his assistant are busy in court until then.

"I will ask the district attorneys for assistance," said Dutcher, "regarding things such as witnesses, before the subpoenas go out."

Salas said today, "The allegations accusing me of misuse of funds for migrant workers are completely false. These allegations have been originated by the vindictive and given currency by the ignorant," he said, adding, "They are based on sign gossip, hearsay and outright lies and nothing more."

Board at Kaukauna Votes Salary Hikes

Hot Lunch, Hourly Employees Get Raises; Consider Others

KAUKAUNA — The board of education Tuesday night authorized pay increases of slightly over 5 per cent for salaried workers in the school hot lunch program and raised hourly paid employees 15 cents per hour.

Salaried workers will get $370 per month and $177.50 per month while the base for hourly workers was set at $1.40 per hour. Workers after one year will receive $1.55 per hour. Increases are effective Dec. 1.

Wage adjustments for maintenance men in the school system will be considered at the December meeting. Board members authorized Thomas Nytes, business manager, to investigate purchasing a 2-car garage from the Vocational and Adult School for storage of vehicles and equipment.

The garage was built by students in the Vocational School carpentry classes and it was indicated, the school district could purchase the building for $1 if it agreed to pay for materials with which a new structure could be built.

District School Concept

Board members endorsed recent action by the Vocational and Adult School board favoring establishment of vocational school districts on an area rather than county line basis. Kaukauna now joins with Appleton, Kimberly, Neenah and Menasha in favoring the area school concept.

A request from the student council to have seats installed in the high school student commons was held for future study after board members learned the seats would cost in excess of $1,200.

This would involve 48 seats and board members felt the number would be very inadequate resulting in a rush by students to secure seats. Cost was considered excessive. No expenditure for them was included in the proposed budget.

Joseph Schouten was instructed to contact the police department to determine if they could enforce traffic problems on the school parking lot. Board members indicated parking and speeding on the lot could be controlled through police cooperation.

Europe Sees Gloom for 'Great Society'

LONDON (AP) — European commentators today saw a gloomy prospect for President Johnson's "Great Society" in the results of the American elections but no comfort for the Vietnamese Communists.

Communist China and North Viet Nam had no comment. The Viet Cong said before the results were in that the outcome would have no effect on the war. The New York correspondent of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, took the same line today.

The Times of London said U.S. voters "have now called a halt" in Johnson's social program.

West Germany's Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung said the Johnson administration "will now have a more difficult time. It will have to compromise more, if far-reaching plans are not to come to a standstill."

Alcoholism Treatment Study Group Subject

Rev. Maroti, Milwaukee, Gives Answers to 'How,' 'When' Questions

"The only way to start an alcoholic information and referral center in any community is to jump right in and do it."

This was the answer to the questions "how" and "when" asked by a member of a joint Appleton-Neenah-Menasha citizens committee which met at the YMCA at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The Appleton group is an arm of the United Community Services Research and Planning Committee. Neenah-Menasha citizens have formed an independent committee to study local problems of alcoholism.

Guest speakers were the Rev. Arcadius Maroti, executive director of De Paul Rehabilitation Center, Milwaukee, and consultant to Alcoholism Services of the Wisconsin Division of Mental Health, and Frank Coogan, director of the state service.

Professionals Attend

Citizens at the meeting included psychiatrists, physicians, nurses (public and private), clergy, social workers, and representatives from hospitals (county and general), Appleton police department, insurance business and the press.

Father Maroti suggested a start could be made in the important phase of case-finding that an information center would provide, by using a worker and a separate telephone number on a part-time basis in an existing social agency.

He warned the group that the citizens committee, in the meantime, should be working on the total treatment picture. "For instance, an acutely ill alcoholic needs immediate general hospital-type care," he said. "From the general hospital the alcoholic needs after-treatment, with less intensive hospital care, and then in some instances, some time at a halfway house," he explained.

Father Maroti said that De Paul offers all of these services, except the half-way house. He warned that each alcoholic needs medical, psychological, social and vocational evaluation before treatment.

Merton Ehrlicke, city welfare director, told the group his department recently has sent six alcoholics to De Paul for treatment. He said the last man, considered hopeless by his workers for years, went for eight weeks at a cost of $600 to the city. The man is now working, and has paid back every dime, Ehrlicke said. Out of the six, only one has resumed drinking. De Paul includes Alcoholics Anonymous in its treatment program.

Beds Available

County hospital staff told the committees that there could be 12 beds available at the hospital when, and if, the community, including the medical profession, feels that they could use the hospital as a local treatment center.

Coogan and Father Maroti summarized financial aids available to alcoholics through an established community program, including rehabilitation, counselling and some matching financial assistance.

Father Maroti pointed out that most insurance policies now pay for the treatment of the illness of alcoholism.

Original TV Drama to Launch CBS Playhouse

Rehearsals Start Dec. 6 in Hollywood
For Ribman's 'Final War of Olly Winter'

BY JINGO

"The Final War of Olly Winter," a new play by Ronald Ribman, produced by Fred Coe and directed by Paul Bogart, will be the premiere production on "CBS Playhouse," to be broadcast as a prime-time, 90-minute color special in February on CBS-TV.

Jingo

The play, which will be taped at Hollywood, will begin rehearsal Dec. 6; taping will start the last week of this year.

In announcing the scheduling of Ribman's play, CBS-TV President John T. Reynolds said: "We feel that this young playwright's first work for television, an original and meaningful play, dealing with one of the most complex problems confronting Americans today, will provide an auspicious launching for 'CBS Playhouse.'"

Ribman's drama concerns Olly Winter, a Negro master sergeant in the U.S. Army, serving a tour of duty in Viet Nam as an advisor in 1963. The play is a character study of a man, a professional soldier, who after 20 years of service and three wars is tired and wants out.

As noted by Reynolds, "The Final War of Olly Winter" is the 34-year-old Ribman's first play for TV. However, he has written two plays which have been produced off-Broadway at the American Place Theater — "Harry, Noon and Night" in 1965, and "Journey of the Fifth Horse," which won the 1966 Obie Award.

He holds a doctorate in English literature from the University of Pittsburgh and this year was the winner of a Rockefeller Foundation grant in playwrighting.

Coe is one of television's pioneers in the presentation of original drama, having introduced to the medium the works of such writers as Paddy Chevesky, Horton Foote, Tad Mosel and Robert Alan Aurthur.

He was a producer on such series as "Philco Playhouse," "Producers Showcase," "Playwrights '56" and "Playhouse 90." On Broadway, he produced "Two for the Seesaw," "The Miracle Worker" and the Pulitzer Prize-winning "All the Way Home."

Bogart was the director of the CBS-TV presentation of Sir John Gielgud's "Ages of Man," which won the 1965-66 Emmy award as the outstanding single dramatic program of the year.

Starting in television 15 years ago as a stage manager, he became a director a dozen years ago. His credits include "United States Steel Hour," "DuPont Show of the Month," "Armstrong Circle Theater" and "The Defenders."

A new "Dragnet" series, starring Jack Webb as Sgt. Joe Friday, one of the best-known policemen in TV history, will join the NBC schedule Jan. 5. It replaces "The Hero," which at this time of the football season is pre-empted in this area by Packer highlights.

Climactic Surprise on 'Star Trek'

BY TV SCOUT

7:30-8:30 (Channels 4-5) — Star Trek is worth watching for a surprise ending which features one of Hollywood's most unusual pieces of casting. To reveal the actor's name would give away part of the plot, so just watch carefully and see if you can spot why the casting is so unusual. Anyway, the men of the Enterprise are forced to destroy a mysterious cube-like object that is blocking their ship's path when it begins emitting dangerous radiation. Then a huge space ship appears, run by a gruesome giant of a man who announces the imminent destruction of the Enterprise. This forces William Shatner into a gigantic poker bluff.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — Some unscrupulous politicians are out to bilk Boonesborough of its land over some delinquent taxes the residents don't know about. You just know Daniel Boone isn't going to let that happen, if he can help it. On his own, he might succeed in getting to the governor with the tax money. But with a good friend, who is really part of the plot, tagging along, Daniel has all kinds of problems. Cameron Mitchell is good as Boone's troubled "friend."

7:30-8 (Channels 2-7-12) — Nothing new in My Three Sons, but "Fiddler Under the Roof" still manages to be amusing. Little Ernie is upset because he is the only one in the family who can't play an instrument, and so can't join the family orchestra. So Uncle Charlie, who once turned a banana-fingered sailor into the "Jascha Heifetz of the Pacific," decides to teach the boy the violin. The noise is horrible to hear, but there is an eventual triumph for Ernie.

8-8:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — Delightful Marion Lorne lends her pixilated presence to Bewitched in an episode that squarely pins the blame for last year's Great Eastern Blackout on her blundering attempts to get a piano unstuck from a stairway. Whenever the focus is on Miss Lorne, and her warlock suitor Reginald Owen, all is right with this show.

8-10:45 (Channels 2-7-12) — Poor Henry Fonda. Last week he was President of the United States on The Thursday Night Movies, and this week he is a would-be Secretary of State to President Franchot Tone. The film is "Advise and Consent," an absorbing treatment of Allen Drury's Pulitzer Prize-winning book. The cast is excellent, with Charles Laughton stealing the show as an elder statesman Senator. Others in the cast: Lew Ayres, Walter Pidgeon, Don Murray, Gene Tierney, Burgess Meredith, George Grizzard, Paul Ford, Peter Lawford, Eddie Hodges and Inga Swenson. (BLACK AND WHITE)

8:30-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — That Girl has a funny episode with cool, blonde Sally Kellerman offering a nice contrast to Marlo Thomas. The girls play old friends and Marlo doesn't understand the feeling of "happiness with overtones of envy."

Italy's Sophia Loren, star of the 1960s, and Mexican-born Dolores del Rio, right, glamor girl of the 1920s and 1930s in American movies, perform in "C'era Una Volta" ("Happily Ever After") being filmed in Rome. Miss Loren depicts a poor peasant girl who finally marries a prince. Miss del Rio plays the mother of the prince. (AP Wirephoto)

Appleton Asks Stiffer Fines for Vandalism

Would Raise Minimum From $1 to $50;
Subsequent Violations May Cost $200

Perplexed by continuing vandalism, Tuesday recommended a minimum fine for property. Appleton officials violators.

The common council's public safety committee approved an amendment to the existing ordinance which would make the minimum fine for conviction on a vandalism charge $50 for the first offense instead of $1.

A minimum of $100 for each subsequent conviction would also be imposed under terms of the proposed law change. The maximum fine that can be assessed will remain at $200.

Complaints Continue
Aldermen took action in the wake of complaints by residents that street and traffic signs were being defaced, along with paint being strewn on residences and municipal buildings. "We have to do more to protect our citizens and their property," commented Ald. John Ayers (12th), committee chairman, who originally urged stiffer penalties for violators. The recommendation to increase the minimum fine now goes to the board of public works and council for final approval.

Vandals Elusive
In the meantime, police are faced with the task of catching the elusive vandals who have been having a field day in Appleton with their pressurized paint cans. The committee also: —Received and filed a letter from an Appleton resident who recommended combining the police and fire departments. —Heard an alderman report

Flies Over Half of Globe to Cast Vote

HOBBS, N.M. (AP) — A Hobbs resident temporarily living in the Middle East said he traveled 12,000 miles to vote in the 1966 general election.

"I flew 12,000 miles back to Hobbs to cast my vote in one race," said Jess R. Parker, a drilling expert for Continental Oil Co. at Doha, Qatar, on the Persian Gulf.

Appleton Council to Vote Next Week

Cat Ordinance Out of Bag Again

The city's proposed cat ordinance was let out of the bag again Tuesday night. As a result the controversial piece of legislation will be before the common council next Wednesday for a show-down vote.

The council's welfare-ordinance committee, over the objection of Ald. Arthur E. Mueller, voted last night to bring the cat ordinance to the council floor for the umpteenth time.

Ald. John Steidl (18th) asked for the ordinance several weeks ago when many of his constituents filed a petition for same — requiring cats to be licensed and regulated like dogs.

At the last council meeting, the cat proposal was referred back to committee after an alderman questioned by what authority the committee had it prepared by the city attorney.

Mueller moved for denial of the ordinance last night but his motion died, lacking a second.

Thus, the stage has again been set for a finale on the feline fight which most aldermen have suggested they would just as soon dodge — except for Steidl who has indicated his determination to have cats treated like dogs.

Holyoake Won't See Vietnamese Opposed to War

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Prime Minister Keith Holyoake has refused to see a South Vietnamese Buddhist monk who said he opposes American bombing of North Viet Nam and the presence of American troops in the South.

The monk, Thich Nhat Hanh, is director of the school of social studies at the Buddhist Van Hahn University in Saigon. He is on a world tour organized by the International Committee of Conscience on Viet Nam.

Holyoake said in a statement South Viet Nam's United Buddhist Church had disavowed Thich Nhat. To meet with him, Holyoake said, would give the monk's visit official status it had not gained from Buddhist or Vietnamese authorities.

Texas About To Join War On Poverty

Giant State Has Largest Number of Low-Income Families

BY ROBERT HEARD
AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson's home state seems finally about to join his war on poverty. The skirmishing is over, the main battle about to begin.

Texas has more families earning less than $3,000 a year than any other state in the Union. The Texas total is 688,000, New York has 600,000 and California 563,000. Both New York and California have more residents than Texas.

What has Texas done about this Texas-size distinction it would just as soon not have? Relatively little so far, according to the two generals leading the antipoverty army.

One of the generals is Bill Crook, 40, the U.S. Office of Opportunity's director for Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana. His bright blue eyes blaze when he talks about those who oppose his army.

"We've had a few brushes, a few skirmishes, but haven't confronted the enemy yet," Crook said.

"Like some manufacturing processes, you see some by-products of the poverty war before you even begin to see the end product," he added.

"We have towns and cities where people are talking about it now," Crook said. "If this can be encouraged and not stifled—as some would like to stifle it—we are well on our way."

Who wants to stifle it?

"Those who have a vested interest in poverty," he said. "Loan sharks and landlords and merchants in slum areas."

The opposition, Crook said, calls the program "another give-away hoax to get votes, or they say things like we have bad boys at Camp Gary (the San Marcos, Tex., Job Corps center)."

Some Bad Boys

"We've got bad boys in the Job Corps because we've got bad boys in the United States."

"The real question is, are we willing to see the poor with power?" Crook said. "They're beginning to say things and demand things. We shouldn't expect them to be grateful to us. We'll be lucky if they forgive us."

Crook visualized the society of the poor as "disengaged"—not connected to anything. The purpose of the war on poverty, he said, is to link the poor to the rest of society.

The other general for the anti-poverty forces is Walter Richter, 49, former state senator named by Gov. John B. Connally to direct the state's war on poverty office.

Richter also admits there isn't much to show for two years' work and $80 million. A big-boned, square-jawed man with sandy hair and thick fingers, Richter puffs steadily on a pipe as he talks.

Shakedown Period

He calls the last two years "a shakedown period."

"I think you'll see a lot more professionalism in the program from now on," he said.

There is a simple, one-two-three way to look at the war, he said.

"One, there is poverty. Anyone who isn't blind can see this.

"Two, aside from the human misery, which is considerable, poverty is extremely costly. Crime breeds in slum areas, and crime costs this nation $27 billion each year."

Disease spreads from slum areas, and welfare costs millions, he said. People in the slums have little buying power, and this costs businessmen the extra orders they could have, he said.

"Then, can something be done about poverty?" he asks. "We have determined that by training and educating people you can equip them to help themselves."

"I don't believe there is a basis for the argument these people don't want help and won't do anything with it if they get it."

partners. The Christian Democrats have 245 votes in the Bundestag, four short of a majority, while the Socialists have 202 and the Free Democrats, 49.

The West German governmental crisis was two weeks old today. The Free Democrats quit Erhard's cabinet Oct. 27 after refusing to endorse tax increases the chancellor said were needed to balance a 1967 budget weighed with commitments to buy arms in the United States.

Christian Democratic leaders who felt Erhard had proved too indecisive to lead the party seized the opportunity to force him from office. Erhard, abandoned by his party after three years as chancellor and 14 as minister of economics, reluctantly agreed to step down.

of its three gyroscopes was not spinning properly.

So a third autopilot was pressed into service. Initial reports were that it was functioning normally.

Last of Series

Gemini 12 will be the last of the Gemini series, leading to the first earth orbit flight of a three-man Apollo moonship early in 1967.

Lovell and Aldrin plan to wrap up the loose ends of the Gemini program, with a main goal of learning what problems must be overcome before man can effectively operate outside an orbiting ship.

Aldrin is to spend nearly five hours outside the ship — on a two-hour space walk and two "space stands" during which he'll perform photographic and other tasks with the upper half of his body poking through an open hatch.

The flight is to start with a third orbit rendezvous and link-up with the Agena, with the astronauts practicing several maneuvers that Apollo astronauts must make in returning from the moon.

Celler Claims GOP Gains Due to Backlash

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat who is dean of the House of Representatives, says the white backlash was responsible for the election of Republican Ronald Reagan as governor of California and the defeat of Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois.

Celler also said Wednesday that the white backlash is "something we will have to reckon with in this country."

Car Thieves Fail to Faze Sleeping Tot

LONDON (AP) — A thief stole Suzanne Cope's car Wednesday night without realizing that her month-old baby was asleep in a crib behind the driver's seat.

Three hours later, after hundreds of police had been alerted and alarms sounded on television, the car was found abandoned six miles away. Baby Bartholomew was gurgling happily in his sleep.

Last Friday La Follette replied through his lawyer, Gordon Snykin of Madison, that there was no legal basis for Kaiser's claims.

Court-Martial Board Starts Deliberations

TREASURE ISLAND, Calif. (AP) — A court-martial board begins its deliberations today in the case of Navy Capt. Archie Kuntze, charged with a "continuous thread" of misconduct while commanding a supply depot in Saigon.

The board of nine high-ranking Navy officers may find Kuntze, a 24-year officer decorated in three wars, guilty of any or all of 18 charges. Punishment could range from a simple letter of reprimand to dismissal from the service with forfeiture of all pay and allowances.

The prosecutor, Capt. Joseph E. Ross, has charged during the eight-day trial that a woman in Saigon, Jannie Suen, 26, was the boss of Kuntze's misconduct.

Ross says Kuntze lived "openly and notoriously" with Miss Suen in his quarters, imported fabrics to Viet Nam for profit, exchanged Vietnamese money and military script for U.S. dollars for his personal account and used government transportation for personal convenience.

Kuntze's lawyer, Lt. Cdr. Thomas Flynn, said in closing arguments Wednesday that the Navy's accusations are false — based on a "rambling and disconnected" interrogation of Kuntze by Navy investigators last March.

Kuntze handled a $60-million supply program in Saigon until last May when the Army took it over.

Italy Steps Up Efforts To Help Flooded Areas

Florence Still Virtually Paralyzed as Workers Dig Into Debris, Muddy Streets

ROME (AP) — Spurred by criticism and appeals, the Italian nation stepped up emergency efforts today to help the country's flood zones.

President Giuseppe Saragat called on all Italians to join in a "pact of brotherhood which, within the limits of human efforts, will overcome the anguish, suffering, pain and needs" of victims in the disaster areas of northern and central Italy.

Labor unions called on their members to contribute up to a day's pay for flood relief. The government, accused by Communists and the deputy mayor of Florence of moving too slowly, ordered round-the-clock truck convoys to carry food, medicine and supplies to Florence.

In Florence, art treasure city of 450,000, the rehabilitation efforts seven days after the Arno River overflowed, were making only crawling progress in the face of the vast damage and disruption.

Rotting debris, human waste from wrecked sewers and decaying bodies of rodents in swamped cellars created a choking stench. Residents and emergency forces were working in streets slimy with mud.

Some electricity had been restored and communications with the outside were workable. But in nearly every other respect Florence was still a paralyzed city.

Dr. Ugo Procacci, superintendent of the city's galleries, estimated that 1,300 art masterpieces had been damaged. "We calculate that to restore everything will take at least 20 years," he said.

Viet Cong Use Gas In Attack on U.S.

mied this, and cited field practices as humane.

The first American supplies went to South Viet Nam's armed forces. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara explained they were the same "riot control agents" that police forces use to quell civil disturbances. Citing an instance where gas was used against Viet Cong who took refuge among noncombatant villagers, he said the aim was to save life.

In the initial global repercussions, Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied that the United States was waging gas warfare in Viet Nam. He said non-killing tear and nausea gases would continue to be used as needed to save innocent lives.

The U. S. command announced that 127 Americans were killed last week, 605 were wounded and eight were missing or captured. The week before 66 Americans were killed and 493 were wounded, according to revised figures issued today.

Casualties Reduced

Both South Vietnamese government and enemy casualties were reduced, but the enemy dead did not include the toll in the most recent fighting in Tay Ninh.

At Cam Ranh Bay, across from the huge American air and supply base President Johnson visited last month, an old French wharf collapsed early today, killing possibly 20 Vietnamese and injuring about 100, a U. S. spokesman reported.

The wharf was crowded with Vietnamese workers awaiting transportation to the U. S. base. Some were crushed by the collapsing piles, while others were drowned, the spokesman said.

Elsewhere in Viet Nam, U. S. Marines launched Operation Pawnee north of Da Nang, and units from two U. S. infantry divisions continued searching for remnants of the Viet Cong division that was hammered and scattered in Tay Ninh northwest of Saigon.

100 Missions

Bad weather prevented U. S. air strikes against targets in North Viet Nam's Red River delta, but 100 missions of Air Force and Navy planes smashed at staging and storage areas down the southern panhandle.

Korean troops announced they had ended Operation Fierce Tiger after killing 1,161 of the enemy.

The casualties last week brought the total of Americans reported killed in combat to 5,823 since the war began and the wounded to 22,544.

The U. S. command reported 893 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 199 captured last week, compared with 317 killed and 209 captured the week before. The Vietnamese command, whose figures often differ from the Americans', reported 752 enemy killed last week and 209 captured.

Exceed Vietnamese

Vietnamese spokesmen said 113 government troops were killed last week and 11 were missing. It was the sixth time this year that American dead exceeded those of the South Vietnamese, who no longer report the number of their wounded.

U. S. casualties in the Tay Ninh fighting have been reported light over-all, but some units were hit hard in the early stages of the battle last week. Troops of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade and the 1st and 25th Infantry Divisions are taking part in the operation.

U. S. spokesmen have reported more than 800 enemy troops killed in Tay Ninh, but many of these were reported this week and were not included in the casualty total announced today.

No Americans were killed or wounded in the Cam Ranh Bay disaster, a U. S. spokesman reported. However, American military personnel were quickly on the scene from the base a mile across the bay, diving for bodies, administering artificial respiration and moving the injured to hospitals.

Gathering Point

The wharf was about 100 feet long and was the gathering point for Vietnamese workers employed at the Cam Ranh Bay base. From the wharf they rode ferries across the bay.

As many as 1,000 Vietnamese gathered on the wharf at a time, the U. S. spokesman said. Many women were among those on the pier when it collapsed, plunging the crowd into the deep waters of the bay.

The spokesman reported that three bodies had been recovered by early afternoon and another 15 to 20 could be seen on the bottom of the bay.

The spokesman said the wooden wharf was built years ago by the French and was "in a poor state of repair." He added that its upkeep was the responsibility of the Vietnamese authorities, not the Americans.

In the air war, Air Force pilots struck 18 military supply areas along the North Vietnamese panhandle Wednesday, destroying 20 buildings, damaging 29 others and setting off 10 secondary explosions, probably of ammunition dumps, a spokesman said.

U. S. Navy pilots flew 42 missions against the panhandle, launching from the carriers Coral Sea, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Constellation, and flying through light to heavy ground fire.

Governor Might Become GOP Presidential Nominee

25 States Now With Republican
Chiefs Include 5 Most Populous

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican governors have moved into prime position to pick the party's 1968 presidential nominee after their smashing victories.

Prospects brightened, too, that the nominee will emerge from their ranks.

The GOP governors climbed into the catbird's seat by winning in 25 states in Tuesday's elections. These have an electoral total of 290, more than enough to elect a president. And among the 25 are five of the nation's most populous: California, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

By winning big in Michigan, Gov. George Romney moved into the first rank in the nomination sweepstakes. And by taking California from veteran Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown, newcomer Ronald Reagan all at once became a man to reckon with in party circles.

Greater Voice

Two other winning Republican governors, Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and James A. Rhodes of Ohio, also are likely to have a greater voice at the GOP convention in 1968.

Rockefeller has ruled himself out of another try at the presidential nomination, but political observers are wondering if he isn't open to persuasion in the wake of his big comeback victory.

Rhodes has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential candidate and there is no reason to believe he would mind going after the top prize.

When the election day dust had settled, the Republicans had taken over 10 states held by Democratic governors and lost two that were in GOP hands.

Swinging into the Republican ranks were Alaska, Arizona, Arkansas, California, Florida, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, Nevada and New Mexico. Lost to the Democrats were Kansas and Maine.

Georgia is still an unknown quantity.

Democrat Lester G. Maddox held a narrow lead over Republican Howard H. Callaway, but neither may obtain the required majority because of write-in votes for former Gov. Ellis G. Arnall.

The state constitution prescribes that the state legislature pick the winner in races where no candidate has a majority. The American Civil Liberties is challenging the procedure in federal court and Gov. Carl E. Sanders says he will hold onto the reins until his successor has been sworn.

Except for Georgia, the Alaska race was the last to be decided. Anchorage hotelman Walter J. Hickel, a Republican newcomer, came from behind to topple Democratic Gov. William A. Egan.

Small Rocket Burst Planned To Set Orbiter

Picture-Taking Spacecraft Will Feel Moon's Gravity

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists say the 10-minute burn of a small rocket is all they need today to lock America's Lunar Orbiter 2 spacecraft in the grasp of the moon's gravity.

The 100-pound-thrust rocket's short snort was set for 3:30 p.m. EST. when the 850-pound photographic package passes close to the moon, scientists said.

Controllers operating at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said the craft would be turned around to face its rocket in the direction of flight.

"At that time the velocity control engine on the craft will be turned on for 10 minutes," spokesmen said. "The rocket acts as a brake, slowing orbiter to allow it to be trapped in the moon's gravity."

But it's a delicate maneuver, they added, because too much boost could drop it onto the moon and not enough could let it sail past, on the wrong orbit.

Once in proper orbit around the moon, Lunar Orbiter's dual-lens camera system is programmed to photograph 13 potential landing sites for astronauts.

The photographs are meant to show details of the areas, revealing objects down to about the size of a card table.

The mutual orbit around the moon is scheduled to range from 125 miles to 1,150 miles above the surface, scientists said.

Present Draft System Unsuitable,
Secretary Admits

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara says a national lottery would help eliminate deficiencies of the present draft system.

In an interview published in the Harvard Crimson Wednesday, McNamara called the current draft methods unsuitable.

"We draft the oldest first," he said. "It's never clear exactly at what age one will be subject to the draft. This makes very difficult the planning of one's life."

McNamara said every 19-year-old should be subjected to the lottery. At age 19, a young man's name would be drawn from a pool. In case of deferment, McNamara said, his name would go back in the pool at the end of the deferred period.

With a lottery, he said, "every man would know precisely where he stood."

McNamara made the remarks in a weekend interview while visiting Harvard University's John Fitzgerald Kennedy Institute of Politics for a series of informal seminars.

Defense Starts In Retrial of Sheppard

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard's defense begins today to offer evidence opposing the state's claim that the former osteopath killed his first wife, Marilyn, in their Bay Village home in 1954.

The state rested its case Wednesday after the jury of seven men and five women heard 14 witnesses in nine days of testimony. Thirty state witnesses were called in Sheppard's first trial 12 years ago.

Sheppard, 42, was freed on bond in 1964 by a U.S. District Court ruling after he served nine years in prison for the slaying. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered a retrial last spring. Sheppard was charged with first-degree murder but was convicted Dec. 21, 1954, of second-degree murder, the charge for which he is being retried.

Witnesses expected to be called by Sheppard's chief counsel, F. Lee Bailey, include Dr. Stephen A. Sheppard, the defendant's brother, and Dr. Paul Leland Kirk, professor of criminalistics and biochemistry at the University of California at Berkeley.

Kirk examined the bedroom in which Marilyn Sheppard was bludgeoned to death July 4, 1954.

Bailey said in his opening statement that he would show that the person who killed Marilyn held the murder weapon — which never was produced — in the left hand and had the strength of a woman.

Conservatives Again Dominate

Southern Democrat-Republican Union to Challenge Great Society

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retaliation of the Republican-Southern Democratic coalition to a dominant position in the House means that the Democratic leadership will have its hands full winning financing for existing "Great Society" programs, let alone starting any new ones.

This became clear today as Republican leaders studied the addition of 47 new members to GOP House forces. Late returns from Tuesday's elections left the Democrats' numerical majority at 248 to 187, compared with 295 to 140 in the 89th Congress.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan set the Republican keynote with a prediction that the 90th Congress would see "more prudent and frugal use of the taxpayers' money because of the increase in Republican members."

While GOP sources pointed out that Ford has made it clear he will not go out of his way to court Southern Democrats, their natural instincts undoubtedly will throw them together as in the past on crucial House votes.

And a spate of Republican victories over moderate Southern Democrats, such as Reps. James A. Mackay of Georgia, George W. Grider of Tennessee and James W. Trimble of Arkansas, left virtually all Southern seats in the hands of opponents of the administration's domestic program.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The Clark County sheriff's office has closed its investigation of comedian Jackie Mason's report that someone tried to kill him by firing three pistol shots into the bed in his hotel room.

Accounts of witnesses were contradictory, a spokesman said Wednesday, and no basis was found for Mason's allegation that someone tried to kill him last weekend.

Smashing Romney Victory Stirs Up Sentiment for Draft

Michigan Helps Presidential Bid

DETROIT (AP) — They're unpacking the leftover presidential campaign literature, buttons and bumper stickers and bringing a presidential draft machine out of mothballs for Republican Gov. George Romney.

Romney is the man who: Won a third term as Michigan governor with the largest plurality in state history, despite the fact that Tuesday's was an off-year election. Helped U.S. Sen. Robert P. Griffin defeat former six-term Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams, who had the blessing of the Kennedys and the heavy backing of labor in this labor-heavy state.

Helped reverse the political makeup of the Michigan congressional delegation from 12-7 Democratic to 12-7 Republican.

Johnson Tide
Rolled back the 1964 Johnson tide which had given Democrats control of the Michigan legislature for the first time in 30 years.

While Romney was accepting victory in Detroit Tuesday night, a Romney-for-president drive was revived in Dallas, Tex.

Sparkplug of the movement is George A. Zimmermann, president of a similar group that spread to 20 states before it was rebuffed by Romney in 1964.

Zimmermann, 41, vice president of a manufacturing firm, said in a telephone interview Wednesday. "We have been contacting and reactivating our state groups for the past few months."

Bliss Contacted
"I have contacted Ray Bliss, Republican national chairman, and Republican state chairman in all 50 states," he said.

Zimmermann, who has never been in direct contact with Romney, said he also is trying to get in touch with someone close to the Michigan governor.

Forward-looking bumper stickers and placards blossomed forth at Romney's election headquarters late Tuesday.

Romney and his staff disclaimed all knowledge of them, but reporters noted that the demonstration was carefully coordinated and the placards were of a uniform, professional quality.

At his first post-election news conference, Romney's displayed only slightly more willingness than has shown in the past to discuss the presidential question.

Airlines Agree On Liquor Limit For Passengers

NEW YORK (AP) — After more than six months of discussions aimed at uniformity, seven major airlines have agreed on a code limiting domestic passengers to no more than 48 ounces of distilled liquor while in flight.

The agreement, expected to set the pattern for in-flight drinking throughout the United States, is to be filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

It was signed Wednesday by American, Braniff International, Central, Continental, Delta, Northeast and Southern Airways. Other carriers are expected to sign, industry spokesmen said.

The airlines also decided on a charge of at least $1 for each miniature bottle of 1.6 ounces or its equivalent in all classes except first class where the higher fare covers the drink cost.

Woman Steps Into Car's Path At Winnebago

Resident at County Hospital Dies of Injuries

OSHKOSH — A 41-year-old woman who had lived at Winnebago County hospital for many years stepped out in front of a car near the hospital Wednesday afternoon and was killed.

Miss Margaret Lampke was struck about 3:45 p.m. by a car driven by Sandra A. Gauger, 22, of 118A W. 18th Ave. She died about an hour later at Mercy Hospital.

County Coroner Arthur C. Miller said the cause of death was a skull fracture. Her death was the 28th fatality in Winnebago County this year.

Miss Gauger told Winnebago County police that she was driving south along County Trunk A and slowed to about 30 miles an hour as she approached Butler Street and saw two women standing on the east side of the road.

She said the women crossed the northbound lane of County Trunk A and paused as her car neared them. Then Margaret Lampke "all of a sudden" ran in front of the car, Miss Gauger said. There are no traffic controls at the intersection.

Miller said the women had crossed the road to visit a nearby grocery store and were returning to the hospital.

Winnebago County hospital officials said their records showed no home address and no known relatives. They said Miss Lampke was not a native of Winnebago County. A search for relatives has been started.

N. Badger Ave., on July 16 and July 17, respectively.

Huspek, who was found indigent when he was arraigned on the Moose Club burglary, was declared indigent again Wednesday and continued to have the services of a court-appointed attorney, J. Joseph Cummings.

He was bound over to Circuit Court on the Moose Club charge, following a preliminary hearing in County Court Branch 2 Nov. 1.

Brown County charges are Schroeder's Skelly Station, Wrightstown, July 31; Dan's Mobil Station, Wrightstown, July 31; Club 18, DePere, Aug. 15; The Stardust, Village of Howard, Aug. 15; United Rent-All, Green Bay, July 31; Fox Valley Realty, Green Bay, July 31; Mayhugh Insurance Agency, Green Bay, July 31; Econo-Care Cleaning Center, Green Bay, July 31; George's Sinclair Station, Green Bay, July 31; Cliff's Instant Car Wash, Green Bay, July 31.

Huspek is also charged with burglarizing Wisconsin Lube and Oil Co. Menasha, July 17; Valley Recharging, Town of Menasha, Aug. 1; and the American Legion Club, Aug. 13.

A Town of Mishicot garage in Manitowoc County and a bowling alley in Sherwood Calumet County complete the consolidated list of charges.

Another Appleton youth, Warren (Pepper) Schroeder, 19, 209 W. Pacific St., earlier pleaded guilty of burglarizing all five of the places for which Huspek is charged.

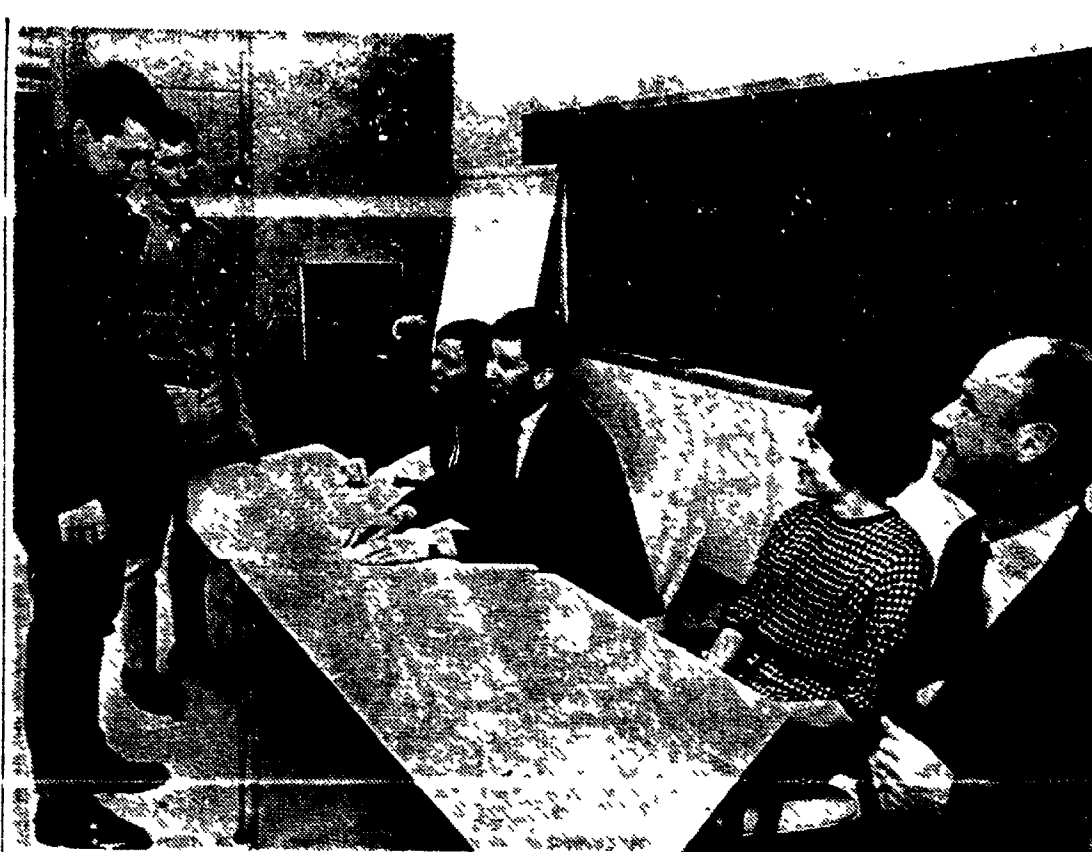

Friday Student Recital Cancelled at Lawrence

A student recital announced for 2:30 p.m. Friday, at Lawrence University, has been cancelled.

Next program in the student music series will be given by juniors Michael Fisher and John Schulenberg, organist and trombonist. Their performance is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Nov. 18, in Memorial Chapel.

Correction

A local woman who has applied for a bartender's license was listed as a waitress in her future place of employment as mentioned in Retson's — not Reetz's Supper Club — as reported Wednesday.

Offers Centralized Accounting System

Supervisors Surprised at Cost Of Computer Bookkeeping Unit

Judging from the low whistles from the board floor, Outagamie County supervisors were somewhat surprised by the cost of a proposed electronic computer bookkeeping machine which would give the county a centralized accounting system.

Questions regarding purchase of the $30,000 machine arose during examination of the proposed $6.4 million budget. Action on the budget is expected late today or Friday morning. Alvin E. Woehler, county executive secretary, one of the proponents of the new machine, answered most of the questions from supervisors.

Woehler said the computing unit would allow for more efficient accounting and would affect payroll work, especially for county institutions and the highway department.

Outagamie would be the first county in the state to have such equipment. Woehler told Appleton Supv. Arnold Welch, that other counties have expressed interest in such a unit and are awaiting Outagamie County's action.

The present equipment is obsolete, Woehler said. Kaukauna Supv. Russell DeLaHunt said county officials were told that a machine purchased seven years ago could be used "for many years to come."

The new electronic computer would go into the county clerk's office where the present accounting machinery is located.

100 Students Learn About University

More than 100 high school students and their parents attended the University of Wisconsin Preview Tuesday night at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center under the sponsorship of the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Alumni Association.

Jack Kellevisg, director of high school relations and Betty Peters, of the residence hall staff, both from Madison, led a general discussion with the help of Madison students, Lynn Dickinson and Jay Kellett.

Following the general meeting those in attendance divided into groups interested in the Madison campus and those who wanted to ask questions about education at the center.

The Madison foursome led the University of Wisconsin panel, and four students from the center answered questions about their campus. Panel sophomores were Bruce Witter and Carl Klitzke, Appleton. Freshmen were Allyn Briske, Menasha, and Joe Liegl, Appleton.

John Kellogg, Appleton attorney, was in charge of the annual program for the alumni group.

Nicholas A. Griesbach Dies; Owned, Built Up Gillett Highlands Area

Nicholas A. Griesbach, 84, 1424 W. Wisconsin Ave., owner and developer of the Gillett Highlands subdivision where ground was broken Wednesday for Appleton's newest elementary school, died at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday. He was born June 16, 1882 in the Town of Center and had lived in Appleton most of his life.

Survivors are two daughters, five sons, 23 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Pius Catholic Church. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home after 2 p.m. today.

Highway Budget Row Ends Outagamie Board Session

Omission of E. College Avenue Project Is Bone of Contention

An abrupt adjournment Wednesday afternoon ended what had turned into a heated debate during review of a proposed $2 million Outagamie County highway budget.

Review of the 1967 highway budget, scheduled as a special order of business for Wednesday afternoon to allow for possible county board adjournment today, was not completed as a result of the lengthy debate.

The review was finished late this morning and the highway budget will be submitted for approval with the overall $6.4 million budget.

Rural Shiocton Supv. Ervin Conradt, chairman of the county highway committee, brought an untimely end to his review of the budget, walked to his chair, and shouted, "If you people think you can do a better job of operating the highway department, go ahead." He sat down and a motion was made to adjourn during a round of applause.

The debate was actually two-fold and started about halfway through the budget review when Conradt was asked why there was not a 1967 appropriation for construction work on the E. College Avenue extension, first leg of the proposed tri-county expressway.

Conradt said that much of the blame for the delay should fall on Appleton which he said has held up approval of the moving of federal aid from the old Outagamie County Trunk Z to the new highway. He said the step is necessary before federal aid is available.

"We've bent over backward to get an answer from Appleton," Conradt explained. The highway committee chairman said problems in acquiring right-of-way also caused the delay in construction. About 75 per cent of the right-of-way has been purchased. The proposed four-lane road would be from Appleton to State 55 near Kaukauna.

Conradt came under heavy fire for the construction delay.

Supv. Joseph DeBruin of rural Kaukauna said the first plans for the extension were made in 1959, and three years ago $50,000 was appropriated to purchase the right-of-way.

"There's no sense in holding this up another year," DeBruin said. He proposed putting money into the 1967 highway budget in case an agreement is worked out soon with Appleton. The money could revert to the general fund if it is not used, DeBruin explained.

Cost Rise

County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson said some of the money designated earlier for E. College Avenue extension work will have to be used to complete right-of-way purchase for the proposed road. He said estimated costs of the highway have risen, due in part to a change in specifications.

DeBruin expressed concern over a $173,000 budget appropriation for work on the W. College Avenue extension from U.S. 41 to the Two Mile Road, and a $200,000 appropriation (will matching federal aid) for improvement of County Trunk M from MM to State 54, including a new bridge over the Wolf River.

DeBruin contended that the E. College Avenue job is more important. Appleton Supv. Kurt Koletzke suggested slashing $173,000 for the W. College Avenue extension from the budget.

Conradt termed the County Trunk M job "an emergency," mainly because the bridge is in poor condition. That job was intended as a replacement for the E. College Avenue project in 1967.

Conradt predicted work on E. College Avenue will start in 1968, adding, "I can say that with all sincerity."

Board Chairman Sylvester Eiler referred to the highway committee a letter from the Kaukauna Common Council encouraging the highway committee "to put funds in the budget whenever feasible for construction of College Avenue Extension to State 55 in the City of Kaukauna."

The debate switched to the highway department getting out of the road construction business when Appleton Supv. Eugene Kloes suggested the W. College Avenue two mile extension job be let out on bids.

Brownson maintained that if the county gives up road construction, "it might as well get out of everything," including snow plowing.

Considered Coverup Kloes said contractors could be hired to plow snow. He accused Brownson of "using the snow removal argument" as a "coverup for wanting to stay in the road construction business."

The Appleton supervisor contended road construction work could be done cheaper by private firms.

Kloes asked Brownson how highway department operations would be affected if the staff were cut in half.

Brownson said there would be trouble keeping good help. "A good equipment operator isn't going to want to cut weeds in the summer," Brownson explained.

Signature Of Dior Bold, Clear

BY JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

NEW YORK (AP) — If the girl takes off her skirt before trying to negotiate a revolving door, you can be sure she's wearing a Christian Dior.

This is nothing to be alarmed about, as the audience can vouch who watched the fast-paced spring collection opening of the New York house Wednesday.

Under the skirt made of catchable flying panels is still another, a slim sheath of the same fabric.

When women's clothes cost so much — a dazzling rhinestone cocktail dress equals the price of a small boat or a large car, for example — they aren't worth their status price unless they are immediately recognized.

Not Static
Thus, so you will know the score, here are the signs of designs, circa spring '66, by Gaston Berthelot of Dior:

The dress has movable parts. Besides panels that fly on skirt suits and dresses, tiers of stiff ruffles bounce on edges of party dresses, and puffs of ostrich feathers flutter about the face and arms. Diaphanous capes and stoles float.

On one exotic red chiffon ballgown, the wrist-length sleeves fail to stop at the shoulder, instead they wind around the head. Short sleeves are masses of fake flowers, butterflies, or ruffles. Sometimes one arm wears a long sleeve, the other arm is bare.

Two Extremes
Dresses for evening are frilly or silly, or elegantly simple columns of crepe.

For day the way to tell a Dior is by its cut — narrow at the shoulder, cinched at the waist, and flared a bit at the hip; or by its mannish tailoring.

The Dior color for spring is navy, by itself or with white, or shades of purple, or trimmed with more blue.

Dior hats are casual vinyl scarves that button under the chin; or leather bullets with doodads dangling at the ears; or sombreros with seashell earmuffs.

Dior hemlines, which have had more ups and downs than most, are knee-modest for day and inches higher for evening, worn with white stockings and silver shoes.

College Student's Friends Help Her Conquer Weighty Problem

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 21 years old, a college senior. Six years ago I was about ten pounds overweight and slightly dumpy looking. My family and friends began to "joke" about my fat but it was no joke to me. The more they "joked" the unhappier I became — and the more I ate. I was determined to show them they couldn't run my life and that I would do precisely as I pleased.

Last year I had to face the fact that I was 82 pounds overweight. I tried doctors, pills, diets and shots, but nothing worked. I cheated, lied, sneaked food and continued to put on a pound or two every week.

When I enrolled in a college 2,000 miles from home I was 90 pounds overweight. But in my new circles of friends nobody mentioned my size. They talked about my ideas, my willingness to cooperate on worthwhile projects, my leadership ability and my terrific sense of humor.

My weight is down fifty pounds. I have another forty to lose and you can bet your bottom dollar I'll lose it. Why? Because now I like myself. And my friends turned the miracle. — Rochester, N.Y.

Dear N.Y.: What a wonderful letter! And what a glorious tribute to your wise friends. You have told of a magnificent victory and I am delighted to be able to share it with millions.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell me what to do about a husband who breaks things in anger. Never his things, mind you. Only my things. Immediately after he destroyed my best hand mirror (a gift from my mother) he ripped up a book I was reading and screamed "There — I hope you are satisfied. You've been asking for this all day."

I am sick and tired of being blamed for this lunatic's destructiveness. He has been behaving this way ever since we were married (10 years ago). Our children don't understand their father's violent outbursts and they become frightened when he goes on these wild rampages.

What is wrong with him and what can I do about it? — Hutchinson Heartache

Dear Hutch: A California psychiatrist wrote a book called "Games People Play."

Your husband is playing a game called "See What You Made Me Do?"

"See What You Made Me Do" is played by an individual who is mad at himself. He yearns for an excuse to be mad at someone else. So he behaves in an outrageous manner and blames the first person who walks through the door.

The only known cure for such childishness is to grow up.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 19-year-old receptionist in a physician's office. I love my work and don't want to give it up. Here is the problem:

The nurse in charge here is an old maid who is still wearing her dresses four inches below the knee. I happen to be a person who likes high style. Everyone knows short skirts are in. I shortened my uniforms and they are now three inches above the knee. The old crow told me today my uniforms are not acceptable in the office and that I must let the hems down to where they were.

Should I have it out with her in front of the boss? — With It

Dear With: A skirt that hits three inches above the knee is not appropriate dress for a receptionist in a physician's office. Conform or leave.

When necking becomes petting, watch out! To learn how the smart girl keeps both her dignity and her boy friend, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 25 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Fair Association's Budget Bid Challenged by Board

Hoolihan Claims Officers Are Receiving 'Exorbitant' Salary

The Outagamie County Board this morning spent 1½ hours discussing an $11,500 budget request from the County Fair Association for exhibitor premiums and roof repair at the fairgrounds.

Supervisors took issue with association president Michael Burns, a Seymour attorney who presented the request, on points including prices paid grandstand performers, so-called "exorbitant salaries" paid association officials and the legality of contributing funds for use at the fairgrounds which is owned by a private organization.

As the morning session of the third day of county budget hearings drew to a close, A. W. Ponath, corporation counsel, was asked to advise supervisors on the budget request. Ponath said, "The county is a partner and this money is to protect its own interests."

Outagamie County has a 35 per cent equity in fairgrounds land and buildings according to an agreement of previous years, one supervisor revealed after the lengthy debate.

The association requested $9,000 for operational aid for exhibitors premiums. More than $7,000 of the air is to pay actual premium costs. The remainder would be used for operation of the fund, Burns said.

Also requested is $2,500 this year for repairs to four building roofs at the grounds. Burns said the repairs are "urgently needed" for one exhibition building, two cattle barns and the show ring. The roofs are more than 20 years old.

Burns said the association has estimated $7,500 will be needed to completely repair the roofs and the money will be phased over a three-year period.

Seeks Reasons

Supv. Art Hoolihan asked Burns, "What duties of fair association officers cause payment of such exorbitant salaries?"

"Don't you think you could contribute some of your time if you enjoy it as much as you say you do?" Hoolihan asked. Burns said some of his time and the time put in by other association members was "contributed" and "I wouldn't be doing it unless I enjoyed it."

BEAR CREEK — A dance sponsored by the National Farmers Organization is scheduled at the Legion Hall at Shiocton Friday evening. Proceeds from the dance will be used to purchase cheese for servicemen in Viet Nam.

Burns, as president of the association, receives an annual salary of $1,500 for his efforts. The secretary and assistant secretary each receive $1,200. Five trustees and the vice president are paid $250 a year.

After the exchange over salaries, Supv. Eugene Kloes said to Burns, "There are some times I'd just like to get up and apologize for being a member of the county board."

No action was taken on the budget request but the morning session ended with an apparently favorable attitude of supervisors toward the 1967 proposal.

His opponent, Dr. Marvin Kagen of Appleton, thanked

Five Accidents Caused by Ice In New London

One Woman Injured As Cars Skid on Slippery Bridges

NEW LONDON — One woman was injured seriously in one of five accidents Wednesday due to ice conditions on Waupaca County bridges, according to Police Captain John Penney. Three of the accidents were in the New London area.

Barbara A. Caskey, 28, 1104 Oshkosh St., received a cerebral concussion and other injuries as the result of a two-car collision at 7:50 a.m. Wednesday on the Northport bridge on Waupaca County X. Her condition at Community Hospital was reported as "fair."

Waupaca County police said the Caskey car was traveling west on County X and went out of control when it skidded on ice on the bridge. The car collided head-on with an eastbound car driven by Marilyn R. Adams, 27, route 3, county police said.

Damage Cars

Damage to the 1965 model Adams' car was estimated at $1,500 and the foreign compact car driven by Mrs. Caskey was listed by county police as a total loss.

One vehicle was involved in two accidents early Wednesday because of a heavy ice coating on the Ostrander bridge on County X.

County police said a car driven by Mildred M. Gallow, 49, route 1, Weyauwega, skidded on the ice and ran off the road.

Migrant Placed On Probation For Knifing

Manuel Sanchez Admits Slashing Three Bar Patrons

A 25-year-old Mathis, Tex., migrant laborer was placed on probation for one year Wednesday morning after he pleaded guilty of causing bodily harm though negligent use of a knife.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller withheld sentencing Manuel G. Sanchez, arrested following investigation by Appleton police into a fight Oct. 22 at Shine's Super Bar in downtown Appleton.

Three men received knife wounds in the 1 a.m. brawl. Police said Sanchez, who worked in the area, wielded the knife.

Sanchez appeared in court this morning with his appointed attorney who asked for probation so the man can work in Milwaukee. Sanchez has a wife and child.

Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer said that in view of the circumstances surrounding the incident, he recommended probation be granted. An official of the Stokely Van Camp Co. of Appleton told the court that Sanchez had been a good employee.

A preliminary hearing for Sanchez was held Nov. 6. Two other men involved in the tavern fight have pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct.

CLINTONVILLE — The school board Tuesday night accepted an invitation to inspect the Bear Creek School system today while classes are in session.

Offer Cash, Immunity

Fremont Bait Killer Of Deer With Reward

FREMONT — In an attempt to learn who killed "Richard," the pet deer at the Fremont Park game pen, Oct. 16, an offer now has been made that if one of the persons involved provides information leading to the arrest and conviction of the others, he will be given immunity from arrest and his name will not be revealed.

The offer was made Wednesday by Conservation Warden Lawrence McKeveit, who is leading the investigation.

The reward, which is now nearing the $400 mark, will also be given to the informer, McKeveit said.

The 110-pound buck was shot with a bow and arrow, field dressed inside the pen at the park and then lifted over a seven-foot-high fence, which leads authorities to believe that more than one person was involved.

The most recent addition to the reward fund was made Saturday when members of Boy Scout Troop 34 conducted a car wash and collected $43. Other contributions to the reward fund include one from the Fremont Association of Commerce for $125, another from the Wisconsin Bow Hunters Association for $100 and several from Fremont businessmen.

Schedule 5 Meetings In District

MANAWA — An all-out drive to create a favorable image of the proposed Little Wolf High School will be made in a series of district meetings prior to the vote on the issue at a Dec. 6 referendum.

The meetings, planned in various locations throughout the school district, will be conducted by the Citizens Committee for Better Education, according to David Lindsay, chairman.

The sessions are planned in different locations to make it as easy as possible for district residents to attend. If a person is unable to attend in his area he is urged to attend any of the other meetings, Lindsay said.

Show Movie

The program will feature a movie comparing the Little Wolf High School to others recently toured by the committee. Need for a new high school, physical and academic advantages of a new building, the cost, and method of financing, will be discussed at each session.

Information will be presented by Lindsay, Gilbert Wandtke, Mrs. Leo Ferg, David Sexton, Robert O'Brien and Dr. Elvin Prather.

All meetings are scheduled for 8 p.m. Dates and places are Royalton School, Nov. 15; Ogdensburg School, Nov. 17; Symco School, Nov. 21 and Manawa High School Nov. 30.

Information also will be presented at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Nov. 28.

Includes Pool

The proposed new high school would include nine general classrooms, a language laboratory, science-biology laboratory, chemistry, physics, home economics, commercial, arts and crafts, industrial arts and agricultural departments. Also included in the plans are a band room, stage, library, multi-educational room and cafeteria with a seating capacity for 400 students, gymnasium, and indoor swimming pool.

There would be immediate accommodation for 425 students and with minor arrangements the total could be raised to 500. With the addition of 10 rooms the student population could be expanded to 700.

Plans call for a parking area to accommodate 300 cars.

Secretary Elected By Woman's Club

CLINTONVILLE — Mrs. Donald Pringnitz was elected the new secretary and publicity chairman of the Clintonville Junior Woman's Club at a meeting Monday.

The lobby will be open until 5 p.m. Out-going mail will be dispatched as usual, according to Mrs. Bernice Bechard, postmaster.

Cities Borrow More Funds in Aid to Industry

Investment Bankers
Consider Use of Bonds Unethical

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Use of industrial development bonds is soaring, even though many investment bankers consider their use unethical.

Industrial development bonds use the low-cost borrowing advantages of city government to finance private factories. They have been very successful in improving the living conditions in poor towns, particularly in the South.

Opponents, such as the Investment Bankers Association, say this use of public funds for a private purpose is a misuse, that it lessens a city's ability to borrow for new schools and sewers and water systems.

Proponents say the argument is really sociological rather than financial. They question the statement that industrial aid bonds are a misuse. A town has the right to create jobs by financing a factory, they say.

Sociological Argument
The strength behind any defense of these bonds is a mixture of good business, politics, humanitarianism and profit.

Some of the bonds are backed by the entire credit rating of a town. That is, the town pledges to repay the money it borrows through its taxing power, even though it has no assurance the company it finances will succeed.

More often, the bonds are revenue bonds. In such a case the factory signs a contract to repay interest and principal from its revenues in an amount sufficient to retire the bonds. If it doesn't pay, it is evicted.

Large Backlog
In 1950, only $7 million in municipal industrial development bonds were issued. By 1960 the total was $40 million. And in the first nine months this year the amount rose to $439 million. The backlog for the year is as large.

Some 32 states now have passed laws — "enabling legislation" — permitting the use of industrial aid bonds. Some of these states, of course, are not industrially deprived. Instead, they are disturbed at having lost industry to other states.

If every state eventually permits such bonds, their use as an incentive might be diminished. The real loser, however, would be the tax collector.

Since the industrial bonds cannot be taxed by the federal government, the Treasury Department and the Internal Revenue Service are becoming more and more concerned.

Open Back Door
"Uncle Sam allows the back door to stand wide open while he carefully guards the front," said Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., a member of the House Banking and Currency subcommittee.

"A certain winner," he said, "will be the corporation who uses the subsidized, bond-financed facilities. A sure loser will be the U.S. Treasury."

Reuss' statements were made to a meeting of the American Bankers Association, the chief opponent of this type of financing. And the ABA right now is encouraging legislation to end some of the advantages.

The big problem is how to challenge state laws that are completely legal, especially when the defense is strong politically.

The present plan avoids any challenge. Instead it seeks to make the bonds uneconomic.

Avoids Challenge
Backed by the ABA, the next move against tax-exempt industrial bonds may be to rescind the federal tax advantages. This would be accomplished by denying companies the right to deduct as operating expenses their lease payments to the municipality. The state law would not be challenged.

The defense will be strong. Numerous Southern towns provide evidence of the positive value of these bonds. Residents of such towns argue that all they're guilty of is the use of good old American initiative.

4 Schools Win A's in Play Test At Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — Four A ratings were awarded at the sub-district Central Wisconsin one-act play contest held recently at the Weyauwega High School.

The top-rated schools were Weyauwega, Waupaca, Manawa, and Iola-Scandinavia. These schools will participate in the district contest Saturday at the Wausau University Center.

Amherst and Wittenberg received a B rating.

William Kramer, speech and drama department representative from the Wisconsin State University-Stevens Point, judged the plays.

13 Women Legislators Elected

By KELLY SMITH

WASHINGTON (AP) — A vocalist, a teacher, two lawyers and the ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee are among 13 women apparently elected to high political office.

All 13 have one thing in common: They are, or have been, married. Several are grandmothers. Many started political careers in state legislatures with full backing of their husbands.

For the third time in history, a woman is governor. Lurleen Wallace, blonde 40-year-old mother of four, was chosen to succeed her segregationist husband, George C. Wallace, as governor of Alabama.

Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, the only woman to have served both houses of Congress, won her fourth term in the Senate. Now she will be the only woman in that body. Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D-Ore., retired and retired Army Lt. Col. Ruth M. Briggs was unsuccessful in her attempt to unseat Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.

The women were re-elected to the House, and on the basis of unofficial returns, another was on the verge of victory. Fourteen others lost in House contests.

Not Certain

The woman candidate who is in a nip-and-tuck battle for a House seat is Margaret M. Heckler, 35, a petite brunette who had defeated veteran Republican Rep. Joseph W. Martin in the Massachusetts GOP primary with a promise to "Heckle Congress."

With 84 per cent of the vote tallied, Mrs. Heckler led her Democratic opponent, Patrick Harrington, 82,081 to 81,195.

The 10 women re-elected to the House were:

Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii; Charlotte T. Reid, R-Ill., a singer once featured on popular radio shows; Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., a lawyer; Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., a campaigner for safer cosmetics; Florence P. Dwyer, R-N.J., a lawyer; Edna F. Kelly, D-N.Y., a veteran legislator with eight grandchildren.

Frances P. Bolton, R-Ohio, outspoken ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Edith Green, D-Ore., a grandmother interested in foreign affairs; Julia Butler Hansen, D-Wash., a businesswoman; and Catherin May, R-

Reasons, Rather Than Actions, Important in Moral Judgments

"What is morality?" and "Are yesterday's moral rules irrelevant to today's people?" were questions discussed and clarified by John Shier at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Campus. His subject, "The Philosophic Bases of Today's Values" was the second of five sessions of a daytime class for adults, "Values of Contemporary Man."

The speaker, introduced by Mrs. Jane M. LeDain, Coordinator of Women's Education Programs at the University Extension, is an instructor of Philosophy at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay Campus. A graduate of St. Olaf College, Minnesota, he is studying for a Doctorate Degree at the University of Wisconsin.

"Philosophy is an activity," said Mr. Shier. "We do philosophy." This involves the attempt to find reasons for actions. As the situations of life change, problems change and so it is necessary to constantly reexamine the answers one has used in the past and consider if they apply to the present situation.

Different Answers

For example, noted Mr. Shier, when restrictions were first placed on birth control, there was a danger of human extinction because of the short life expectancy. Now there is a danger of human extinction because of overpopulation. Should our response to these two problems be the same?

Another example involves the question of when the doctor should "pull from the wall the plug" of a machine that is preserving a pulsating organism rather than a human life. Fifty years ago there were no machines that kept one between life and death. One was either dead or alive. Is such an act by a doctor mercy killing and, if so, is it justified?

Thinking Halts

Everyone passes moral judgment, Mr. Shier told the group, but the question is whether one does it well. The religious-oriented mind develops a static moral code. This is called moral absolutism or legalism. An act is so judged as either right or wrong according to a universal law. The situation causing the action is not considered. When a universal law is used to distinguish between right and wrong, "one stops thinking and begins passing judgments." He will not argue because this causes conflict.

Those representing ethical relativism believe that what may be wrong for one may be right for another.

Situations Change

"Today people are not listening to the old codes because the situations causing the codes have changed. The black and white rules are easily broken because life is too complex for simple rules," Mr. Shier advocates "situation ethics," the technical term for the contemporary "new morality" movement, as a solution.

Presupposing everyone desires to be moral, Mr. Shier explained that "situation ethics" denies all absolutes except one: the moral quality of an act is determined by the extent to which love and creative change are a force.

No Absolutes

Situation ethics is more demanding, yet more liberating, than a traditional philosophy. It gives no limits, rules, rewards or punishments but "lets the conscience be the guide." It defies the authority of the divine because the rules and codes of the church institution becomes so centrally important they displace the considerations that led to them.

Situation ethics says one cannot pass judgments until he has examined the act and the cause and consequence of it. For example, killing is judged differently if it is premeditated, or committed by a person in self-defense, in war or by one insane.

Situation ethics is not a rejection of rules, but the rejection of the absolute adherence to rules. What is best in most situations should be adhered to because it works, and is most beneficial.

Reexamine Rules

When situations change, said Mr. Shier, rules should be reexamined, modified perhaps, not necessarily changed. Rules are not wrong, but the reasons for the rules must be clear and must apply to the situation. One must be respectful of the past, but not chained to it.

"We need rules," the instructor emphasized, "but the problem is to recognize why we have rules. They should exist because by obeying them we make contributions to something else."

Fashions to Go From morning through holiday evening were all included in the Service Circle show. Bright colors were forecast for the Christmas scene, with evening wear showing lots of glitter. Above, models ready to begin the program waited behind the scenes. They are Mrs. J. E. McCrary, Mrs. E. F. Mielke and Mrs. Robert Gmeiner.

Elegance Elected Holiday Fashion Winner

It was election day across the nation, but about 500 women and a scattering of men projected to the holiday season at the Service Circle of The King's Daughters annual style show. The 'Elegance Elect' preview was presented at both luncheon and dinner programs at Butte des Morts Golf Club.

The show continued a 31-year tradition of the Circle, with proceeds slated for the Circle's Emergency Fund and for its commitment to the new Family Service Agency.

Fashions were presented in scenes designed to carry through any holiday activity with flair and good taste. Colors ran the gamut from pimiento to bright green and understated mauve to pastels and white. Among favorites were the three-season suit, destined to span all but the warmest summer months in smart good looks. Also drawing applause were the new fashions in lounge wear and at-home entertaining.

Mrs. Raymond LeVee was general chairman of the show, with fashions through the courtesy of the H. C. Prange Co.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Martzahl, route 3, Appleton, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sue Ann, to Harold O. J. Schroeder. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Schroeder, route 2, Hortonville.

Just be sure the fabric is easy to launder because only spotlessly clean accessories are worthy of your favorite baby.

Hospitality Swags

Decorate your front door with a harvest swag — a sign of hospitality during autumn months. Indian corn and bearded wheat bound with ribbon or dried grasses with bright gourds are just two of the many combinations available.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Glove Elegance

For evening elegance, the white glove kid glove is unsurpassed. Right up there with diamond necklaces and ermine coats!

For wear with sleek little dinner suits and dresses, white kid prevails in the shorter lengths. But the opera-length goes hand in hand with resplendence. And let that be a cue to wear it, splendidly.

The proper way is to smooth on the fingers and arm, so that the seams are die-straight and the buttons close without forcing. You then crush the kid, just a bit, over the wrist. Thereafter fold in the selvage at the top to a depth of about one-half inch. Crushing gives a graceful effect. The turn-in holds your gloves on your arm, and so provides a custom fit and finish.

If a jeweled ring bulges the leather, slide the stone under the finger. A ring must never be worn on the outside of a glove. Bulky bracelets, however, may be slipped on over gloves.

At one time, long gloves were not removed except for dining. They were never carried. In this less formal era, the rules are more relaxed on occasion. Gloves may be carried, but not dribbled. They should be folded in half, palms together, and clasped lightly in the hand with their fingers hidden from view. Feminine wiles those, but not to be missed!

Time Store Clearance Sale For Family Clothing Buys

Before buying clothing for the family check to see if your favorite store might offer it at a "sale" price. Most sales offered by stores follow a regular schedule quite closely, according to Lenore Landry, clothing specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

These regular sales are clearance or annual department sales. Special purchase sales do not fit into this calendar, since they may occur at any time.

January and July are usually big clearance sale months. Keep in mind that the timing of sales during the calendar year fluctuates widely in various areas. Today's retailer times his sales according to the needs and demands of his consumer community, his stock and his competition.

It doesn't pay to shop too early for Christmas gifts, except for mailing. After December 15, stores start marking down toys and many clothing items.

If you know your family

There are some bargains to be found when no sales are being held. The experienced shopper knows that broken sizes, garments that are slightly soiled, or "leader" items are frequently below the usual price and may be available at any time.

The wise buyer will "shop around" to compare quality and price at several different stores. It isn't uncommon to find that prices for identical products are considerably lower in some stores than in others. This practice can be carried to an extreme. The woman who travels a long distance to take advantage of a shoe sale may find that her savings have been offset by the cost of transportation.

GOP Women to Elect Officers

New officers will be elected when the Outagamie County Federation of Republican Women meets at 8 p.m. Monday at the Outagamie County Bank building.

Robert Miller, state field representative for the state Republican Party will discuss election results.

Slice Pompon Stalk To Stretch Supply

The Society of American Florists offers this helpful suggestion to stretch your supply of pompons: Take each stalk of pompons and slice off the side shoots or clusters. Use the main stalk for the tallest line in your design, tucking in the shorter-stemmed clusters as desired for the arrangement. This will also add to the life of the blooms, as water reaches them more quickly.

Thinking Rationally Essential for Freedom

BY KENNETH JOHNSTON
Principal, Wilson Junior High School

In a day of world unrest, a time of confusion and chaos, an era of constant change, rational thinking is not just a need, it is an essential for the maintenance of freedom — perhaps for the survival of our very existence.

For generation after generation, the education of our youth has been centered around the 3 R's, no matter how diverse the subject area may have been. We gradually came to the realization that knowing is not enough if we cannot use that which we know.

The ability to reason makes man "rational." It sets him apart from all other creatures on earth. The despotism of ancient days, Hitler's burning of books at the start of his infamous rule, the strict control of education and thought communism is known for, all point out ways in which power-hungry men and groups have tried to control and limit rational thinking. The book "1984" went into even greater depth on this.

"Education Adds up to Rational Thinking" is the third in a series of articles written by community leaders during American Education Week.

Any man who has the freedom to think rationally is a danger to such power seekers. The Sputnik era panicked educators and laymen alike into a rush toward academic excellence. Unfortunately, the academic excellence that they were striving for included far too much factual material, and not nearly enough general education which would teach these people how to use it. Neither of these is good without the other; a balance must be strived for.

Quickly Forgotten

It is a well-known fact that a large percentage of what individuals learn is quickly forgotten. If we were to retain just 10 per cent of all that we saw, heard and felt, we would be far superior to others. Perhaps we cannot retain facts, but those can always be looked up, if we can reason out where, when and how to find them. The one thing that we should be able to retain is the ability to reason: to think rationally.

How do we — perhaps, how can we — teach students how to build into rational thinking. The most recent innovations toward this can be seen in the so-called modern mathematics and in the new structural approach to grammar. These two approaches are concentrating on the "why" as well as on the "how". Most of our academic teachers have for years approached their subjects from the "why" side. The fact that World War I was fought, that it was followed by World War II, that the Korean Conflict followed it, and then Viet Nam — these are all facts, but what good do they do us unless we can use them to reason out ways to prevent a World War III. Many of us remember memorizing the atomic numbers and weights of the elements, but did we do this solely as a drill or so that they could later be used in an effective way?

Need Thinkers

We are not looking for a world of dreamers, but we do need to educate a generation of thinkers. The power to reason is a workable, usable, valuable power. It is an essential power to the individual, to the group, to the nation and to the world. The measure of a man's rational thinking is an excellent measure of that man's intelligence. There has never been a major power on earth that has long existed without intelligent people.

The schools are but a part of an individual's total education. Yes, education adds up to human dignity, to rational thinking, to a creative spirit, to self reliance, to economic competence, to informed citizenship, and to life-long opportunity. But most of all, education adds up to people, to individuals. We in the schools are doing our best to make these people, these individuals, a rationalizing, participating part of society. How well we succeed in our task depends upon how well the other educational institutions, the home, the church, the clubs, and society in general do their jobs.

Victim Gets Wish; Rapists Ordered to Die

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A teen-aged girl who requested the death penalty for three accused rapists got her wish.

An all-male jury Wednesday night decreed the full penalty — death in the electric chair — for three youths charged with rape. The decision took four hours.

In earlier testimony, the Miami Beach girl told jurors: "They should be fully punished for what they did. I want them to die."

Sentenced to death were John F. Smalley, 19, Samuel Choice, 20, and Robert Gissendanner, 18, all of suburban West Hollywood.

The sentence was automatic as the jury did not recommend mercy.

The pretty, 18-year-old victim said the youths forced her into a car while she was walking down a street the night of Jan. 13. While she screamed and fought, she said, they drove her to an empty house and assaulted her.

Anti-Crime TV Test Halted in Subways

NEW YORK (AP) — Closed-circuit television scanning systems, an experiment in crime prevention, have been removed from three subway stations because they were expensive and proved to be of limited value.

A spokesman for the Transit Authority said Wednesday that insufficient lighting, obstructions in the stations and limited-range cameras were among the difficulties encountered.

The systems were given an eight-month trial.

The way he's sinking baskets from every angle, Rick Barry of San Francisco may shatter some of Wilt Chamberlain's high scoring records in the National Basketball Association this season.

The 6-foot-7 former All-American for the University of Miami hit for 47 points against Baltimore to lead the Warriors to an 128-122 victory over the Bullets Wednesday night.

The New York Knicks whipped the Chicago Bulls 103-98 in the other NBA game scheduled Wednesday.

Barry, a stringbean from Roselle Park, N.J., who was the NBA Rookie of the Year last season, hit for 16 field goals and 15-of-15 from the charity line to lead the Warriors into first place in the Western Division.

Averaging 40 points in 13 games, an average close to 40 points. His top effort this season and a league high for this campaign was his 57 points against Cincinnati Oct. 29.

Some of his other game highs, in addition to the 47, are 46 against Philadelphia and 43 against Chicago. Some of Chamberlain's scoring records, which Barry hopes to break, include a 50-point average per game for the season and 100 points for a single game.

Johnny Egan, with 26 points, topped the Bullets in their valiant but futile efforts against the Warriors in San Francisco.

Rodgers Has 36
In Chicago, Guy Rodgers tossed in 36 points in a losing cause for the Bulls as they lost to New York.

Emmette Bryant was the difference for the Knicks, leading their scorers with 21 points, eight of them coming in the final period as Chicago was threatening to tie things up.

New York trailed, 81-78, after three periods, but Bryant threw in three baskets and a free throw, sending the Knicks to an 86-83 lead.

Later, Chicago tied it again, 95-95, but fast buckets by Dave Stallworth and Dick Barnett moved New York out of danger.

Carter 2nd in Total Offense

Shatters Records With 599 Yards Rushing, Passing

NEW YORK (AP) — Virgil Carter's record-shattering performance against Texas Western last Saturday has lifted the 6-foot-1 senior from Brigham Young into second place in total offense among the nation's major college football players.

Carter's 599 yards — 513 passing and 86 rushing — broke the single game records for total offense and passing. The total offense record of 504 yards had been held by Jerry Rhome of Tulsa, who set it in 1964. The passing mark of 502 yards was established by Bill Anderson, also of Tulsa, in 1965.

Held First Place
While helping his team defeat Texas Western 53-33, Carter advanced from 24th to second place in total offense. Statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau showed Tuesday he has gained 1,637 yards. Hank Washington of West Texas State held first place with 1,740 yards. Benny Russell of Louisville is third with 1,627.

Steve Spurrier of Florida remained the leader in pass completions with 133 while Don Fitzgerald of Kent State is No. 1 in rushing with 1,053 yards. Dave Morgan of Kansas tops the punters for the fifth consecutive week. He is averaging 44.7 yards for 36 punts.

$1.31 Tax Rate Cut Foreseen at Brillion

Cuts in City, School Spending Responsible; Hearing Set Friday

BRILLION — A $1.31 per $1,000 tax rate cut is in store for Brillion property owners if the proposed 1967 budget is adopted by the city council at an 8:15 p.m. public hearing Friday.

Total expenditures proposed for 1967 to meet the community's local, school, county and state demands amount to $600,742, compared with $646,794 budgeted for this year. The proposed tax rate is $18.94 and the current rate is $20.26.

Neither of the rates listed includes the state tax credit reduction.

According to the budget to be presented Friday, the tax rate for city needs will be $2.82, down from $2.93; the rate for school needs will be $11.96, down from $13.81, because an additional 2 mill levy for the high school building sinking fund was okayed last year, but did not win district elections for approval this year; the rate for county needs will be $3.93, up from $3.33, and state needs will be 23 cents, up from 18 cents.

Major Decreases

Instrumental in the decreases are a proposed city budget decrease of $61,815, to $370,415, a drop in the city's share of the school budget of $132, to $170,871, and a $1.9 million increase in the city's assessed valuation which now stands at $14,281,350.

The city's outside revenues, when applied against local needs, leave $40,361 as the proposed levy for city purposes. This compares with $36,279 raised in taxes for city spending a year ago.

Estimated revenues from sources other than direct taxes would produce $248,420 next year, compared with $200,750 for the current year.

A anticipated unencumbered surplus funds at the end of 1966 will be $81,634. The surplus funds totaled $195,201 at the end of 1965.

Absent from the proposed budget is $177,253 appropriated in the 1966 budget for the city's sewer and water main project. Municipal enterprises are therefore proposed at $29,714 for 1967, compared with $198,513 for 1966.

Street blacktopping and new sidewalks account for a $114,693 appropriation in the streets and highways category, an increase of $63,259.

Streets, Sidewalks

A $61,228 expenditure is proposed to finance the extensive street blacktopping project and $29,500 for more than five miles of sidewalk installation is suggested. Property owners will be assessed individually for the sidewalk work.

The city proposes to set aside $70,000 for a community swimming pool and recreation center. The citizens' advisory committee recently recommended that the city needs this type of a facility.

Other intended appropriations are general government, $72,230, up $132; protection of person and property, $34,507, up $3,752; health and sanitation, $10,372, down $4,859; charities, $6,000, unchanged; education, $13,061, up $3,861, primarily due to tuition to be paid to outside schools, and parks and recreation, $16,788, up $939.

Waupaca Board Told of Work Load

District Attorney Busier Since Recent Rulings by Supreme Court

WAUPACA — Recent Supreme Court rulings requiring for a person who committed a crime, to appear in court, plead guilty and be either fined or sentenced. But now, because of the cautious approach taken by prosecutors, the defendant must be taken before a judge and if he is not able to hire an attorney, the court appoints one for him. And with the number of preliminary hearings being requested in cases, a defendant and district attorney appear in court a minimum of three times before a case is settled, Johnson said. On some cases, of even a present for 67 cases in justice courts of the county and 17 cases in courts of other counties, besides all court appearances for the welfare and highway departments.

In an attempt to speed completion of cases, Johnson said he has instructed all municipal justices of the county to bind any cases in which they do not have jurisdiction over to County Court instead of Circuit Court. County Court is in session 12 months a year, while Circuit Court is held for short periods in spring and fall.

Commenting on the present county court system, Johnson said it is working fine with only one county judge. During the past year there was a move by Waupaca Assemblyman Gerald K. Anderson to have a second county judge named. Johnson said the county judge is not overworked and it would not be necessary to have a second judge as long as the municipal justices of the county are able to process cases within their jurisdiction.

Association for Retarded

List Programs to Benefit From Waupaca Drive

CLINTONVILLE — The various programs which will benefit from the Waupaca County Association for Retarded Children's fund drive, scheduled Nov. 13-14, have been announced by the Rev. Clarence Bigler, Marion, chairman of the drive, and Mrs. Violet Viitanen, president, at a meeting this week. The goal is $4,000.

One of the programs benefiting this year will be Camp Vico-Rae, a day camp near Northport, which last year accommodated 35 boys and girls.

Funds raised will also be used for scholarships for elementary teachers who plan to major in special education, a field where a serious shortage exists.

Part of the money collected will go for research and for the Clintonville activity program, which was started in March, 1965, and has an attendance of 10 youths over the age of 16. The meeting place for this is provided by the Clintonville Jaycees.

Paid Workers

According to Bigler, only three of the workers are paid. The association has also pledged $1,500 to the Brown County Community Service Center if this year's goal of $4,000 is reached.

"The success of the campaign depends on the many volunteers and on the thousands of people who will be called on to give so that retarded children can be helped," the Rev. Mr. Bigler said.

Father Ahearn Retires After 21 Years as Chilton Pastor

CHILTON — Rev. Roland Ahearn, pastor of St. Augustine Catholic Church since 1945, will retire next Thursday.

Father Ahearn, who marked his 50th anniversary in the priesthood last April 14, received a letter this week from the Most Rev. Stanislaus V. Bona, Bishop of Green Bay, confirming his retirement date.

He will be succeeded by the Rev. Alfred Pritzl, a native of Brillion, who served as an assistant at St. Mary Church in Chilton during the 1920's.

Father Pritzl was also pastor of Holy Rosary parish in New Holstein for several years. He will come to Chilton from the St. Boniface Church, Manitowoc.

Father Ahearn will make his last official appearance in St. Augustine Sunday. He plans to retire in Chilton and has purchased a home at 521 Memorial Drive.

Father Ahearn served a long tenure at St. Augustine than any other pastor in the 11-decade history of the parish. He was one of 11 priests ordained for the Green Bay Diocese April 14, 1916.

Hunter Tries to Prove Point

Post-Crescent News Service

Some men will knock themselves out to prove a point. They don't always prove it to their own satisfaction. But they'll try nonetheless. It's that way in hunting when a man's really serious about it.

Take the guy who goes around asserting, "if you walk far enough in game cover behind a good dog, you can get yourself a limit of birds."

This formula for success is predicated first on the ability of a gun dog to ferret out game that dogless hunters have passed and secondly on the unwillingness of today's hunter to walk more than a quarter of a mile before returning to his four-wheeled hunting chariot.

Prove His Point

The opening day of pheasant season, this guy tries to prove his point. He shouldn't have to knock himself out, since the bag limit is a single cock bird but to handicap himself he picks a public area, open to anyone, and allots himself just one hour to get his bird. He doesn't jump off with the opening day crowd but gives them a one-hour head start.

There is method to this last bit of madness. If a man is to hunt properly, he wants to be by himself.

It takes 25 minutes of fast walking to reach the abandoned fields far from the driveable roads, which he stumbled on while "beating the brush" several years before. The two dogs, a good Springer spaniel and a poor Irish water spaniel, have quested futilely in the dusty dry brush. Their tongues loll and their interest has waned.

Devoid of Food

On the edge of one of the fields is a field of corn, not this spring's plant, but last year's, and virtually devoid of food. The hunter and his dogs angle for the southeast corner in order to play the wind, which is a howling gale rattling the dry stalks.

On the corner, the Springer's pace quickens and her hindquarters hula dance. Even the lackadaisical water spaniel becomes more animated. With a quick burst, the Springer puts the running bird into the air, against the wind, 30 yards out in front of the hunter. The rooster turns with the wind and comes back across the hunter's right front.

It takes the hunter two quick shots poured out of the 20 gauge shotgun barrel to realize he has done what is virtually impossible — overlead a flying bird. For each time as he swung and touched off, the rooster decided to buck the gale. When he turned the wind hung him up, motionless. The momentum of the swing carried the shot charge past him.

The now calculating hunter

pivots, this time anticipating the turn into the wind by the quartering bird and swings off the beating right wing. It's a 45-yard shot. Not easy, not impossible. But as he pulls the trigger, the rooster gives up and lets the gale carry him. He slips slaunchwise to the left and the shot pattern finds nothing but sky to penetrate.

Should he cuss or laugh? The hunter does both. For no man can really choke down disappointment. But at the same time no man can really savor hunting until he can chuckle at his misses and ruefully credit a bird-brained creature with outwitting him.

Like the man, the Springer has marked the brush edge where the bird went down, a quarter mile away. But she responds to the whistle and comes back to make a couple of diagonal sweeps through the cornfield headed back in the direction of the car. For not only has the man set a time limit on this hunt, but he relishes the thought of coming back another day for a go at a sleek, long tailed bird, native to the cover, always preferable to the bob-tailed creatures someone has kicked out of a crate a few days before.

Experiment a Success
Some would look on such a hunting "day" as a failure or would voice disappointment. But as this hunter cases his shotgun into his hat for his dogs to drink upon arriving at the car, he reflects that his experiment was a success.

To his own satisfaction, at least, he has proved a point. Walking behind a good dog a limit was produced, even if it wasn't bagged. The only fly in the ointment is the time limit. His watch reads 10 minutes past the hour he allotted.

Wednesday's Results
Boston 3, New York 3, tie
Toronto 3, Montreal 2

Associated Press Sports Writer
Emile Francis is tired of ties. The New York Rangers' manager-coach saw his club blow a 3-1 lead in the final 1½ minutes as Boston rallied for a 3-3 National Hockey League deadlock Wednesday night.

In the only other game played, Jim Pappin's third-period power play goal lifted Toronto past Montreal, 3-2.

The game against the Bruins climaxed a stretch of five games in seven days for the Rangers and marked the third time that a late-game breakthrough had cost New York either a victory or a tie.

"We should have had three victories and a tie in those five games," moaned Francis. "Instead we got one victory and two ties."

Connelly Villain
Wayne Connelly was the villain Wednesday. He set up Ron Murphy's goal at 18:31 of the third period and then, after the Johnny Bucyk's breakaway goal, Connelly grabbed the loose puck and rammed the tying goal home with 34 seconds left.

It was the second straight home game in which the Rangers and goalie Ed Giacomin won it.

had blown two-goal leads in the final period and had to settle for ties.

Giacomin had been benched after his roaming tactics had led to two Toronto goals and helped the Maple Leafs to a 3-3 deadlock Sunday. But he returned to the nets Wednesday in the second period when starter Cesare Maniago suffered a four-stitch cut under his nose after making a save.

"I would have sent Maniago back in," Francis said, "but he didn't feel too steady when he returned to the bench." So the Rangers stuck with Giacomin and until the final 1½ minutes he protected what seemed to be an easy victory.

Power Plays
Bob Nevin, Reg Fleming and defenseman Harry Howell were the Ranger scorers — Nevin and Howell on power plays. It was Howell's third goal this season — all against Boston. The Bruins' first goal was credited to Ron Stewart when his shot bounced off Howell and past Maniago in the opening period. George Armstrong scored his first goal of the season and assisted on Toronto's other two as third period and then, after the Maple Leafs whipped the Canadiens. Pappin's game was disallowed because of an unwelcome period. Brian Conacher scored Toronto's other goal.

Dave Balon and Yvan Cournoyer hit for Montreal with Balon's goal tying the game early in the final period before Pappin won it.

License Section Still Mailing Out Deer Permits

MADISON — With the 1966 Wisconsin deer season just a few days away, the license section of the Wisconsin Conservation Department is pushing hard to mail out variable quota deer permits as far in advance of opening day as possible.

Some 19,000 permits had been mailed as of Monday and approximately 4,000 remain to be distributed. These are being mailed as rapidly as possible. They will go to applicants who were successful in the automatic machine drawing held late in October. Unsuccessful applicants have all been notified.

Each permit entitles a party of four licensed hunters to take home one extra deer of either sex. They are good only in specified deer management areas where the whitetail population requires this additional harvest to maintain healthy habitat conditions.

Permits for most northwestern management units are still available at the license section in Madison, and at county clerks' offices in the northwestern part of the state. Permit quotas assigned to most units in central, southern and northeastern counties have been exhausted.

Pick Rouge for Monthly Award As Top Fighter

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Rouge of Anaconda, Mont., was named Fighter of the Month by Ring Magazine today for his impressive victory over Eddie Cotton in a clash of leading light heavyweight contenders.

In announcing the award and issuing its monthly ratings, Ring said "Rouge now is the No. 1 contender for the light heavyweight title and no longer is to be ignored by champion Jose Torres.

"Jose had better stop talking about the heavyweight championship and start worrying about Rouge, should Jose survive the title defense against Dick Tiger."

Light heavyweight contender Johnny Persol of New York, who outclassed third ranking heavyweight contender Amos Lincoln of Los Angeles, was lifted to a No. 10 ranking among the heavies. Lincoln was dropped from third to seventh.

Struggling Badgers Pin Hopes on Blockbusting Sophomore Todd

By JAMES R. POLK

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin's bedraggled Badgers invade Illinois Saturday with their football hopes saddled to a sophomore workhorse.

Wayne Todd, a first-year fullback already being compared with Badger All-America Alan (The Horse) Ameche of a dozen years ago, carries a rushing average of 3.8 yards a crack as Wisconsin's most frequent and effective performer.

Todd netted 118 yards—all but four of Wisconsin's total on the ground—against Purdue last week to win particular praise from coach Jack Mollenkopf of the Rose Bowl—bound Boiler-makers.

"He's a pro-type fullback,"

PSC Authorizes Boat Channel Off Alder Creek

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Development of an 840-foot boat channel off Alder Creek in the Town of Wolf River in Winnebago County by Chester Ulrich has been approved by the State Public Service Commission.

Ulrich owns property adjacent to the Creek. He requested permission to construct the 36-foot wide, 7-foot deep channel to insure circulation in an existing channel on his property.

Objectors claiming the project would serve no public purpose and would create a breeding area for insects were overruled by the state agency which determined that the project will not injure public rights or interests.

The project must be completed before December, 1968.

Aussie Tennis Star Will Retire

PERTH, Australia (AP)—Margaret Smith, one of the world's greatest tennis players among women, announced Thursday her retirement from competitive tennis.

Miss Smith, who first gained prominence nearly seven years ago as a 17-year-old Australian junior by upsetting Maria Bueno of Brazil at Brisbane, has won major tournaments all over the world.

She won the Wimbledon championship, the U.S. crown, the Australian national championship as well as the French and Italian championships.

Rams 585 Series

In the Ladies at Michiels Bowl, Sherwood, Helen Michiels cracked games of 218 and 194 for a 585 series. Patti Allenberg had a 197 game and 548 series while Joan Giesen slammed 219-545 and Mary Weyenberg had a 190 game.

The Women's National League at the 41 Bowl saw Aldeane Alstad hit a 220 game and 543 series. Other top counts included Ag Green 515; Shirley Seehawer 507; Celia Truesdale 199-505 and Dee Kohl 198.

Doris Dreissen had a 199 game and 536 series while Lorraine Van Vreede slammed 220 in the Tuesday Women's circuit at the Little Chute Recreation Lanes.

Shirley Hearden's 210 game and 517 series topped the Lucky Strike League at the 41 Bowl last night. Other high counts for the loop included Cecile Guyon 203; Becky McMennamin 501; Doris Law 199 and Toni Young 191.

In the Wednesday Coffee League at the 41 Bowl, Eve Schueler hit a 211 game and Jeanette Burt had a 511 series. Elaine Zeegers hit a 204 line and Dee Breuer posted a 191 line.

Donna Maxam hit 200 in the Marathon Girls League at the 41 Bowl Wednesday night and Jan Vande Hey had a 516 series in the Village Alley Cat League at the Village Lanes, Little Chute. Diane Arendt topped the Four-For-Fun League at Hahn's Wednesday with a 194 game.

The Badgers, whose 2-5-1 record assures them of a third straight losing season, scored their last touchdown against Illinois in a 1963 loss and could have trouble ending the drought Saturday.

Butterfingers Wisconsin has lost the football on fumbles this season more times—16—than it has scored—six touchdowns, eight field goals. The two figures are related for a team that has booted away the ball at the two and four-yard lines on the last two Saturdays.

Inexperience has hampered the Badgers, who have only one letterman in the first and second-string backfields. Todd is teamed at running back with 225-pound junior Kim Wood, while junior John Boyajian remains at quarterback.

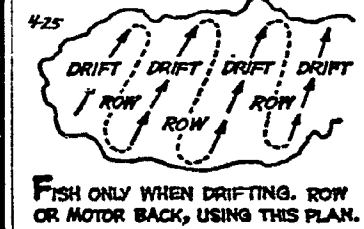

Boyajian's passing grade is 59 for 119 for 824 yards. More than half of the yardage has been seized by sophomore Tom McCauley, the top target with 32 catches for 542 yards.

Your Money's Worth

Dramatic Change Seen In Number of Widows

The long, dreary American saga of the elderly widow living out her remaining years in loneliness finally may be ending. In its place, a new, far brighter tale is being written in which the American husband and wife will stay alive and live together through middle and old age. By 1985, a conservative projection is that a full 72 per cent of women 55 to 64 years of age man four years your senior, you run a 42 per cent chance of being widowed before you are 65 (assuming you survive to that age, of course.) If you were married at 20 to a man two years older, your chances of being widowed before 65 are only 37 per cent. If you were married to a man of the same age, your chances of widowhood are down to 33 per cent.

Age difference is obviously not the only factor involved. Also significant are the divorce rate, the general trend of mortality, the affect of separation and desertion. But Parke and Glick assume no major changes in any of these factors and whatever changes do develop will enhance, not cut, the odds on joint survival.

For instance, the probability is that the separation and divorce rate will decline as the incomes of our male working population are upgraded. A fascinating fact is that separation and divorce are far less extensive among affluent men than the poor.

The trend toward a long life together suggests a sharp rise in the number of separate households in the U. S.: 98 per cent of married couples maintain their own homes. It signals the opening of vast new areas for goods and services designed specifically for the middle-aged couple living in a two-member household.

More important, it forecasts a happier, healthier, independent older population — and that's good news indeed.

But this situation is changing, according to a major study of marriage trends by Robert Parke, Jr. and Paul C. Glick of the U. S. Bureau of Census. Their figures are based on the 1960 census but if anything, updating would underline their points even more. They say:

—Husbands under 35 today are on average only 1.9 years older than their wives. Husbands over 55 are on average 3.6 years older.

—Of the under 35 husbands, only 17 per cent are as much as five years older. Of the over 55 husbands, 42 per cent are at least five years older.

How vitally important this lessening of the difference in ages is dramatized by the following startling statistics.

Divorce Rate
If you are a woman who married at the age of 20 a

Career Academy, Inc.

Establishment of a nationwide school system offering resident or home study (correspondence) courses training for specific professional careers is the concept behind Career Academy. Currently, the Company operates resident schools in Milwaukee, Atlanta, Washington, D. C., Chicago, New York and Houston. A new school will be opened in Columbus, Ohio, in mid-1967.

In-resident training programs for women interested in becoming Medical Assistants, Dental Assistants and Medical Technicians are presently offered, together with courses for men and women in Dental Technology and in Radio and Television Broadcasting. In addition, two unique home study programs are offered to train Medical Assistants and Radio and Television Broadcasters. These are administered from the executive offices in Milwaukee.

As a result of the establishment of new schools and the addition of study programs, revenues and earnings have increased sharply. Management's outlook for 1966 is for continued growth with enrollments projected at around 6,800 (compared with 3,700 in 1965) and on this assumption earnings should modestly surpass $1.00 per share. Further expansion is also envisaged for 1967 as a result of enrollment gains coupled with several promising new developments, and earnings should approximate $1.50 per share. The shares, at 29 times our 1966 per share earnings estimate, merit the attention of "business-man's risk" type accounts seeking capital gains.

Appleton Council to Vote Next Week

Cat Ordinance Out of Bag Again

The city's proposed cat ordinance was let out of the bag again Tuesday night.

As a result the controversial piece of legislation will be before the common council next Wednesday for a show-down vote.

The council's welfare-ordinance committee, over the objection of Ald Arthur E. Mueller, voted last night to bring the cat ordinance to the council floor for the umpteenth time.

Ald. John Steidl (18th) asked for the ordinance several weeks ago when many of his constituents filed a petition for same — requiring cats to be licensed and regulated like dogs.

At the last council meeting, the cat proposal was referred back to committee after an alderman questioned by what authority the committee had it prepared by the city attorney.

Mueller moved for denial of the ordinance last night but

Holyoake Won't See Vietnamese Opposed to War

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Prime Minister Keith Holyoake has refused to see a South Vietnamese Buddhist monk who said he opposes American bombing of North Vietnam and the presence of American troops in the South.

The monk, Thich Nhat Hanh, is director of the school of social studies at the Buddhist Van Hahn University in Saigon. He is on a world tour organized by the International Committee of Conscience on Viet Nam.

Holyoake said in a statement South Viet Nam's United Buddhist Church had disavowed Thich Nhat to meet with him. Holyoake said, would give the monk's visit official status if had not gained from Buddhist or Vietnamese authorities.

Woman Steps Into Car's Path At Winnebago

Resident at County Hospital
Dies of Injuries

OSHKOSH — A 41-year-old woman who had lived at Winnebago County hospital for many years stepped out in front of a car near the hospital Wednesday afternoon and was killed.

Miss Margaret Lampke was struck about 3.45 p.m. by a car driven by Sandra A. Gauger, 22, of 118A W. 18th Ave. She died about an hour later at Mercy Hospital.

County Coroner Arthur C. Miller said the cause of death was a skull fracture. Her death was the 28th fatality in Winnebago County this year.

Miss Gauger told Winnebago County police that she was driving south along County Trunk A and slowed to about 30 miles an hour as she approached Butler Street and saw two women standing on the east side of the road.

She said the women crossed the northbound lane of County Trunk A and paused as her car neared them. Then Margaret Lampke "all of a sudden" ran in front of the car, Miss Gauger said. There are no traffic controls at the intersection.

Miller said the women had crossed the road to visit a nearby grocery store and were returning to the hospital.

Winnebago County hospital officials said their records showed no home address and no known relatives. They said Miss Lampke was not a native of Winnebago County. A search for relatives has been started.

School Visiting Set Friday in Bonduel District

BONDUEL — School visitation day at community schools will be Friday, according to Supt. Frank Weix. Residents of the school district are invited to visit schools in the district on this day, including Bonduel High School and Bonduel, Cecil and Navarino grade schools.

Parents and other interested visitors will have the opportunity to meet and talk with the teachers, to visit classes, to observe their youth at work in the classroom, and to learn about the methods, techniques and instruments of instruction as currently used.

The event this year again coincides with American Education Week.

A hot lunch will be served to those who are at the schools, beginning at 11 a.m. There will be a luncheon program for the grades and for those visitors who wish to attend. Classes will run during the entire school day and buses will leave on regular schedule.

Teachers will be available during the day and after school to talk over any problems and attempt to answer any questions parents might have relative to their youth and their studies.

Clintonville Will End Fund Drive For Fireman

CLINTONVILLE — William Martens and Roland Sipiorski report that efforts are being made to bring a successful conclusion to the drive for funds for Gary Wied, an Appleton fireman who is currently at the Mayo Clinic at Rochester.

Sipiorski said persons not contacted in the neighborhood campaign may leave their contributions at the Clintonville National Bank or Dairyman's State Bank.

Parents of the 27-year-old former Clintonville man, Police Captain and Mrs. Willard Wied, remain at Gary's bedside and report now that Gary "is holding his own," after brain surgery.

Caravan Fund's First Shipment

Cheese Blocks Bound for Viet Nam

WAUPACA — The first shipment of cheese to servicemen in Viet Nam will consist of 40-pound blocks of cheddar cheese worth $15,000, according to an announcement made by Alfred Mellen, Weyauwega, chairman of the "Cheese for Viet Nam" fund raising drive.

More than $20,000 was raised recently when state farmers took part in tractor caravans to raise funds for the project.

At a recent meeting, Mellen said the committee decided to start making arrangements to purchase $15,000 worth of cheese for the first shipment. The balance of the money, along with funds still being received, will be used for a second shipment. Mellen said he is confident that the second shipment will be as large as the first, according to the way donations continue to come in.

Offers Centralized Accounting System

Supervisors Surprised at Cost Of Computer Bookkeeping Unit

Judging from the low whistles from the board floor, Outagamie County supervisors were somewhat surprised by the cost of a proposed electronic computer bookkeeping machine which would give the county a centralized accounting system.

Questions regarding purchase of the $30,000 machine arose during examination of the proposed $6.4 million budget. Action on the budget is expected late today or Friday morning.

Alvin E. Woehler, county executive secretary, one of the proponents of the new machine, answered most of the questions from supervisors.

First County

Woehler said the computing unit would allow for more efficient accounting and would affect payroll work, especially for county institutions and the highway department.

Outagamie would be the first county in the state to have such equipment. Woehler told Appleton Supv. Arnold Welch, that other counties have expressed interest in such a unit and are awaiting Outagamie County's action.

The present equipment is obsolete, Woehler said. Kaukauna Supv. Russell DeLaHunt said county officials were told that a machine purchased seven years ago could be used "for many years to come."

Highway Budget Row Ends Outagamie Board Session

Omission of E. College Avenue Project Is Bone of Contention

An abrupt adjournment Wednesday afternoon ended what had turned into a heated debate during review of a proposed $2 million Outagamie County highway budget.

Review of the 1967 highway budget, scheduled as a special order of business for Wednesday afternoon to allow for possible county board adjournment today, was not completed as a result of the lengthy debate.

Rural Shiocton Supv. Ervin Conradt, chairman of the county highway committee, brought an untimely end to his review of the budget, walked to his chair, and shouted, "If you people think you can do a better job of operating the highway department, go ahead." He sat down and a motion was made to adjourn during a round of applause.

Two-Fold Debate

The debate was actually two-fold and started about halfway through the budget review when Conradt was asked why there was not a 1967 appropriation for construction work on the E. College Avenue extension, first leg of the proposed tri-county expressway.

Conradt said that much of the blame for the delay should fall on Appleton which he said has held up approval of the moving of federal aid from the old Outagamie County Trunk Z to the new highway. He said the step is necessary before federal aid is available.

"We've bent over backward to get an answer from Appleton," Conradt explained.

The highway committee chairman said problems in acquiring right-of-way also caused the delay in construction. About 75 per cent of the right-of-way has been purchased. The proposed four-lane road would be from Appleton to State 55 near Kaukauna.

Under Heavy Fire

Conradt came under heavy fire for the construction delay. Supv. Joseph DeBruin of rural Kaukauna said the first plans for the extension were made in 1959, and three years ago $50,000 was appropriated to purchase the right-of-way.

"There's no sense in holding this up another year," DeBruin said. He proposed putting money into the 1967 highway budget in case an agreement is worked out soon with Appleton. The money could revert to the general fund if it is not used, DeBruin explained.

Cost Rise

County Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson said some of the money designated earlier for E. College Avenue extension work will have to be used to complete right-of-way purchase for the proposed road. He said estimated costs of the highway have risen, due in part to a change in specifications.

DeBruin expressed concern over a $173,000 budget appropriation for work on the W. College Avenue extension from U.S. 41 to the Two Mile Road, and a $200,000 appropriation (will match federal aid) for improvement of County Trunk M from MM to State 54, including a new bridge over the Wolf River.

DeBruin contended that the E. College Avenue job is more important.

Appleton Supv. Kurt Koletzke suggested slashing $173,000 for the W. College Avenue extension from the budget.

Considered an Emergency

Conradt termed the County Trunk M job "an emergency," mainly because the bridge is in poor condition. That job was intended as a replacement for the E. College Avenue project in 1967.

Conradt predicted work on E. College Avenue will start in 1968, adding, "I can say that with all sincerity."

The debate switched to the highway department getting out of the road construction business when Appleton Supv. Eugene Kloes suggested the W. College Avenue two mile extension job be let out on bids.

Brownson maintained that if the county gives up road construction, "it might as well get out of everything," including snow plowing.

Considered Coverup

Kloes said contractors could be hired to plow snow. He accused Brownson of "using the snow removal argument" as a "coverup for wanting to stay in the road construction business."

The Appleton supervisor contended road construction work could be done cheaper by private firms.

Kloes asked Brownson how highway department operations would be affected if the staff were cut in half.

Brownson said there would be trouble keeping good help. "A good equipment operator isn't going to want to cut weeds in the summer," Brownson explained.

Before the Gallow car was removed, a car driven by Leland H. McCue, 69, Poy Sippi, skidded on the bridge and ran off the road striking the Gallow vehicle. About 15 minutes elapsed between the accidents, county police said.

Skids on Ice

New London City police said more than $100 damage resulted when a car skidded out of control at 7 52 a.m. Wednesday on the State 54 overhead.

A car driven by John H. Martinez, 37, Green Bay, was headed west on State 54, police said, when his car skidded on ice and struck the rear wheels of a tandem trailer truck which was traveling west.

Driver of the truck, Theodore N. Strong, 53, Stevens Point, was slowing to a stop after seeing the car go into the skid, city police said.

New London Man Sent to State Prison

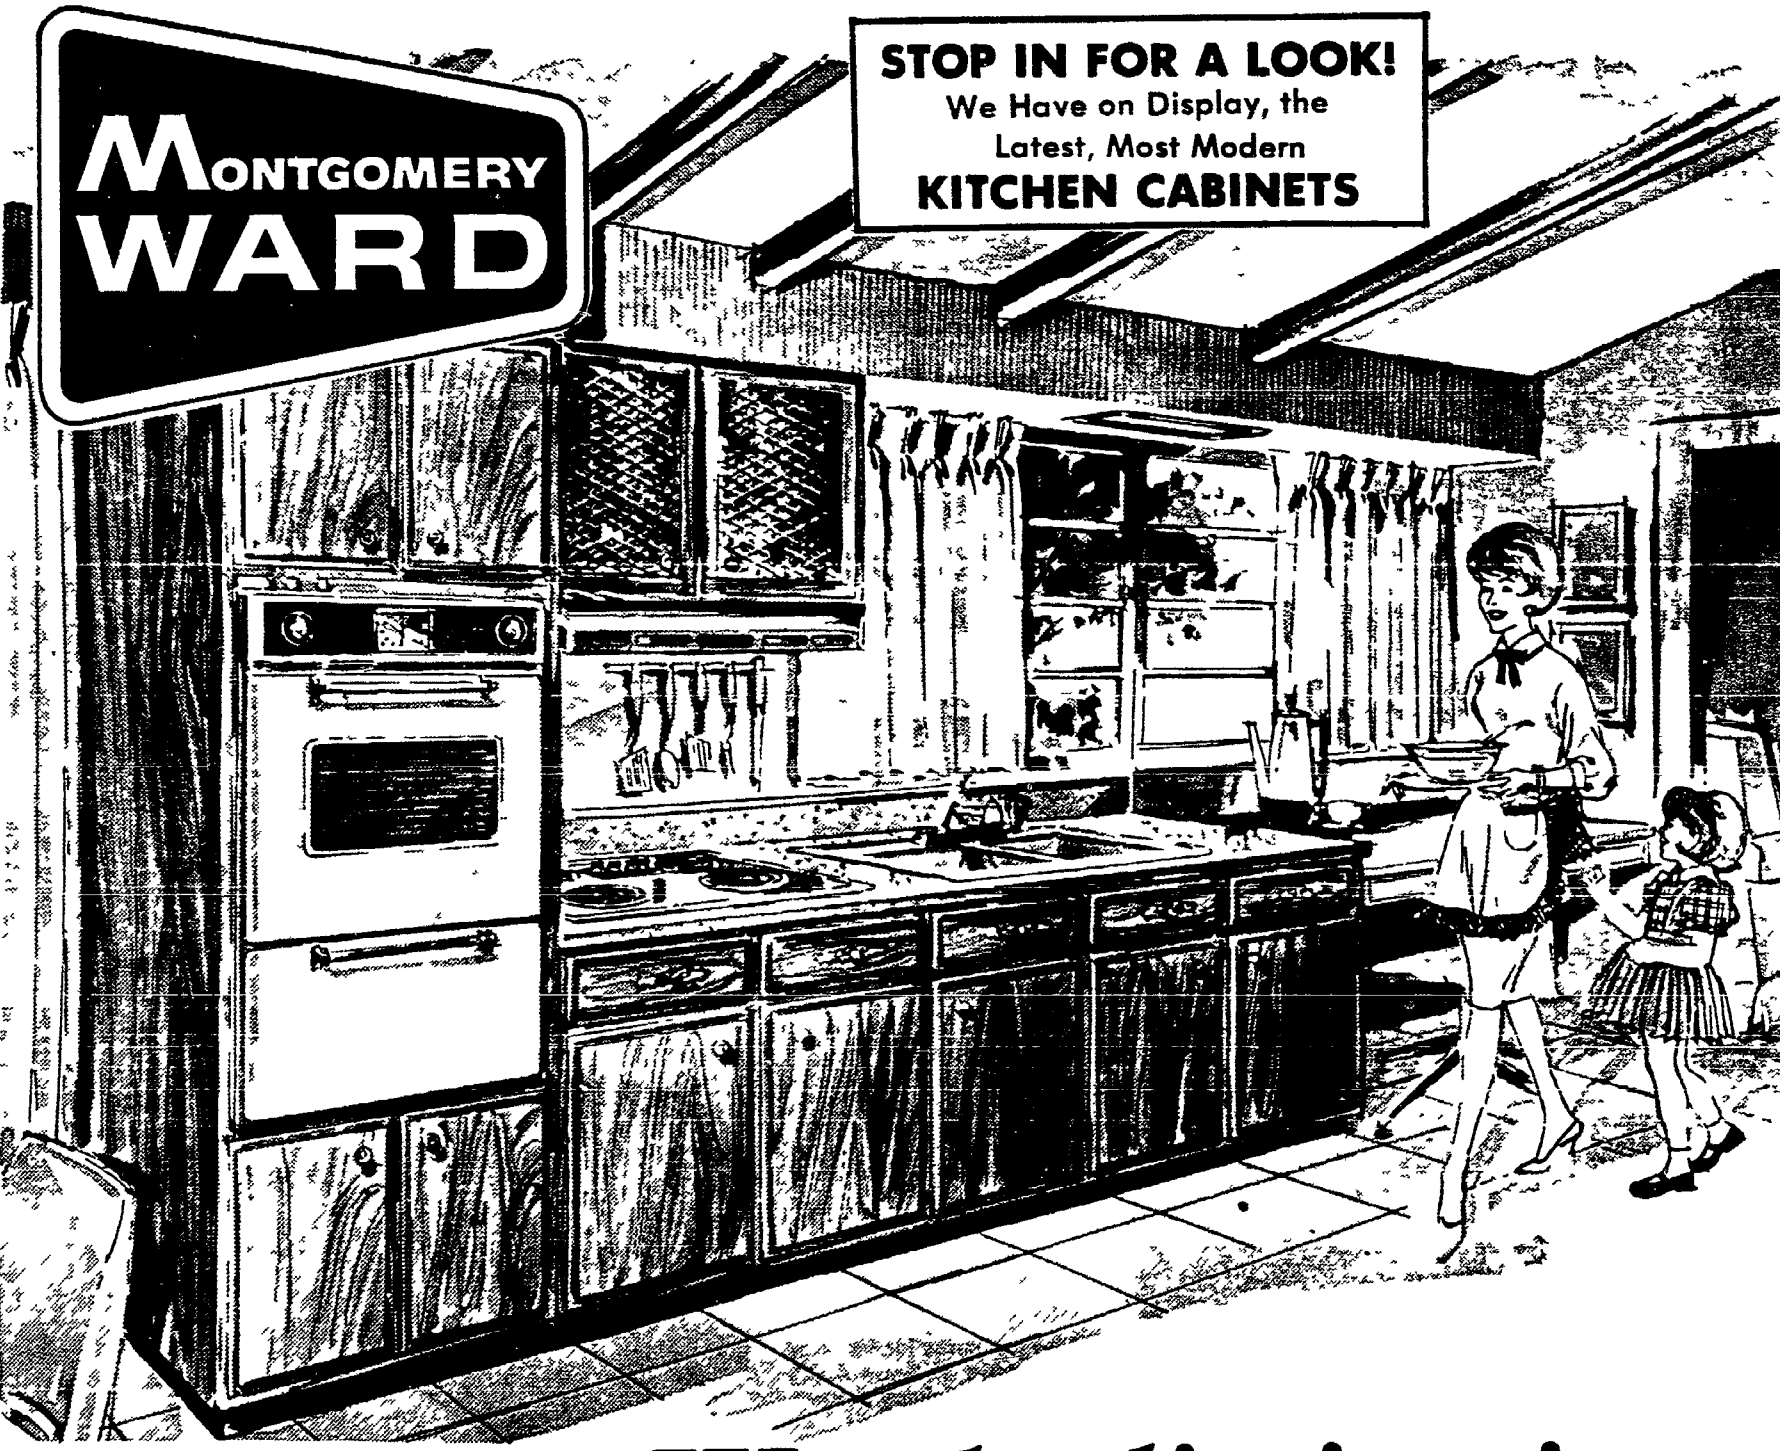

Harold Johnson Gets
2 Years for Attack
On Manawa Banker

WAUPACA — Harold K. Johnson, 42, route 1, New London, was sentenced Wednesday to two years at the state prison at Waupun, for attacking Manawa banker Merle Hales July 18.

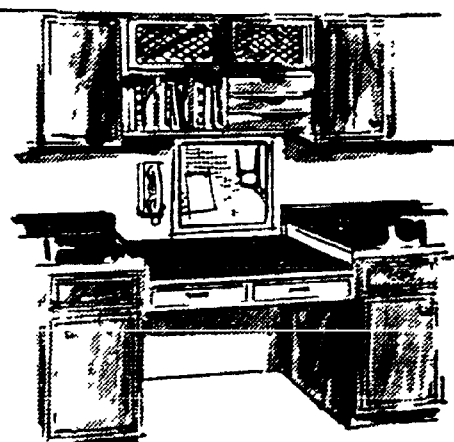

Johnson, who appeared Oct. 6 before County Judge Wendell McHenry and pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated battery, has been in custody since arrested at his home a short time after the incident. Prior to his guilty plea Johnson underwent a 60-day mental examination at the Central State Hospital, Waupun. A pre-sentence investigation also was conducted.

Judge McHenry requested that Hales testify in court. Hales testified he was Johnson's guardian and had been discussing the guardianship with him in his office at the bank when Johnson picked up a chair, attempted to strike him with it, and then attacked and choked him before a bank employee and a customer pulled Johnson away. Hales was not injured in the scuffle.

Johnson accused Hales of keeping his children away from him. Hales said in court he did not have any control over Johnson's five children who have been in foster homes since Johnson's wife died.

The West German governmental crisis was two weeks old today. The Free Democrats quit Erhard's cabinet Oct. 27 after refusing to endorse tax increases the chancellor said were needed to balance a 1967 budget weighed with commitments to buy arms in the United States.

Christian Democratic leaders who felt Erhard had proved too indecisive to lead the party seized the opportunity to force him from office. Erhard, abandoned by his party after three years as chancellor and 14 as minister of economics, reluctantly agreed to step down.

of its three gyroscopes was not spinning properly.

So a third autopilot was pressed into service. Initial reports were that it was functioning normally.

Last of Series
Gemini 12 will be the last of the Gemini series, leading to the first earth orbit flight of a three-man Apollo moonship early in 1967.

Lovell and Aldrin plan to wrap up the loose ends of the Gemini program, with a main goal of learning what problems must be overcome before man can effectively operate outside an orbiting ship.

Aldrin is to spend nearly five hours outside the ship — a two-hour space walk and two "space stands" during which he'll perform photographic and other tasks with the upper half of his body poked through an open hatch.

The flight is to start with a third orbit rendezvous and link-up with the Agena, with the astronauts practicing several maneuvers that Apollo astronauts must make in returning from the moon.

Celler Claims GOP Gains Due to Backlash

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat who is dean of the House of Representatives, says the white backlash was responsible for the election of Republican Ronald Reagan as governor of California and the defeat of Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas in Illinois.

Celler also said Wednesday that the white backlash is "something we will have to reckon with in this country."

there is no evidence to positively connect them.

The sheriff's department this morning recovered a number of empty jewelry sample cases from a state conservation department camp about four miles north of the Oshkosh city limits on County "Trunk A." Though the cases hadn't been positively identified, sheriff's investigators thought they were the cases taken from Stuchnik's car.

Stuchnik reported the theft of his car from the Valley Fair shopping center behind the F. W. Woolworth Store. Stuchnik, a representative of Wisconsin Jewelry Supply, Milwaukee, said he was heading to Neenah-Menasha. He said he stopped at the Pancake House in the shopping center for lunch about 12:20 p.m. He reported the theft at 12:53 p.m.

Auto Moved
When sheriff's investigators arrived, they found the auto in a different section of the parking lot. The trunk lock was broken and the sample cases were missing from the trunk. The lock on the right door also was broken.

Stuchnik said his display cases contained leather, nylon and metal watch bands, identification bracelets, neck chains and about 20 watches.

Lindquist called Oshkosh police at 4:52 p.m. He said he arrived at his brother's apartment in Oshkosh about 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, left shortly to make two calls on Oshkosh jewelers and returned to the apartment about 2:45 p.m.

He said he left the cases of samples on the living room floor and went out with a friend and his brother about 3:10 p.m. He said the cases were missing when they returned to the apartment about 4:30 p.m.

Italy Steps Up Efforts To Help Flooded Areas

Florence Still Virtually Paralyzed as Workers Dig Into Debris, Muddy Streets

ROME (AP) — Spurred by criticism and appeals, the Italian nation stepped up emergency efforts today to help the country's flood zones.

President Giuseppe Saragat called on all Italians to join in a "pact of brotherhood which, within the limits of human efforts, will overcome the anguish, suffering, pain and needs" of victims in the disaster areas of northern and central Italy.

Labor unions called on their members to contribute up to a day's pay for flood relief. The government, accused by Communists and the deputy mayor of Florence of moving too slowly, ordered round-the-clock truck convoys to carry food, medicine and supplies to Florence.

Viet Cong Use Gas In Attack on U.S.

lice forces use to quell civil disturbances. Citing an instance where gas was used against Viet Cong who took refuge among noncombatant villagers, he said the aim was to save life.

In the initial global repercussions, Secretary of State Dean Rusk denied that the United States was waging gas warfare in Viet Nam. He said non-killing tear and nausea gases would continue to be used as needed to save innocent lives.

Ground action in the area, however, continued to be light. The bloody battle in Tay Ninh Province of Zone C pushed the toll of American dead in the war to nearly double the number the week before, the weekly casualty report revealed.

The U. S. command announced that 127 Americans were killed last week, 605 were wounded and eight were missing or captured. The week before 66 Americans were killed and 493 were wounded, according to revised figures issued today.

Casualties Reduced

Both South Vietnamese government and enemy casualties were reduced, but the enemy dead did not include the toll in the most recent fighting in Tay Ninh.

At Cam Ranh Bay, across from the huge American air and supply base President Johnson visited last month, an old French wharf collapsed early today, killing possibly 20 Vietnamese and injuring about 100, a U. S. spokesman reported.

The wharf was crowded with Vietnamese workers awaiting transportation to the U. S. base. Some were crushed by the collapsing piles, while others were drowned, the spokesman said.

Elsewhere in Viet Nam, U. S. Marines launched Operation Pawnee north of Da Nang, and units from two U. S. infantry divisions continued searching for remnants of the Viet Cong division that was hammered and scattered in Tay Ninh northwest of Saigon.

100 Missions

Bad weather prevented U. S. air strikes against targets in North Viet Nam's Red River delta, but 100 missions of Air Force and Navy planes smashed at staging and storage areas down the southern panhandle.

Korean troops announced they had ended Operation Fierce Tiger after killing 1,161 of the enemy.

The casualties last week brought the total of Americans reported killed in combat to 5,823 since the war began and the wounded to 22,544.

The U. S. command reported 893 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed and 199 captured last week, compared with 317 killed and 209 captured the week before. The Vietnamese command, whose figures often differ from the Americans', reported 752 enemy killed last week and 209 captured.

Exceed Vietnamese

Vietnamese spokesmen said 113 government troops were killed last week and 11 were missing. It was the sixth time this year that American dead exceeded those of the South Vietnamese, who no longer report the number of their wounded.

U. S. casualties in the Tay Ninh fighting have been reported light over-all, but some units were hit hard in the early stages of the battle last week. Troops of the 196th Light Infantry Brigade and the 1st and 25th Infantry Divisions are taking part in the operation.

U. S. spokesmen have reported more than 800 enemy troops killed in Tay Ninh, but many of these were reported this week and were not included in the casualty total announced today.

No Americans were killed or wounded in the Cam Ranh Bay disaster. A U. S. spokesman reported. However, American military personnel were quickly on the scene from the base a mile across the bay, diving for bodies, administering artificial respiration and moving the injured to hospitals.

Gathering Point

The wharf was about 100 feet long and was the gathering point for Vietnamese workers employed at the Cam Ranh Bay base. From the wharf they rode ferries across the bay.

As many as 1,000 Vietnamese gathered on the wharf at a time, the U. S. spokesman said. Many women were among those on the pier when it collapsed, plunging the crowd into the deep waters of the bay.

The spokesman reported that three bodies had been recovered by early afternoon and another 15 to 20 could be seen on the bottom of the bay.

The spokesman said the wooden wharf was built years ago by the French and was "in a poor state of repair." He added that its upkeep was the responsibility of the Vietnamese authorities, not the Americans.

In the air war, Air Force pilots struck 18 military supply areas along the North Vietnamese panhandle Wednesday, destroying 20 buildings, damaging 29 others and setting off 10 secondary explosions, probably of ammunition dumps, a spokesman said.

U. S. Navy pilots flew 42 missions against the panhandle, launching from the carriers Coral Sea, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Constellation, and flying through light to heavy ground fire.

units in the Da Nang area. Fifty other cakes were being cut and served by generals of the 1st and 3rd Marine Divisions.

Oldest, Youngest

Following tradition, the generals served the first two pieces of cake to the oldest and youngest Marines present.

Maj. Gen. Wood B. Kyle, commander of the 3rd Division, went by helicopter to a boulder-studded mountain south of Hue to cut the cake at the command post of the 2nd Battalion, 26th Marines.

He offered the first piece to Pfc. John Walker of Jones, Mich., 18, a battalion scout.

The second piece went to Staff Sgt. Claude C. Bookout, 51, of Vista, Calif., a battalion mess sergeant who had helped bake the cake.

Despite the birthday celebration, the Marines made nearly 300 patrols, but there was no significant contact with the enemy, a spokesman said.
